1 (Call to Order of the Court)

2 THE COURT: Good morning and welcome back, everybody.

3 Before we bring the jury in, are you ready to go

4 Ms. Pearson?

5 MS. PEARSON: I'm ready.

6 THE COURT: Okay. Before we do, let me respond
7 quickly to the filing yesterday of Defendant Hofstetter's 8 objection to jury instruction, other acts.

9 Couple things, one, the -- first of all, to the 10 extent defendant is objecting to the admission of other acts, 11 evidence, as stated in the third paragraph of the objection,
12 the Court has previously ruled upon that, I think, in writing 13 and orally, and the Court would overrule that portion of the 14 objection.

15 To the extent in Paragraph 2, it states, 16 "Ms. Hofstetter objects on the grounds of thefts do not relate 17 to," and then it addresses the intent, motive, and/or knowledge 18 language that the Court previously used in its limiting 19 instructions to the jury when this evidence was introduced.

20 The Court does not disagree with that basis for the 21 objection. The Court also does not disagree that the language 22 that was used in the limiting instruction of that phase goes,
23 quote, far beyond, closed quote, the language of the Sixth 24 Circuit pattern instruction.

25 The Court would also note for the record when the

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

1 Court -- in the current draft of the jury instruction, the 2 limiting -- the language mirrors that used when the Court gave, 3 I think, on two -- at least two occasions a limiting 4 instruction language when the evidence was introduced, and 5 notes that there was no objections lodged at that time to the 6 use of that language.

7 Nonetheless, since the Court's bent typically is to 8 default to the pattern jury instructions for purposes of the 9 jury charge itself, the Court will change the language on 10 Paragraph 110, noting that it's already given that language 11 during the limiting instructions without objection, and that 12 language is maintained before the jury for purposes of the 13 ending charge itself.

14 The Court will utilize the language from Sixth 15 Circuit pattern criminal jury instruction number 7.13 and will 16 state basically you've heard testimony the defendant
17 committed -- the Defendant Hofstetter committed certain crimes 18 or bad acts other than the ones charged in the indictment. If 19 you find the defendant did those crimes or bad acts, you can 20 consider the evidence only as it relates to the government's 21 claim on the defendant's intent, motive, and/or knowledge. You 22 must not consider it for any other purpose. Remember the 23 defendant is on trial here only for the crimes charged in the 24 superseding indictment, not for the other acts. Do not return 25 a guilty verdict unless the government proves the crimes

1 charged in the indictment beyond a reasonable doubt, period.

2 Any questions?

3 MR. STONE: Your Honor, just let me put on the 4 record, just in case this issue is litigated on appeal, that 5 the government's position is -- just sort of go back to that.
6 Our position from the beginning was that proof was intrinsic
7 anyway, and so it would be a conservative fallback and note
8 that the Court has chosen to go from the conservative fallback 9 from our view, not necessarily the Court's view. And so just 10 to make the record clear, we believe it was intrinsic and no 11 instruction would be appropriate. So we just want to make that 12 on the record.

13 THE COURT: Thank you.

14 If nothing else then, I believe we're ready to bring 15 the jury in and proceed with closing arguments in this case.

16 (Jury in at 9:15 a.m.)

17 THE COURT: Thank you. Everyone may be seated, and 18 good morning to our members of the jury.

19 THE JURY PANEL: Morning.

20 THE COURT: And welcome back. I hope you enjoyed the 21 multiday break last week and your weekend.

22 Again, on behalf of everyone in the courtroom, the 23 parties, counsel, and representatives of the parties, we 24 appreciate the attention you paid during the evidentiary 25 portion of this trial.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

1 We are now ready for the closing arguments of the 2 parties. As a reminder, I believe I told you way back when, 3 closing arguments are not evidence. However, they are an 4 opportunity for counsel for the parties to present to you or 5 argue with you as to what they believe the evidence has shown 6 and how you should address that evidence during your 7 deliberations.

8 As a reminder, the government will go first with 9 opening closing argument, and then the defendants in turn will 10 have the opportunity for closing arguments, after which the 11 government will have the opportunity for a final closing 12 rebuttal argument.

13 I'm not -- I don't know that we'll get through with 14 all the closing arguments today. It's been a long trial, and 15 there's been some breaks in the trial, so at request of counsel 16 for the various parties, I'm giving them ample time for their 17 closing arguments. I'm also allowing those with multiple 18 counsel to split up that argument if they'd like.

19 The government is going to go first, and I believe 20 Ms. Pearson is going to present the opening closing argument, 21 and then Mr. Stone will present the rebuttal closing argument.

22 But we'll just take it -- we'll start today and see 23 how far we get and try to take our normal break.

24 So with that in mind, Ms. Pearson, you may proceed 25 with opening closing argument on behalf of the government.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 MS. PEARSON: Thank you, Your Honor. We will get 2 through me today.

3 Good morning. On behalf of the United States, I just 4 want to thank you for the apparent attention you gave to this 5 case in taking in excess of three months out of your own lives.
6 So on behalf of the United States, thank you very much.

7 What I want to talk to you about is about this case 8 in the evidence. I just want to start with an overview. But 9 for well over a decade, the United States is in the middle of 10 an opioid epidemic. And like a virus, that epidemic spread 11 from Florida and it came right up I-75 here to East Tennessee.
12 And it brought with it addiction, crime, and death. It 13 destroyed entire communities with just a handful of tiny white 14 pills.

15 This epidemic arrived in Tennessee in the form of a 16 pill mill, which is what we've been discussing this entire 17 trial. Really no different in form and function than a drug 18 house. The pill mill allowed addicts and drug dealers fast and 19 easy access to extremely dangerous narcotics in exchange for 20 cash.

21 And the pill mills operated by this defendant, 22 Ms. Hofstetter and her coconspirators dealt thousands of 23 customers with millions of high-dose opioid pills in their over 24 four years of operation in Knoxville.

25 How many pills are we talking about? 11 million,

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 over 11 million in just four years. Two million of them
2 prescribed by these three defendants, Ms. Womack, Ms. Clemons
3 and Ms. Newman. That's about 215,000 per month in a little 4 over four years.

5 But this case is not just about the pills. It's 6 about the tens of millions of dollars in profits made by 7 Ms. Hofstetter and her partners on the backs of drug addicts
8 and drug dealers. And this case is about the defendant taking 9 advantage of this epidemic and their decision to value a 10 paycheck over the fundamental tenets of medicine, first and 11 foremost to do no harm. And this is about the choice to value 12 money over someone's well-being over that of the community.

13 This is a case about choosing the equivalent of about 14 130,000 a year in exchange for simply signing your name to a 15 piece of paper and not caring at all about your 16 responsibilities as medical caregiver.

17 What I want to do with you-all is, I want to take you 18 through the charges that are before you. The Court will give 19 you a verdict form, which will detail them. The things I have 20 via this PowerPoint are simply just for our discussion today.
21 And hopefully y'all can see it.

22 But with respect to Ms. Hofstetter, she's count -- 23 she's charged in several counts that you're going to consider 24 in your deliberations.

25 Count 1 is RICO conspiracy in violation of

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

1 18 U.S.C. 1962.

2 Count 2 is a drug conspiracy, which we'll discuss at 3 length as we go forward.

4 Count 3 is a money laundering conspiracy associated 5 with Count 2.

6 Count 4 is another drug conspiracy that we'll talk 7 about in length as we go forward.

8 Count 5 is another money laundering conspiracy that 9 goes hand in hand with Count 4.

10 Counts 6 and 7 are what we call substantive counts.
11 They're substantive counts of money laundering in violation of 12 18 U.S.C. 1957.

13 And then Counts 11, 12, and 13 are what we call 14 maintaining a drug premises. Those are associated with the 15 various clinics that we've discussed throughout the course of 16 this trial.

17 And Counts 14, 16, and 18 are what we call 18 substantive drug distribution counts. Those are specific 19 prescriptions associated with a specific overdose.

20 With respect to Ms. Clemons, she's charged in 21 Counts 2, which is the drug conspiracy I referenced earlier, 22 Counts 4, Counts 11 and 13 and 16 and 18. And we'll discuss 23 all these as we move forward.

24 Ms. Newman is charged in Counts 2 and 4, which, 25 again, are the drug conspiracies. Counts 11 and 13, again,

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 those are the maintaining the drug members. And Counts 14 -- 2 and Count 14, which is distribution of a controlled substance.

3 And, finally, Ms. Womack is charged in Counts 2 and 4 4, which are the drug conspiracies before you, and Count 13, 5 which is maintaining a drug involved premises.

6 Okay. I'm going to start -- I'm going to start with 7 the drug conspiracies, but I want to tell you first, what I 8 plan to do is go through some of the elements for each offense.
9 I will tell you that the Court's instructions that he will give 10 you hopefully this afternoon or tomorrow morning do control.

11 I'm not going to review each and every instruction of 12 law that the United States anticipates the Court will get, but 13 I'm going to go over a few that may assist you in understanding 14 the argument that I intend to present. We'll review each 15 element of the offense and some instructions that I just told 16 you about.

17 And we're going to start with the drug conspiracy 18 counts, as those counts encompass a vast majority of the 19 evidence that the United States has put forth for your 20 consideration.

21 We'll go over why each defendant before you is 22 guilty. I'll explain each defendant's role and the things that 23 they personally did, the criminal acts that make them guilty 24 under the federal laws that we're going to talk about. I plan 25 to review the evidence and explain how it kind of fits with the

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

1 law.

2 The Court will tell you that your collective 3 recollection controls, and that's absolutely true. My 4 presentation is argument and that of the defense as well.

5 So let's start with Counts 2 and 4. Counts 2 and 4
6 are the drug conspiracies that we talked about earlier. All 7 four defendants are charged in both counts. The difference
8 between the counts is Counts 2 deal with the Hollywood clinic, 9 the Gallaher View 1 clinic, and Lenoir City. Counts 4 deals
10 with the Gallaher View 2 clinic and the Lovell Road clinic, all 11 of which the government asserts were pill mills in this case.

12 Let's talk about the elements. Drug conspiracy 13 actually, despite the vast amount of evidence you heard, has 14 two elements. One, and I'm paraphrasing the first element, but 15 the defendant conspired with one another and others to 16 distribute oxycodone, oxymorphone, and morphine. And the 17 second element is, the defendants knowingly and voluntarily 18 joined the conspiracy.

19 So when we're talking -- I'm going to bring all three 20 elements in. When we're talking about a drug distribution 21 conspiracy, the underlying substantive acts that we say that 22 the defendants agreed to do is to distribute or traffic in 23 narcotics.

24 So we got to talk about the elements of a drug 25 distribution. So the first element, that the defendant

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 knowingly or intentionally distributed or caused to be 2 distributed a controlled substance. Two, the defendant knew at 3 the time of the distribution the substance was a controlled
4 substance. And, three, the defendant's act was not for a 5 legitimate medical purpose or in the usual course of 6 professional practice or was beyond the bounds of medical 7 practice.

8 So the controlled substances we're talking about were 9 the oxycodone, the oxymorphone, and the morphine.

10 A distribution is the equivalent of writing a 11 prescription. You'll be instructed on that in the vast 12 instructions that the Court will give you.

13 So for the big picture here, when we're talking about 14 a drug conspiracy, we're talking about people that have agreed 15 to distribute narcotics. The agreement for Counts 2 and 4 is 16 the essence of that crime.

17 Now, the one other thing I wanted to discuss with 18 drug conspiracy is kind of some of the things that revolve
19 around agreement. And you'll be given several instructions 20 about how the government must go about proving that agreement.

21 One thing you'll be instructed on is the government 22 is not required to prove a formal agreement, a written 23 agreement, a contract. That's what -- we're not required to 24 prove that. We're also not required to prove that everyone 25 involved agreed to all of the details of the conspiracy.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 However, the government must prove beyond a
2 reasonable doubt that there was a mutual understanding, either 3 spoken or unspoken.

4 We also may prove that by -- indirectly by facts and 5 circumstances. That's the evidence. That's the totality of 6 what's going on. That's one of the ways the government may 7 prove that this conspiratorial agreement existed.

8 It also doesn't require under the law proof that the 9 defendant knew everything about the conspiracy or everyone 10 involved.

11 And, finally, the government is not required to prove 12 that everyone joined the conspiracy on day one. Okay. And 13 that's kind of an important point in this case, because we're 14 going the talk about some actions in 2009, 2010, '11, and '12, 15 as we get to these defendants who joined the conspiracy, some 16 of them in 2013 into 2014.

17 The big picture here is, in other words -- and we'll 18 start first with the three nurse practitioners before you.
19 Once they knew they were working at these places that were 20 trafficking narcotics which were pill mills for $65 an hour and 21 they kept right on going, they've joined these drug 22 conspiracies.

23 And, second, when they know, and then this -- in this 24 case, when they write those thousands of prescriptions that 25 we're going to be talking about, they're in. And those

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 prescriptions that they write, once they know they're in this 2 conspiracy, they know what the purpose of the conspiracy is,
3 are not for a legitimate medical purpose or in the usual course 4 of professional practice.

5 Okay. Let's talk a little bit about Count 2 and the 6 structure that was in place for this conspiratorial agreement.

7 First at the top of the food chain, for lack of a 8 better term, you had the owners. Those are the Italian folks 9 we've been discussing through the course of this trial. That's 10 Luca Sartini, Luigi Palma, Benjamin Rodriguez, and Chris 11 Tipton. Those are the folks that provided capital investment 12 to get these pill mills moving in Tennessee. That agreement, 13 with the exception of Mr. Tipton, started back in Florida with 14 the Hollywood clinic.

15 Mr. Tipton coordinated the Tennessee side of the pill 16 mill and was the owner on the ground. In return, all of these 17 owners, Mr. Sartini, Palma, Rodriguez, Tipton received those 18 weekly disbursement checks as payment for their investment.

19 The next kind of level in the conspiracy was 20 Ms. Hofstetter. Her role was to manage the day-to-day business 21 of each of the clinics. And she was always, as you recall from 22 the evidence, pushing her staff to see more and more customers.
23 The reason she was doing that is patient volume equals money, 24 equals money for the partnership and for the Italians back in 25 Florida.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 Also part of the conspiracy were the providers. And 2 in this case, we're talking about these three defendants.
3 Their role in the conspiracy was to write prescriptions to as 4 many customers as they could see on a daily basis or in each 5 respective pill mill could fit into the schedule. In exchange 6 they got above-average nurse practitioner salary.

7 And, finally, kind of the last part of this was you
8 need customers. And you heard from some of the customers -- 9 actually, I missed somebody. Sorry. You need office staff as 10 well. You heard from some of those people, Ms. Lori 11 Crabtree-Gaston, Stephanie Puckett, Shannon Hill, other facts
12 that worked at the clinic. They were there to make it 13 efficient, to move the paperwork, manage the patient files.

14 And then you have the customers. You've heard from 15 about over a dozen customers, but as you recall from the 16 evidence, these pill mills had thousands of customers, 17 customers that flocked to these places to receive their 18 prescriptions for opioids.

19 And I want to talk a little bit about how long this 20 conspiracy went on. So for Count 2, you started back in 21 Florida with the Italians, way back in 2009, where they opened 22 their pill mill in Hollywood, Florida.

23 Then there was the December 2010 DEA raid of their 24 clinic, but by that time, they had already made plans to come 25 up to Tennessee, and they'd already actually even opened their

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 first Gallaher View 1 clinic.

2 And December of 2010, Gallaher View 1 opens. And 3 then in May 2011, the conspiracy expanded to that new pill mill
4 on Lenoir City. And then if you recall on March 2012, Gallaher
5 View 1 closes because of all of those complaints and then 6 whatever customers were remaining there, were transferred over 7 to the Lenoir City location. And the Lenoir City pill mill 8 stayed in operation until the FBI shut it down in March of 9 2015.

10 Now, the first type of evidence you heard with 11 respect to Count 2 in that conspiracy came in the form of 12 Mr. Tipton and Mr. Rodriguez. If you recall, Mr. Rodriguez
13 called the Hollywood station -- Hollywood pill mill a Subway
14 station. He also used the words "burn and churn."

15 Even before the DEA raid, because of the 16 profitability of the Hollywood clinic, these folks were looking 17 to expand. As you recall, he testified that Mr. Palma was 18 already doing research and kind of had fixated on Tennessee as 19 the next place the conspiracy needed to go.

20 When they landed here, they brought Ms. Hofstetter up 21 with them to run their operation in Tennessee. And even though 22 she stole from the trio in Florida, they brought her to 23 Tennessee. Let that sink in for a minute. They brought 24 somebody who they knew had stolen from them, up here to 25 Tennessee to run things.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 Mr. Tipton was already here in Tennessee. He was 2 familiar how to run clinics. He knew, had connections to 3 providers in the area, so he became an integral part of the 4 conspiracy to open these clinics up here.

5 And Tipton, as he testified to you, he knew almost 6 immediately that he was running a pill mill. But the reality 7 for him was that the money was too great to stop.

8 Their collective testimony, both Tipton and 9 Mr. Rodriguez, I would submit to you, was backed up by some of 10 the other evidence that you heard in the case. They came into 11 the enterprise from different places, one from Florida with the 12 connection to the Italians, Mr. Tipton because he was here and 13 was familiar with kind of the framework up here in Tennessee to 14 run clinics.

15 But they both described the same structure, the same
16 titles, and same purpose as the defining feature of the UCSC 17 conspiracy, which were what these pill mills were.

18 Other witnesses, like Ms. Puckett and Ms. Hill, also 19 told you how the conspiracy was structured, that Ms. Hofstetter 20 was in charge, volume was important, and of course that these 21 places were pill mills.

22 And the financials demonstrated their motivation for 23 running these places. And if you recall, these folks, like 24 Mr. Rodriguez and Mr. Tipton were getting weekly disbursement 25 checks in the thousands. That's the kind of money we're

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 talking about, simply for opening these places up, and letting 2 Ms. Hofstetter run them.

3 And when I call these places pill mills, I would 4 submit to you that the totality of the evidence the government 5 put forward is what makes these places pill mills.

6 Don't get me wrong, I'm not asking you to like these 7 people, and I'm not asking you to make friends with them. But 8 what I am asking you to do is evaluate their testimony in light 9 of the totality of the evidence that you heard from the 10 government.

11 So I've mentioned them, and I just want to remind you 12 what these places looked like. So when we're talking about 13 Count 2, we're talking about the Hollywood pill mill, we're 14 talking about the Gallaher View 1 location, and then we're 15 talking about the Lenoir City location in Lenoir City.

16 Now, moving on, before we get into kind of the meat 17 of the evidence, let's talk about the separate and distinct 18 structure of Count 4.

19 So Lovell Road, what I call Lovell Road, although it 20 did include Gallaher View 2, had a different structure, if you 21 remember. This was the offshoot by Ms. Hofstetter and 22 Mr. Tipton, because they watched what these Italian folks were 23 making in Lenoir City and Gallaher View 1, less investors, less 24 owners, more money. So at the top of this conspiracy, you have 25 Ms. Hofstetter and Mr. Tipton.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 Then again, you have Ms. Hofstetter, she's actually 2 playing dual roles in this conspiracy. Right? She's the 3 owner, she's the investor, she's receiving those disbursements, 4 but she's also managing the day-to-day operation of that 5 clinic, first Gallaher View 2 and then Lovell Road.

6 Then you have the providers, again, Ms. Newman, 7 Ms. Womack, Ms. Clemons. And if you recall from the evidence, 8 they spent the majority of their time here. This is where they 9 spent the bulk of their employment period with this conspiracy 10 is at Lovell Road.

11 Again, you need office employees to run the clinic, 12 take care of the paperwork, make sure the patients are getting 13 in. And, again, it's the same folks we've heard about, Lori 14 Crabtree-Gaston, Stephanie Puckett, Shannon Hill, and others.

15 And, of course, finally, you need customers, and they 16 had them. And I would submit to you that as we go forward, 17 this is the worst of the worst. They had the most customers 18 and the highest volume.

19 So for Lovell, for Count 4, which is Lovell Road, you 20 have the agreement by Ms. Hofstetter and Mr. Tipton to open 21 that secret Gallaher View 2 clinic. That was the one opened in 22 secret from the Italians.

23 As time went on, to build that clinic, as you recall
24 specifically from Ms. Puckett, they used the discharged 25 patients to kind of get that secret clinic going. And that was

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 from Ms. Puckett's testimony. And as time went on, they got -- 2 it opened one day a week and then they had more days starting 3 in about June of 2012 at that secret clinic.

4 Ultimately, they landed on October -- early 5 October 2013. They relocated from Gallaher View 2, which is in 6 that complex with that stand-alone business on Lovell Road.
7 And, of course, Lovell Road remained open until March of 2015,
8 churning out customers and thousands of prescriptions.

9 Okay. And if we recall, this is the location of 10 Lovell Road between the Waffle House and the pornography store.

11 So I want to go back to the elements of distribution 12 now, because I want to talk to you about a couple more 13 instructions you're going to get in regard to that.

14 So if you recall, the first element is that knowingly 15 or intentionally distributed or caused to be distributed a 16 controlled substance.

17 Two, the defendant knew at the time of the 18 distribution that the substance was a controlled substance.

19 And, three, which I suspect we'll spend a lot of time 20 talking about, is the defendant's act was not for a legitimate 21 medical purpose or in the usual course of professional practice 22 or was beyond the bounds of medical practice.

23 There are a couple of instructions you'll be given,
24 I'm going to go through just a few of them, that kind of relate 25 to these elements, and specifically that third element.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 And the first one I want to talk to you, I call
2 deliberate ignorance. I'm going to read it verbatim. "No one 3 can avoid responsibility for a crime by deliberately ignoring 4 the obvious. If you are convinced that a defendant
5 deliberately ignored a high probability that the controlled 6 substances, as alleged in these counts, were distributed
7 outside the usual course of professional practice and not for a 8 legitimate medical purpose, then you may find that the 9 defendant knew this was the case."

10 And the instruction continues. "But you must be 11 convinced beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant was 12 aware of a high probability that the controlled substances were 13 distributed outside the usual course of professional practice
14 and not for a legitimate medical purpose and that the defendant
15 deliberately closed her eyes to what was obvious. Carelessness 16 or negligence or foolishness on her part are not the same as 17 knowledge and are not enough to find her guilty of any offense 18 charged under this law. This, of course, is all for you to 19 decide."

20 And what's very important to remember about this 21 instruction is that this instruction does not apply to the 22 elements of conspiratorial agreement in Counts 2 and 4. What 23 it does apply to is the Element 3 of drug distribution.

24 This instruction uses the word "ignorance," but in 25 reality, it talks about whether each defendant took specific

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 actions. So we're talking about ignorance, but it's kind of 2 the opposite of that. It's did these defendants take specific 3 actions to ignore knowing the truth? In other words, when she 4 made the decision, as I'm going to submit to you that each 5 defendant in this case did on multiple occasions, to close her 6 eyes on the harsh reality of the pill mills and the activities 7 that were going on in those places, every day that she chose to 8 close her eyes and she chose to go to that pill mill and write 9 a prescription, that's what this instruction is talking about.
10 That's deliberate ignorance.

11 So when you talk about ignorance, it's not -- perhaps 12 it's inaction, but it's really a purposeful action to close 13 your eyes, to ignore what's going around -- what's going on 14 around you and just write that prescription.

15 And each provider, and I would submit that each 16 defendant in this case did do this, became a drug dealer under 17 the law when she chose to write the prescription and knew it 18 was not for a legitimate medical purpose or in the usual course 19 of professional practice, but yet masked those actions by 20 deliberately ignoring the truth.

21 And what I want you to do is keep that instruction in 22 mind when we talk about the evidence in the case, the red 23 flags, what the owners' investors told you, the office staff 24 told you, what the volume was like, the complaints by those 25 businesses, specifically in Gallaher View 1, the actual

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 customers that you heard from, what they told you, the other
2 providers, Ms. Fristoe, Ms. Chambers, and these defendants 3 themselves through some of the other evidence and the 4 inferences you can draw from that.

5 There's another instruction that kind of goes hand in 6 hand, but it's actually what I call the opposite of this 7 instruction.

8 And that's what I call good faith. If a nurse 9 practitioner prescribes a drug in good faith in the course of 10 medically treating a patient, then the nurse practitioner has 11 prescribed the drug for a legitimate medical purpose in the 12 usual course of accepted medical practice. That is, she has 13 prescribed the drug lawfully.

14 Good faith in this context means good intentions and 15 an honest exercise of professional judgment as to a patient's 16 medical needs. It means that the defendant acted in accordance 17 with what she reasonably believed to be a proper medical 18 practice.

19 In considering whether a particular defendant acted 20 with a legitimate medical purpose in the course of the usual
21 professional practice, you should consider all the defendant's 22 actions and circumstances surrounding them.

23 Before we talk about the definition of "usual course 24 of professional practice," I want to focus on a couple key 25 parts of that instruction. I'll bring it back. And one of the

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 things I want to focus on is, you should consider all the 2 defendant's actions and circumstances surrounding them. And 3 what I would submit to you, what that's telling you is, you
4 cannot look at their actions or activities, as we heard them 5 called, in a vacuum. You must consider the surrounding 6 circumstances, unlike what Dr. Browder and Mr. McCoy told you.

7 And the keyword in this line is "reasonable," what 8 she reasonably believed to be proper medical practice. We'll 9 discuss these concepts as we review the interactions with 10 customers at these pill mills. But in the end, what I'm going 11 to argue to you and I'm going to submit to you is, this 12 instruction has absolutely no place in your deliberations based 13 on the totality of the evidence that's been put before you.

14 The last instruction I want to talk about with 15 distribution and a legitimate medical purpose is the usual 16 course of professional practice. The term "usual course of 17 professional practice" means that the practitioner has acted in 18 accordance with a standard of medical practice generally 19 recognized and accepted in the United States.

20 A practitioner's own individual treatment methods do 21 not by themselves establish what constitutes a usual course of 22 professional practice. In making medical judgments concerning 23 the appropriate treatment for an individual, however, 24 practitioners have discretion to choose among a wide range of 25 available options.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 Whether a prescription is made in the usual course of 2 professional practice is to be determined from an objective and 3 not a subjective viewpoint.

4 So what this instruction tells you is what the 5 government has submitted to you all along, is that the usual 6 course of professional practice is an objective, not a 7 subjective viewpoint, and that the practitioner's own 8 individualized treatment method, which we did not see in this 9 case, because everyone was getting the same thing, does not by 10 themselves establish this standard.

11 Now, we kind of -- those are the instructions I want 12 to discuss with you. You'll be given many more, and I would 13 just tell you again that the actual instructions of the Court 14 we do this afternoon or tomorrow will control your 15 deliberations.

16 Now, let's talk about some of the evidence you heard.
17 Let's start with the red flags.

18 So you heard from Mr. Stan Jones, but you also heard 19 from a lot of other folks. You heard from the clinic staff, 20 the other providers, and most importantly, the customers.

21 And we all called them kind of red flags of a pill
22 mill. And they included cars full of people from far-away 23 counties and states, people faking a limp on the way in and 24 they're fine on the way out, drug sales and use in the parking 25 lot, party -- patients that are pill sick or nodding out, high

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 volume, long wait times, paper signage, weird rules, for lack 2 of a better term, require nonpatients to wait outside, 3 complaints from neighbors to law enforcement, garbage, public
4 urination in the parking lot, CSMD prescribing patterns, same 5 or like prescription, discharging patients when they become a 6 liability, no children ever present.

7 The other things you kind of heard was whether it was 8 cash-based. There's mulch fires, no insurance. But those are 9 the kinds of things Mr. Jones talked to you about and also some 10 of the other witnesses talked to you about. And I think these 11 are the types of things that you could should consider, first, 12 whether or not they existed at these pill mills, which I submit 13 to you that they did, but also does this put folks on notice 14 who are working there?

15 So you've heard the term "window dressing" from 16 witnesses. And they -- what I would submit to you, that even 17 with the window dressing that we're going to go through, these 18 red flags were glaringly obvious with each one of these pill
19 mills run by both conspiracies, whether it was UCSC pill mills 20 at Gallaher View 1 and Lenoir City or whether it was Lovell 21 Road.

22 And when the providers became aware of these red 23 flags, when they went to work every day, they walk in the door, 24 they're seeing one or some of these things, and they keep going 25 in, and they make the decision to ignore them, making not

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 inaction, but actually make the purposeful decision to ignore 2 them, walk in the door, write the prescriptions, they're in the 3 conspiracy.

4 So with respect to the Tennessee law changes, we just 5 talked about window dressing, and you heard a lot of discussion
6 and argument about Tennessee law changes.

7 So I want to talk about the applicable laws. So 8 Dr. Blake kind of specifically kind of outlined some of these 9 to you, and one of the ones we talked about was the creation of 10 the CSMD or PMP.

11 If you recall his testimony, it was created back in 12 2002, came online in 2006. It was a good thing, and the 13 Tennessee legislature meant it to be a good thing. But I would 14 submit to you, the pill mills in both counts purported to check 15 the CSMD. They might have done it for some patients, but you 16 would see that many times that information was just simply 17 ignored, yet they had their printouts. A lot of times you saw 18 them in the file. You heard testimony that they were in 19 folders in the clinics. But they had them.

20 We'll talk about medical directors, the Tennessee 21 legislature endeavored to kind of set out some framework for 22 medical director in their role in the clinic, supervising the 23 nurse practitioners, reviewing files.

24 As you heard from these conspiracies, both Count 2 25 and 4, they had medical directors. They ran through medical

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 directors. Two of them are now since passed. So they had 2 that, but I would submit to you that those medical directors 3 followed a very specific pattern, and we'll talk about that in 4 a minute.

5 Next, Tennessee state law, there was that prohibition 6 for accepting cash, and these clinics, these pill mills
7 certainly adapted. They accepted cash. When the law changed, 8 they took the cash equivalent, and then you recall seeing those 9 debit cards or those prepaid money cards that we discussed in 10 the testimony. They certainly adapted, but I would submit that 11 didn't stop the sponsors and the drug dealers from bringing 12 those patients, those addicts to the pill mills. They just 13 simply paid for them with their own debit card.

14 Then there was a Tennessee law in regard to doctor
15 ownership. And when the Tennessee law changed, and you heard a 16 lot of testimony about this, Hofstetter and coconspirators got 17 that fancy law firm, Baker Donelson, I think the name of what 18 it was, and they created that nominee agreement.

19 And the nominee is kind of the appropriate word, 20 because the nominee agreement made the doctor the owner of the 21 pill mill on the paper; however, each doctor/owner really had 22 no power to do anything, hence the term "nominee." Right?
23 Because they were nominated by the true owners of the pill 24 mills. So they were nominated, but as you recall the 25 testimony, they could have just as easily been pushed aside and

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 kicked out.

2 And this, I would submit to you, was most aptly 3 demonstrated by the financial structures. Right? Doctor is 4 getting a paycheck. The Italians, Ms. Hofstetter, Mr. Tipton, 5 they're getting the proceeds. They're getting a return on 6 their investment. They're the true owners. And that's why 7 it's called a nominee agreement.

8 And then there was the Tennessee law change dealing 9 with a dispensary on-site. The dispensary is that vehicle, 10 much like a pharmacy, where you get your prescription on one 11 side of the pill mill and then you just walk right over and get 12 your pills in the other. If you recall the testimony, at least 13 with Count 2, they contemplated doing that. They were going to 14 do it. The law changed, and this was ultimately abandoned, and 15 these pill mills didn't have a dispensary on site.

16 And then we talked a lot about the Intractable Pain 17 Act. And that was present through the entirety of all these 18 conspiracies. And I just want to talk about a few things in 19 the act.

20 First, there's nothing in the act -- you'll be given 21 instructions on this act. But there's nothing in the act that 22 requires a doctor or nurse practitioner to write an opioid 23 prescription. It's just not there. It does allow patients to 24 decline other modalities, but there is no corresponding 25 provision saying if this patient declines over modalities, you

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 have to write them a prescription for opioids.

2 Second, the act didn't change the standard of care, 3 and you know that from Dr. Blake's testimony. He's been 4 practicing, and the standard of care that he's utilized when he 5 sees his own patients has been in place for over ten years, 6 since he got out in 2009. He was aware of that act. He knows 7 what the act says, but it does not change the standard of care 8 that this Court will instruct you on.

9 And, third, there's a specific portion of that act 10 that if as a doctor or nurse practitioner you choose to treat 11 an addict or someone who has been addicted to drugs, there are 12 guidelines, there are things the act says you should consider 13 doing.

14 For example, you shall monitor the patient to make 15 sure they're not diverting their drugs. You should consult 16 with a psychologist or an expert in addiction as appropriate.
17 I would submit to you that the totality of this patient 18 population, you heard from a couple of them, but I would submit 19 to you, based on all the evidence, the analytics of the CSMD, 20 this total population was high risk and had potential for 21 addiction, and there was an absolute disregard for any sort of 22 routine monitoring.

23 Fourth and finally, it's called the Tennessee Pain
24 Intractable Act, and I might have -- the Intractable Pain Act.
25 It's the Tennessee law, it does not trump federal law in this

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

1 case.

2 And then, finally, we had the 2014 pain treatment
3 guidelines. Those came kind of toward the end of the 4 conspiracy. As Dr. Blake told you, they had to promulgate
5 these for primary care providers in this space. But these guys
6 weren't primary care providers. They were pain management 7 specialized. That's what they held themselves out to be.
8 They're in a different box insofar as the 2014 pain treatment 9 guidelines.

10 In addition to superficially complying with all these 11 legislature moves, they also had compliance documents via Debra 12 Kimber. If you remember her testimony, she was a bit early on 13 in the trial. The reality, though, is what Ms. Kimber 14 testified to, that compliance was unimportant to 15 Ms. Hofstetter. And if you recall, Ms. Kimber kind of 16 recounted that last meeting with Ms. Hofstetter, that final 17 in-person meeting where she told her she just wanted the damn 18 manual on the shelf. The manual she's referring to is this 19 kind of fancy compliance document that Ms. Kimber had compiled.

20 So in addition, now we've talked about some of the 21 red flags, we've got the Tennessee state law and the 22 superficial compliance these pill mills.

23 But then let's talk about just briefly about the 24 shell companies. Another way to appear legitimate is to have 25 official-sounding companies, and they had a bunch. And I've

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 just named a few, Medfix, UCSC Management, LLC, Shadd
2 Management, ETHS, that's East Tennessee Healthcare Services, 3 East Knoxville Healthcare Services, Comprehensive Health
4 Systems, UCSC Management, Comprehensive Systems. And I don't 5 think I've caught them all.

6 A shell company, when we call it a shell company, it
7 means they don't really have a purpose. Say for, in this case, 8 a vehicle to launder money. I haven't named them all. These 9 companies provided a portion of the front. They sound 10 official. They sound like they're involved in health care.
11 But the reality is, they were just simply a front to make 12 everything look on the up-and-up with every pill mill operated 13 by both conspiracies.

14 So you've got the law changes, the shell companies.
15 We still have the pill mill red flags despite all this.

16 Let's move on to medical directors. Tennessee law 17 required you to have medical directors. They need a medical 18 director. They start with Mark Blumenthal in November of 2010.
19 Gallaher View 1 right off the jump street is showing signs of a 20 pill mill.

21 The result of having him is that he starts to warn 22 Ms. Hofstetter to no avail. As you recall from the testimony, 23 he's in trouble with the Tennessee Department of Health. He 24 ultimately left one year after joining the conspiracy, and he 25 has since passed.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 Let's talk about some of the warnings, though. This 2 is from jump street a couple months into the conspiracy. This 3 would be Exhibit 276 [sic]. And I've just gotten portions of 4 it in this, not the entirety of the exhibit. Let's talk about 5 it.

6 So January 20th, 2011, we're barely 60 days in. He 7 raised a concern about the safety and security of our 8 operation. He talked about an "obvious junkie or drug dealer, 9 who became quite irate when I refused to prescribe him narcotic
10 medication and then flipped, quote, unquote, Steffie the bird.

11 "Moreover, I have read at least on one account of a 12 robbery or attempted robbery of a pharmacy every day for the 13 past two weeks in the Knoxville News Sentinel."

14 It says, "Finally, I recently discussed our practice 15 with my attorney. He explicitly warned me that TBI, Knoxville
16 Police, Tennessee Board of Medical Examiners, and Tennessee
17 Board of Pharmacy are all working together to eliminate pill 18 mills and narcotic drug diversion."

19 And, finally, he said I am not -- "I am willing to 20 work my tail off to help get this practice going and keep it
21 going, but I am not willing to lay my life, reputation, license
22 or freedom on the line to do so." So January 20th, 2011 23 e-mail.

24 Exhibit 2085, now we're on February 2nd, 2011, 25 another e-mail to Ms. Hofstetter.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 "Also I consider it vital we upgrade our prescribing
2 [sic] methods. It is extremely burdensome to see increasing 3 proportion of patients who are either doctor shoppers, pharmacy 4 shoppers, or dual diagnosis (psychiatry plus pain management)."

5 So even then, February of 2011, doctor shopping, 6 pharmacy shopping, those terms, we're talking 2011, eight years 7 ago, nine years ago now, those terms are prevalent in this 8 field. Dr. Blumenthal knows that. He's using them.

9 February 6th, 2011, Exhibit 2086, "Knox County has a 10 tremendous drug problem. The legal authorities, pharmacy 11 authorities, and medical authorities are all up a tree about 12 what to do. Everyone involved with schedule two [sic]
13 medications is under close scrutiny and inherently includes us.
14 We cannot afford even the appearance of impropriety. I suggest 15 we do the following: Tighten up our prescreening techniques.
16 We are simply seeing too many patients who represent a hazard 17 to our practice. Patients are already beating down our door to 18 be seen, and I do not think we need to worry very much about 19 our growth rate."

20 And he kept going. So we've got January, February 2, 21 2011, February 6, 2011. Now, let's talk about May of 2011.
22 Again, another e-mail from Dr. Blumenthal to Ms. Hofstetter.
23 "Pain clinic bill aims to curb prescription drug abuse, 24 legislation called a no-brainer. We are nowhere near 25 compliance with its intricacies. Let's get on the stick. No

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

1 BS."

2 The big picture here is, through these e-mails, he's 3 talking about being concerned about his reputation, his 4 license, and his life on the line. He knows what a pill mill 5 is. He knows what diversion is. These aren't new concepts in 6 2011. This is January, February 2011. They're not new 7 concepts, addiction, doctor shopping, abuse, risk screening, 8 prescreening was talking about, all these things. He talks
9 about Knox County having a tremendous drug problem.

10 This doctor knows it in 2011, and he's telling 11 Ms. Hofstetter, this is what's going down at your place. He 12 signed up for this, he stayed a year, but even a doctor willing 13 to risk so much for this nonsense, her pill mill was over the 14 top, and ultimately left, and he has since passed away.

15 What I would submit to you at this point in time, the 16 Hollywood clinic has been raided in 2010. She's been notified 17 by her doctor in 2011 via e-mail.

18 And recall the side scams, I want to talk about that 19 for a quick minute, ran by Hofstetter and Hollywood, moving 20 patients to the front, the things Mr. Rodriguez told you about, 21 which sounded the same, but we're about to hear about from 22 Ms. Puckett.

23 Warnings about Gallaher View 1 also came almost 24 immediately from the landlord, from the security officer, Mike 25 Daignault, and the other tenants in the building. And we have

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 with these e-mails, we have written proof she's on notice.

2 Next was Dr. Valley, if you recall him. Dr. Valley 3 was, in his own words, desperate for a job, and in 4 November 2011, he takes this position. And the first thing he 5 does is he does a chart review and he authors a report kind of 6 outlining issues he saw with that chart review.

7 Okay. Exhibit 498 on Page 262, he says, "In over 8 twenty years of reviewing chart compliance, I have never been 9 presented with such consistent and flagrant disregard of 10 charting conventions and opioid management." In that same 11 exhibit, he says, "If not corrected, poses an immediate and 12 severe risk."

13 And then he keeps going, Exhibit 498, Page 262, 14 "Often, it appears the patient directed the treatment plan.
15 Often, the warning signs were ignored. There were cases where 16 the patient had been discharged from other pain clinics, yet 17 the records from these clinics were not requested and the 18 situation was not addressed in the note."

19 Same exhibit, potential doctor shopping and the 20 medications were continued. Patients were arrested for driving 21 while under the influence, patient, and the medications were 22 continued. Patients often refused to supply medical records 23 supporting their condition.

24 And then the last thing he says, "There was one case 25 where the patient was on opioids and the spouse girlfriend

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 called stating he had beaten her. The situation was not 2 addressed in an appropriate manner. There was no documentation 3 that the medical director was notified."

4 Finally, same exhibit, Exhibit 498, he says, these 5 clinics fit all criteria for the definition of a pill mill.
6 And at this point in time, he's talking about Gallaher View 1.
7 We haven't even gotten to Lovell. That's what he's talking 8 about, and that's language he's using.

9 Marc Valley, as you know, ended up leaving the 10 practice. Exhibit 512, he sent an e-mail on May 30th, 2012 to 11 Ms. Hofstetter and Mr. Tipton where he said, "Patients that 12 I've ordered discharged for cause are not being discharged. I 13 request that both of you spend a full day here to see what is 14 going on."

15 Ultimately, Dr. Valley quit in July of 2012. If you 16 recall his testimony, he described a pill mill with a 17 meaningless chart and writing prescriptions for pain meds. He 18 told you he regretted time at these places, but kind of the 19 reality of Dr. Valley is being part of these pill mills, he 20 contributed to the problem and he wasn't a good doctor.

21 And if you recall when Dr. Blake was asked if 22 Dr. Valley runs in the same professional circle as him, I think 23 he just had a one-word answer. It was no.

24 He'll have to live with what he did here, but he's 25 the exact type of person these places were hired. He was let

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 go from multiple previous jobs, willing to take a position
2 anywhere, and cared only about protecting his own skin, not 3 about the patients. But even he, even this doctor had these 4 things to say about her first clinic here.

5 So what does this tell you? Now we're in July of 6 2012, despite Valley's e-mails, Blumenthal's, Ms. Hofstetter is 7 committed to running these places as pill mills. The money is 8 just too good to stop.

9 Next we had Dr. Blakely. Again, we had an individual 10 that moved through several jobs, fell asleep during surgery, 11 lost his job, became the third medical director in August 2012.
12 And if you recall his testimony about the first day at the 13 clinic when he was outside, he overheard drug talk. He knew 14 immediately that Lenoir City was a pill mill. He spoke to you 15 about being under -- his medical authority being undermined 16 after 10 or 11 days. He's gone.

17 Finally, we've got a combination that kind of works.
18 They found Dr. Larson. He was a primary-care doctor by trade.
19 If you recall, he had some health issues, dialysis twice a 20 week, and he has since passed away after being indicted in this 21 case.

22 In June 2012, he became the medical director of 23 Gallaher View 2 secret location. But then after Blakely quit, 24 he takes on Lenoir City, and ultimately he grabs Lovell Road as 25 well. He knew nothing about pain management when he started.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 And I would submit to you by accounts of the witnesses, he was 2 asleep at the wheel.

3 The big picture of these folks tell you is that they 4 selected doctors they believed would either not recognize the 5 activity that's going on in the pill mills, because they 6 weren't specialists, or just ignore it. And sometimes they 7 strike out, Valley and Blakely. But in the end, they found the 8 right combination.

9 Now, we alluded to this earlier, let's talk about 10 some of the clinic staff. And I know you-all remember 11 Ms. Puckett and Ms. Hill.

12 Ms. Puckett told you about a side scam, various side 13 scams developed in the clinic. But what first what she told 14 you is all the red flags that we just discussed early in the 15 case were confirmed by both Ms. Puckett and Ms. Hill, the 16 security guards, first G4, Mike Daignault, and then 17 Ms. Hofstetter's boyfriend, Dion, the clientele, entire 18 families going in the pill mills, the complaints by local 19 businesses, volume of customers, actions by the clinic staff to 20 keep the pill mills efficient, patient file upkeep, and the 21 goal to keep the providers moving.

22 She also told you about the UDS side scam, where if 23 you had insurance as a customer, your urinary drug screen went 24 to one clinic, which generated kickback for Hofstetter's 25 coconspirators. If you didn't have insurance, you went to the

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 cheaper lab.

2 Ms. Hill told you about removing UDS results from 3 customers' files for a fee. And Ms. Puckett said, for a fee, 4 she moved you to the fastest, better providers. And that 5 sounds familiar like what was going on in Hollywood clinic with 6 Ms. Hofstetter.

7 She could get away with it, because providers didn't 8 routinely check the PMP. If you recall, you heard testimony 9 that she upped some of the prescriptions. Because if they had, 10 they would have caught Ms. Puckett doing that. And at the 11 direction of Defendant Hofstetter, she also called discharged
12 patients back to the clinic. Both women also received bonuses 13 for patient volume because Hofstetter's goal was a hundred a 14 day.

15 I would submit to you that these women didn't pull 16 the wool over anyone's eyes. The evidence doesn't support this 17 premises. They functioned -- these clinics functioned as pill 18 mills before Puckett and Hill, during Puckett and Hill, and 19 after Puckett and Hill. There are no outrage, save for an 20 audit you've heard about by Hofstetter, which I would submit to 21 you was meant to target Ms. Puckett, because she was mad that 22 some of the customers were flocking to KPC.

23 But it didn't change anything about the operations.
24 Puckett and Hill thrived because the pill mill environment
25 encouraged this type of criminal activity. Everyone had a

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 scam.

2 You had Mr. Tipton with his lab kickbacks in the pill
3 mills. Of course you've got Gerritt Orrick sponsoring 4 patients, selling stolen goods in the parking lot. Then you've 5 got all the other sponsors and drug dealers you heard about.

6 And if you recall Ms. Puckett's testimony about being 7 thrown right back in the fire, that same temptation from her 8 old days as a drug addict was there. She was well familiar 9 with this patient population. It should come as no surprise 10 that this is the kind of environment that you would find at a 11 pill mill.

12 And I'm saying again, you don't have to make friends 13 with these women. You don't have to like them. But I would 14 submit that their testimony was absolutely supported and 15 corroborated by the evidence in this case.

16 And you also heard from various clinic staff, such as 17 Lori Crabtree and Crystal Lattimore. They were consistent on 18 one primary fact, this Defendant Hofstetter was in charge, and 19 she was focused on making money. And this was seen one way, as 20 many customers as you could get in the door.

21 And let's move finally to the customers. Customers, 22 I would submit to you, you've heard from a very small 23 percentage, but they represent this patient population. They 24 were addicts and drug dealers who sold opiates on the streets
25 of East Tennessee. And they heard about these pill mills

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 through word of mouth. When they were discharged from one, 2 they would simply find another. And they demonstrate the 3 purpose of both conspiracies and also give you, most 4 importantly, evidence that these three women knew what these 5 places were.

6 And so I want to start with Exhibit 928. We talked 7 about word of mouth. Who are they hearing this from? Friends
8 and family in the same business. Two or more customers came 9 from 866 addresses. That's 1700 people. Three or more 10 customers coming from 148 addresses. And then we just keep 11 getting smaller numbers. And you recall, we even had eight 12 patients from KARM, which is Knox Area Rescue Ministries.

13 So you've got them hearing about it from word of 14 mouth. You've got that type of volume coming from the same 15 address.

16 So I've mentioned this once before, let's talk about 17 the discharging these pill mills did. The discharges by these 18 defendants and Ms. Hofstetter on occasion protected the pill
19 mills. It was not care of a patient or even treating a 20 patient.

21 Special Agent Vehec discussed what the United States
22 referred to as a discharge shell game. All four of these women
23 discharged patients. But the very fact that they discharged 24 patients and the reasons for the discharge demonstrate that 25 they knew who their customers were and what they were speaking

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

1 from these pill mills.

2 Exhibit 916, if you recall, this was kind of the 3 breakdown of four years of discharges. Let's think about this 4 for a minute. Over a thousand patients in just four years were 5 discharged for urinary drug screens. A bad UDS range from 6 prescriptions for a UDS positive for unprescribed drugs, 7 negative for your prescription -- and we're talking about 8 positive for unprescribed drugs, we're also talking about 9 illicit drugs, heroin, cocaine, methamphetamines, amphetamines.
10 And that's not an inclusive list. Dozens were discharged for 11 track marks and dozens more for pill count issues, doctor 12 shopping, and criminal activity. And that's just to name a few 13 reasons.

14 These reasons speak to the patient populations when 15 seeking pills for addiction and sale on the street, not for the 16 treatment of pain.

17 And we call it a shell game for four reasons, first 18 of which, customers went from pill mill to pill mill, and that 19 didn't just include these family of clinics. That included 20 places like Breakthrough, Chilhowee, Bearden.

21 The system allowed pill mills to purport to be 22 compliant and vigilant, so I'm going to discharge that person.
23 But the reality was, that person was just going to the next 24 pill mill. It's almost like an ecosystem.

25 There's also the internal shell game that Agent Vehec

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 talked to you about. The FBI identified over 280 what we 2 called re-admits. But you also heard testimony from 3 Ms. Puckett that the files were sanitized. 280 is what the FBI
4 identified. That is not the complete universe.

5 And, third, a discharge isn't treatment. As 6 Dr. Blake told you, there are tons of other modalities that 7 exist outside of opioids. If you have only one game, though, 8 money for an opioid pill, of course, they discharged people, 9 because it risked their business, as they had no other option
10 for treatment. The ice, the stretching, the DME, that's part 11 of the window dressing. They're not paying $300 a visit for 12 heat, ice, and stretching.

13 And, fourth, addicts draw the attention of law 14 enforcement. All the pill mills are doing it. Anyone who 15 wants to the -- who they believe brings too much attention has 16 to be discharged. And, of course, these three defendants 17 discharged patients.

18 But what I want you to take away from Exhibit 918 is, 19 look at the discharge in relation to the patient visits. And 20 we can take Ms. Clemons, for example. She discharged 197
21 folks, but I would submit to you that when we're talking about 22 a discharge rate of 2.46 percent in relation to the 8,000 23 visits she had, that ain't anything to write home about.

24 You've heard -- and you've also heard instances where 25 these defendants discharged a patient and they just show right

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 back up at the sister clinic. These discharges are evidence 2 that they know who these patients are, they're aware of it, and 3 this makes them coconspirators in both counts.

4 We also talked to you about the DAST. And this is 5 just one example. And we did not present the DAST, because it 6 matters whether or not it's an accurate drug-abuse screening 7 tool. What we did do is present it to you because it just 8 shows the utter lack of care that these customers received at 9 these pill mills. It was the only way that these pill mills 10 screened for abuse or addiction, literally the only way, this 11 one piece of paper.

12 Remember the consensus even back then, cross appeal 13 to pain management, that risk stratification assessment is 14 crucial to prescribing these high-dose, dangerous opioids or 15 any opioid, for that matter. And pill mills here made this 16 decision to use this as lip service. It's a one-sheet page of 17 paper.

18 And even when customers reported alarming behavior, 19 no one followed up or did anything, and a lot of times, they 20 just scored it wrong anyway.

21 So let's talk about Mr. Mason. He's answering yes to 22 being arrested to illegal drugs. No action.

23 We had Sean Richardson, if you recall Ms. Alred's 24 testimony, this was somebody that was in her drug group. He 25 said yes to using drugs and -- other than those required for

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 medical reasons, yes, he felt bad about his drug use, yes to 2 friends or relatives know or suspect you abuse drugs, and yes
3 to withdrawal symptoms. No actions.

4 You didn't hear from this customer, Jamie Samson, but 5 he answered yes to friends or relatives know or suspect you 6 abuse drugs, yes to lost friends because of your use of drugs, 7 yes to -- had a medical problem as a result of your drug use.
8 No action.

9 Chris Pique, you didn't hear from him. But this 10 customer said yes to friends or relatives know or suspect you 11 abuse drugs, yes to drug abuse ever create a problem between 12 you and your spouse, yes to gotten into fights under the 13 influence of drugs, and yes to withdrawal symptoms. No action.

14 Samantha Oody, if you recall Ms. Puckett's testimony, 15 I believe her entire family was going to one of these places.
16 She said yes to neglected your family or missed work because of 17 drug use, yes to withdrawal symptoms, and yes to medical 18 problems as a result of your drug use. No action.

19 Jamie Brummitt, you didn't hear from this person.
20 But this person said yes to family members have sought help for 21 you regarding your drug abuse, yes to medical problems, and 22 yes, ever gone to anyone for help of your drug problem.

23 These are just a few of that exhibit. No inquiry, no
24 inquiry into whether or not the medical problems these folks 25 are talking about could be an overdose or something more

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 serious, no inquiry into what kind of help they sought for drug 2 abuse, nothing. When these three defendants ignored these in 3 the file, they chose to ignore the one piece of paper that 4 would tell them anything about this person and write the 5 prescription. This is evidence that they know these 6 prescriptions are not for a legitimate medical purpose.

7 And the very folks that we presented to you, let's 8 start with the first premise that everyone has been arguing for 9 for three months, addicts and drug dealers lie. They lie to 10 get the drugs that they seek to abuse or sell on the streets.
11 They lie about their pain and the conditions causing their 12 pain.

13 But I'm going to argue to you and submit to you that 14 the evidence demonstrates that any nurse practitioner would be 15 smacked in the face for the lies told by these customers.

16 If a defendant wanted to see the truth, it would have 17 smacked her in the face the minute the customer walked in the 18 room. The lies are clear to a nurse practitioner who is 19 checking the PMP, reviewing a drug screen, conducting a 20 comprehensive patient history, exam, forming a diagnosis, 21 treatment plan, or even Looking at the DAST where some of these 22 folks are talking about problems they're having.

23 In other words, if you choose to do your job as a 24 nurse practitioner, you should know these folks are lying.
25 These lies are transparent. Addiction and misuse aren't just

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 for opioids. They've been common principles throughout the 2 course of medicine, alcohol, other drugs. This is not a new 3 concept, and it certainly wasn't a new concept in 2014.

4 These customers were not masters in disguise, they're 5 not chameleons, and they're not on the Oscar nomination list.
6 There's a reason Blake and even Browder and McCoy don't 7 prescribe opioids on the first visit. It's actually one 8 effective way of screening some of these folks out, and it's 9 advertising you're not a pill mill.

10 And when Ms. Womack, Ms. Newman, and Ms. Clemons made 11 the decision to overlook these lies, the appearance and even 12 the information on the charts, those prescriptions are not for 13 a legitimate medical purpose.

14 And on some occasions, like UC Sterns, Mr. Sterns, in 15 his undercover capacity, when Ms. Clemons covered up that lie 16 by saying, "I'll just put you're on vacation," that is one 17 instance where you can look at where she's taking deliberate 18 action to mask that truth.

19 Each defendant chose to write pills to customers
20 missing urinary drug screens. They chose to write 21 prescriptions to customers with bad urinary drug screens in the 22 file. They chose to ignore the medical director when he said 23 "high" on the file or indicated some sort of referral.

24 And she -- each defendant made the decision to forego 25 pill counts, a free version of monitoring to see if somebody is

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 actually using the drugs as prescribed. And they made the 2 decision to not request medical records or previous pain clinic
3 records for numerous customers who reported it. They chose not 4 to take any action other than writing that prescription for 5 opioids pills.

6 And these choices are most aptly demonstrated by the 7 second page of each patient visit where those pain levels 8 stayed the same, as clearly filled out by someone other than 9 the provider. These charts are a joke.

10 And the window dressing used by these customers, the 11 lying, I'm in pain, was as thick as the window dressing as 12 those fancy nominee agreements and those shell companies 13 drafted by the owners, such as Mr. Rodriguez, Mr. Tipton, and 14 Ms. Hofstetter. It's as flimsy as that.

15 And even then, dozens of DASTs, UDS screens missing 16 or aberrant, sitting in the file -- because not everyone is 17 paying Puckett and Hill, it's a small percentage of the 18 thousands of patients going to these places -- were purposely 19 disregarded by each of these three defendants.

20 This is all evidence that demonstrates prescriptions
21 written by these three defendants were not for legitimate 22 medical purpose.

23 And I'm just going to briefly run through some of the 24 things you heard from the patients. This was a random defense 25 chart, randomly selected by some sort of numeric system. He

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 went to pill mills in Florida and Tennessee. He was addicted,
2 word of mouth, he told you. He was discharged from Lenoir
3 City. Ultimately landed at Lovell. Told you all these places 4 were the same, pill mills. Through the course of all those 5 visits, all three defendants wrote him prescriptions at Lovell.

6 We had Ms. Elliott. She started out being sponsored 7 by Jason Butler, she testified. And at one point, she made 8 30,000 a month. She told you Lovell was obviously a pill mill, 9 and she stayed at Lovell even after Ms. Puckett and Ms. Hill 10 left. And then she attempted to follow Ms. Womack to her next 11 clinic and contacted her about coming over with another 12 customer about -- to keep getting opioids. She told you she 13 was a drug dealer. Ms. Clemons and Ms. Womack wrote her 14 prescriptions at Lovell.

15 And then there was Lee Jenkins. He sponsored many 16 people, including his own family members, he testified. And if 17 you recall his testimony, he said, what I could see, I'm sure 18 she could see, talking about the providers. There are addicts 19 there, and he even talked about them not being able to hold 20 their heads up. Ms. Puckett assisted him at Lovell. He 21 testified Hofstetter was always raising Cain about patient 22 behavior. He had 15 missing UDS results and still got his 23 pills.

24 You don't need a fancy medical license to figure out 25 what this means. All three providers disregarded the medical

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 director's directive.

2 The "high" notes are another example of the choices
3 to ignore the medical director. These are specific choices you
4 make. Three hundred is now the limit, as evidenced by the last 5 note on Mr. Jenkins, "MED too high." All three defendants
6 wrote Mr. Jenkins prescriptions.

7 Then we had Scott Willis. He was discharged for 8 methamphetamine. He was called right back to Gallaher View.
9 He was discharged from there. And then he finally landed at 10 Lovell. His discharge papers and his probation paperwork were 11 in the file.

12 He talked about his track marks and the excuses he 13 gave for that, one of which was a chainsaw. Testified he was a 14 junkie. He was getting more meds than a cancer patient. And 15 he called these places dope houses. Both Ms. Clemons and 16 Ms. Womack wrote prescriptions to Mr. Willis.

17 Ms. Osborne, she traveled to pill mills in Georgia, 18 Florida. She said they were all the same, including Gallaher 19 View 2 and Lovell. Elliott told her about it. She referenced 20 it was crowded. And if you recall, she had a small amount of 21 Suboxone. She still got her pills from Ms. Clemons. All three 22 women on trial wrote prescriptions to Ms. Osborne.

23 Then there was Scott Stockton. He was a customer at 24 Gallaher View and Lovell. He said they were both like the 25 other pill mills he had been with. He had a brief romantic

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 relationship with Ms. Newman. He said a visit cost about a 2 thousand out of pocket. He heard about it through word of 3 mouth. And he told you he felt lucky to be alive, because he 4 was given enough pills to kill a horse. All three defendants
5 wrote prescriptions to Mr. Stockton.

6 There was Gerritt Orrick. He had been to pill mills
7 in Florida. He had seven cars, jewelry. He brought the staff
8 cupcakes, sponsored customers. He said the Lovell waiting room
9 looked like the mission. He showed up multiple times a month
10 on days he didn't have an appointment, and he sold stolen goods 11 in the parking lot. He said Newman hit on him. Providers, 12 they liked me, drug dealers like me. All three defendants 13 wrote to this customer.

14 Then we have Randy Garrett. He was a patient at 15 Breakthrough until it was shut down. That paperwork was in the 16 Gallaher View 1 patient file. He injected opioids for years 17 until he was arrested.

18 He was discharged from Lenoir City and then called to 19 come back to Gallaher View 2, ended up at Lovell. And if you 20 recall Mr. Garrett, he had multiple excuses for track marks on 21 his arm, one of which was picking blackberries. He told you he 22 went to Lovell pill sick and saw other pill sick customers that 23 were high. There were needles in the parking lot.

24 And he said it was easier to get pills from these 25 clinics than off the streets. And he stayed after Ms. Puckett

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 and Ms. Hill left. He said nothing changed. All three 2 defendants wrote this man a prescription.

3 Mr. Ledford, he was going with his wife. Butler was 4 sponsoring him. And he testified the exams felt like a 5 checklist, and that they would punish you with a reduction in 6 meds. And he kind of analogized that to, well, a doctor 7 doesn't cut your insulin if you don't get a test done, and that 8 was the analogy he used. All three defendants wrote to this 9 patient.

10 And then there was Ms. Watson. She started at 11 Gallaher View 2. She was 21 or 20. She had been going to pill 12 mills in Florida. During a visit with Ms. Womack, she referred 13 to Opanas as half moons. She was told not to use street lingo.
14 Womack wrote her a prescription in the waiting room without 15 meeting her. She lost over 15 pounds in four months. I think 16 she lost over 20. Nobody asked her about that. All three 17 defendants wrote to Ms. Watson.

18 There was Danielle Ledford. She had a fake MRI. She 19 described the waiting room as rowdy. She was addicted to 20 pills. She talked about the weird rules. She was often pill 21 sick. All three defendants wrote to Ms. Ledford.

22 Then there was Heather Alred. Her PMP showed 23 Suboxone treatment for over a year, and Ms. Newman accepted her 24 as a patient. She testified that other pain clinics refused to 25 treat her. Lovell had a good representation among her druggie

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 friends and typical little pill mill population red flags that 2 she described to you.

3 Her meds were increased by Ms. Womack upon her 4 request. And she testified she was essentially treated worse
5 after claims of kidnapping and rape. She was discharged for 6 drugs she claims she never took, yet her accused rapist 7 remained. All three defendants wrote to Ms. Alred.

8 Then there was UC Matt Sterns. He went for over a 9 year as an undercover patient. And it's kind of luck of the 10 draw, he didn't have any kind of video visits with these other 11 two defendants, but he got Ms. Clemons four times. You saw the 12 videos. I don't need to relive them.

13 You know what passed for an exam. You know she wrote 14 steady gait, despite in the video he's already seated. And 15 then you remember the October 16th, 2000 visit where he says he 16 borrowed meds, and she said, "I'll just write you were on 17 vacation." Ms. Clemons wrote to UC Stern.

18 And then there's Mr. Patterson. He started going at 19 Gallaher View for somewhat legitimate reasons, but quickly 20 turned despite the -- his -- his inability, to use the word, it 21 turned into an addiction. He had medical training. It was 22 obvious to him that no real medical treatment was going on.
23 And on occasion, he waited five to six hours. He described 24 everyone knew each other. It wasn't like a normal doctor's 25 office.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 And he didn't say the same thing as Stockton, that he 2 was getting off meds to kill a draft or a horse or whatever 3 Mr. Stockton used, but he said, where he was working with 4 cancer patients, that he wasn't even tempted to take their meds
5 because of what he was getting at these clinics.

6 The defendants ignored "high" notes for him on 7 multiple occasions, and his pain level 7, 9, 7 stayed that way
8 for the entire time. All three defendants wrote prescriptions 9 to Mr. Patterson.

10 Then we had Melissa Mulkey, another random defense 11 chart. She went to pill mills in Georgia. She said these 12 Tennessee places were no different. Just show up, get your 13 pills. She was an IV drug user. She was an addict. She went 14 to prison, is now clean. Ms. Clemons and Ms. Womack wrote 15 prescriptions to Ms. Mulkey.

16 There's Ernest Johnson, another random defense
17 patient chart. He got pills for pain, became addicted, bought 18 them off the street, started going to pill mills. Went to 19 several pill mills that all closed down before going to these 20 pill mills. He was initially taking them by mouth, and then he 21 started snorting and shooting them. All three defendants wrote 22 to Mr. Johnson.

23 There's Ms. Cantrell. None of these defendants saw 24 this woman, but she told you she was addicted to Roxicodone and 25 oxymorphone. She went to injecting them. Borrowed money from

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 her friends and her parents, because that's the reason they 2 don't have money anymore. Easy to get pills from these pill
3 mills, and she's now clean.

4 Finally, there was Michael Canada, another random
5 defense chart. He went to the pill mills in Florida and then 6 started going here, all the same. He said a drug dealer would 7 call these places a trap house, a place people could come to 8 get drugs. He was addicted. He would go high to the pill 9 mills, and he's now clean. Ms. Clemons saw Mr. Canada.

10 Finally, in addition to the customers, the red flags, 11 the window dressing, the DAST, we presented two providers that 12 worked at the clinics, specifically Kim Chambers and Gayle 13 Fristoe.

14 Gayle was a temp from Texas, and she came here to be 15 near her son. Ms. Hofstetter told her, if you recall from her 16 testimony, it was a post surgical and wound clinic. When she 17 showed up, she described her first day on the job, the only 18 soup kitchen open in Tennessee and everybody seems to be there.
19 She described it as very crowd. She used the words life and 20 death for people who were starving. She kind of -- she used 21 those analogies to talk about the customer base at the pill
22 mill. And she also told you she couldn't even find a band-aid 23 in the place.

24 On the last day of her contract, she described people 25 yelling at her not to leave before you write my prescription.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 She talked about customers thought she was just going for 2 lunch, when in reality, she wasn't ever coming back. And at 3 noon, she left the clinic, and they chased her. Described it
4 like a riot. Went back to her hotel room and called the DEA.

5 She refused to be deliberately ignorant. She's 6 not -- as she told you, she's not stupid. She may be a little 7 slow, and those were own words, but the place didn't follow the 8 standard of care. She said it was a pill mill, and she was 9 ashamed of her prescriptions. Only 24 shifts in and she still 10 figured out somebody was manipulating the drug screens.

11 Then we had Ms. Chambers. Same thing, now we're six 12 months later. Fristoe is in the summer of 2012. Fast-forward, 13 now we're in February of 2013. She called it a pill mill. She 14 was employed in February 2013. She worked five shifts at 15 Lenoir City. She cut prescriptions, customers complained. She 16 saw a patient fake a limp and then walk normally, and she 17 decreased the patients meds, only to have Dr. Larson give him 18 the higher dose he was asking for.

19 And after this, she goes and sees Ms. Hofstetter and 20 Dr. Larson. And Ms. Hofstetter, she recalled this conversation 21 to you, basically told her she was too strict for their 22 clientele, and needed to think about it if he wanted to keep 23 her job. She e-mailed her resignation. And what it boiled 24 down to, that conversation was a get with the program. This 25 woman decided not to, and she quit. She refused to be

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 deliberately ignorant when she was writing these prescriptions.

2 It didn't take these women long, and I want you to 3 think about the raw emotion you saw, especially from 4 Ms. Fristoe when they talked about working at these places
5 years after the fact. Especially with Ms. Fristoe, you could 6 tell she still felt that emotion from being even a small part 7 in perpetuating these places. Guilt that you've never heard
8 about from these three defendants.

9 We discussed decisions and choices. Ms. Chambers,
10 five shifts, Ms. Fristoe, 24 shifts, Ms. Newman, five and a 11 half months, Ms. Womack, 11 months, three of which she had her 12 DEA license, Cynthia Clemons, 16 months.

13 So when we talk about the law, and you recall 14 elements one of Counts 2 and 4 of the agreement to enter the 15 conspiracy, recall that they don't have to enter on day one, 16 day two, day three, day four, day five, but when you choose to 17 deal drugs via these types of prescriptions, when you write the 18 volume that we're about to talk about associated with these 19 women, I would submit to you that all three defendants made the 20 choice to join both conspiracies at issue with this case.

21 Ms. Chambers and Ms. Fristoe, they chose not to 22 accept the paycheck because they knew what they were doing was 23 wrong.

24 And finally, you heard from Dr. Blake and Dr. Carter.
25 But actually, in reality, and I know these were the medical

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 experts, and we spent a lot of time qualifying that, been 2 telling you about their impressive backgrounds. But they 3 should have told you and confirmed to you what you know based 4 on all the other evidence in this case, that with respect to 5 Ms. Hofstetter, she never intended to treat pain at any of her 6 pill mills. This is 300 to 350 a visit, per customer, per 7 month. These defendants, Ms. Newman, Ms. Clemons, and 8 Ms. Womack, did not treat their customers. They wrote 9 prescriptions, period.

10 The practice of medicine is more of just than a 11 patient coming in saying they have pain and being handed a 12 prescription. There's no different or separate tenets of being 13 a nurse practitioner in pain management. They've got to do a 14 history. They've got to do a physical exam. They've got to do 15 a diagnosis, and they've got to formulate a treatment plan and 16 follow-up.

17 If you choose, in addition to these, just four basic 18 things of being a nurse practitioner, if you choose to 19 specialize in a field like pain management, you just must stay 20 up to date in your field. And that makes just common sense.
21 These fundamental tenet apply to every specialty in the medical 22 field. They are taught it from the very beginning from nursing 23 school.

24 If the above is not true, if they're not required to 25 do these four things every time somebody walks in the door,

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 then why do we need a nurse practitioner? A customer would not 2 need doctors for pain management or nurse practitioners. You
3 would simply bypass the clinic, go to the pharmacy, tell them 4 you have pain, and receive opioids.

5 Dr. Blake and Dr. Carter, they're not the gold 6 standard. They're telling you how it should work in any 7 medical practice. They testified how the standard of care does 8 work and the fundamental basic steps in diagnosing and treating 9 a patient.

10 And if you recall Dr. Blake specifically, as he in 11 the field of pain management, he talked about how he approaches 12 these fundamental tenets and then how he evaluates why not to 13 use opioids, and he told you that because the risk of side 14 effects go dramatically up at a MED over 110. He said the 15 risks are serious.

16 You have to worry about the psychological effects, 17 other medical conditions, and there are other modalities that 18 you can consider. And he also said you don't start at the 19 highest dose like these places did.

20 And think about how that dovetails with 21 Dr. Mileusnic, the chief medical examiner of Knoxville. But 22 when she got here in 2002, an explosion of overdoses. And then 23 when the state -- when the county endeavored to figure out what 24 drug was leading drug-related deaths, it was oxycodone in 2010, 25 '11, '12, '13, '14, and '15 in this area.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 And that goes with what Dr. Blake is telling you.
2 Overdose, adverse reactions with other drugs, depression.
3 Opioids can mask other serious conditions you may have. And 4 this was known over a decade ago from today.

5 He's been practicing the same since 2009. And the 6 standard of care that he applied in his objective review of the 7 customer files is the same he used back then. And most 8 important, when he's evaluating those files, when he's 9 evaluating his own customers, that risk assessment for 10 addiction abuse, that risk stratification is always in the 11 forefront.

12 And here's -- and here's what Dr. Blake told you that 13 truly makes this case horrific. It's not that Newman, Clemons, 14 or Womack did not meet the gold standard. It's not even the 15 fact they didn't come close to the standard of care. They were 16 certified being nurse practitioners in Tennessee. They've got 17 some regulations that go along with that, the Board of Nursing 18 guidelines, which outlines the basic tenets we described above.

19 They chose, and they actually made the decision to 20 cease being nurses at all. A conscious choice they made not 21 once, but every customer visit and every prescription they 22 wrote at the pill mills.

23 And they made the decision to cease doing even the 24 fundamental things, the appropriate history, the physical exam, 25 the diagnosis, the treatment. They were not doing an adequate

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 history, they were not doing an adequate physical exam,
2 diagnosis, or treatment.

3 And in addition to that, they coupled this choice
4 with the decision to ignore risk assessment and risk monitoring
5 for the use of these high-dose deadly opioid pills. This 6 evidence demonstrates again and again their agreement to become 7 part of the conspiracy. And when they wrote those 8 prescriptions, they were not for legitimate medical purpose in 9 the usual course of professional practice, and they knew it.

10 And in these pill mills, I would submit to you that 11 pain is irrelevant. It was irrelevant whether a customer had 12 real pain, a serious condition, or was in true need of pain
13 medication. No matter what the condition that customers said, 14 no matter what level of pain, they received the same thing,
15 high-dose, deadly opioids, almost always Roxicodone 30s, a drug 16 the defense's own expert called poison.

17 A similar result could be reached by simply just 18 walking out to a busy city street and handing out 19 prescriptions. Perhaps somebody comes by and has pain.
20 Perhaps they come by and they're addicted, or perhaps they're a 21 drug dealer. It's the exact same thing. These three 22 defendants chose to act -- not to act as medical professionals, 23 and that's when they became drug dealers.

24 And what most aptly demonstrates that is 25 Exhibits 954, 959, and 966. In these pill mills, they're in

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 separate rooms seeing separate customers, but they have the 2 same common recipe, and that was a long-acting and short-acting 3 opioid, the blue being the long -- the short-acting.

4 These charts just speak for themselves. They have 5 the same proportions. Take a look at the "other" category.
6 You can't even see it because it's so small, because that's not 7 what they're there to do.

8 The evidence in this case, the prescription recipe
9 shown by the PMP data in these charts show that they generally 10 prescribed the same thing to each patient they saw. The totals 11 tell you it's a pill mill.

12 Ms. Clemons had 741,923 oxycodone pills, 209,401
13 oxymorphone pills, and over 120,000 morphine pills during her 14 employment. Ms. Newman had 462,000 oxycodone pills, over 138 15 oxymorphone pills, and over 54,000 morphine pills. And 16 Ms. Womack, in the three months she had a DEA license, had 17 169,000 oxycodone pills, over 61,000 oxymorphone pills, and 18 over 16,000 morphine pills.

19 That's a grand total of approximately 655,000 for 20 Ms. Newman, over one million for Ms. Clemons, and over 247,000
21 for Ms. Womack, and we're just talking opioids. These numbers 22 speak volume.

23 And if you recall, Dr. Browder's halfhearted attempt 24 to call these places primary-care practices, they're not 25 treating ear infections or colds or high blood pressure. And

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 they didn't even bother to prescribe other modalities of pain.
2 Oh, yeah, they checked some boxes, said heat, ice, and 3 stretching, but they handed out a common recipe of pills in 4 exchange for cash. It's the end of the story.

5 And those same exhibits, let's just talk about the 6 volumes of prescriptions, every time they're putting that pen
7 to paper or using scripture.

8 Ms. Womack, over 1,600 prescriptions for oxycodone, 9 991 for oxymorphone, and 252 for morphine, all in three months.

10 Ms. Newman, over 4,000 for oxycodone, 2,000 for 11 oxymorphone, and 852 for morphine, and then you have 12 Ms. Clemons and her over year of employment, 7,800
13 prescriptions for oxycodone, 3,400 for oxymorphone and 1,900 14 for morphine.

15 At this volume, they are part of both Counts 2 and 4 16 conspiracies. And as to Element 3 of drug distribution, these 17 aren't for a legitimate medical purpose and certainly not in 18 the usual course of professional practice. They -- on their 19 worst day, they have made the decision to write those 20 prescriptions as a drug deal for approximately $65 an hour.
21 And on their best day, they're writing the script, being 22 deliberately ignorant. There's no good faith or honest effort, 23 as demonstrated by any of these prescriptions.

24 And let's check an analogy to the clinic. Here are 25 prescription summary charts for the clinic. The ratios look

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 the same. Sure, you have a little more benzodiazepines, but 2 that's from 2011, 2012. Over 11 million pills, and there's 3 even, as you heard from Mr. West, about a dozen missing
4 providers from this amount. These numbers are astronomical, 5 period.

6 So the patient files they filled in and their 7 inactions with the patients demonstrate their knowledge in 8 deliberate disregard for the environment they were in as 9 employees of pill mills.

10 And like I just said, this is the same exact 11 evidence, the CSMD analysis and all the things we've talked 12 about, that allow you to absolutely reject the premise that any 13 of these three defendants were operating in good faith, were 14 naive, or uneducated as pain management. All three had some 15 sort of nursing experience, yet despite this experience, these 16 providers did not do any sort of adequate physical exam, 17 history, diagnosis, or treatment.

18 We spent days hearing from Dr. Blake about his review 19 of these customer patient files, and you even got to see those 20 four appointments with Ms. Clemons. These aren't outliers.
21 These defendants did not care. And even worse, they chose not 22 to use fundamentals of being a nurse. And then like we said, 23 the astronomical amount of opioids.

24 So let's talk about some of the things Dr. Browder
25 and Mr. McCoy said. There was kind of this argument put out

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 there that you could lie, the fall at the feet of Dr. Larson.
2 But the medical director, you heard, is not responsible for 3 their actions. They routinely disregarded comments by him, 4 such as "high" and referrals. It was because whatever he said
5 did not matter. There was no repercussion for ignoring any 6 patient file comment by him, and you saw multiple examples of 7 that. Medical director, like we've -- like I've said earlier, 8 is part of the window dressing. To make a decision to 9 disregard the direction of your medical director, to say I'm 10 not going to do what he's saying to do in this file is an 11 absolute rejection of good faith and an honest effort. But 12 it's also an indicator that you're in agreement to sell opioids 13 to drug dealers and addicts.

14 So you know they didn't treat these customers for the 15 following reasons: Medical records from previous clinics were 16 not reviewed. Think of Richard Gregory, Brandy Kreis, Jessica
17 Watson, Heather Alred, UDS results were missing, no action, UDS 18 results were aberrant, no action, a gross lack of pill counts, 19 a free way to check to see if customers are taking a 20 prescriptions as prescribed, a report of customers with medical 21 conditions, depression, et cetera, no action, medical tests
22 requested, no action, PMP sporadically reviewed, DAST answers, 23 and, of course, no exam history or treatment that was adequate.

24 Recall the resumes that Agent Vehec went over with 25 you from Ms. Newman, Ms. Womack, and Ms. Clemons. Ms. Clemons'

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 resume professed to be an experienced nurse with 18 months of 2 individualized pain management. In reality, she used questions
3 such as heat, ice, and questions about people to window dress
4 the files. You know this because everyone got opioids.

5 Ms. Newman had previous pain clinic experience on her 6 resume, and her prescription patterns matter to Ms. Clemons.
7 And Ms. Womack had ICU nurse experiences. Inevitably, 8 narcotics are used in an ICU, yet in this case, all of her 9 patients got the same prescription as Ms. Clemons and 10 Ms. Newman.

11 These providers requested blood tests, new MRIs, and 12 miscellaneous items that appeared via medical decisions. But 13 in reality, they were just window dressing. And there's no 14 evidence in the file from the witness testimony that any of 15 those things were followed up on. Everyone is getting the same 16 thing. This is not individualized care.

17 And they're not being tricked by some Randy Garrett 18 coming in saying he was picking blackberries. The PMP would 19 have told them some of these folks were opioid naive. Recall 20 Ms. Alred's Suboxone, the multiple discharges you saw in the 21 files. They are making the decision to close their eyes to the 22 very facts that should have smacked them the face.

23 And, finally, we get to the defense experts, 24 Dr. Browder and Mr. McCoy. I want to go back to this standard 25 for usual course of professional practice. Whether a

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 prescription is made in the usual course of professional 2 practice is to be determined from an objective and not a 3 subjective viewpoint.

4 Both experts changed their opinion on the stand, and 5 both defense experts used the subjective standard. Browder 6 told you he was trying to get in the head of each defendant and 7 find a good reason why they did it. McCoy argued with me that 8 he could not see how it could be -- how it could not be a 9 subjective standard.

10 The jury instructions are going to tell you this is 11 an objective standard. And you saw visible struggle by each 12 defense witness, Dr. Browder and Mr. McCoy, to do just that.

13 But in the end, two things were clear, they thought 14 the care was bad, and they had to individualize each visit, 15 each activity, as they called it, in order to justify the 16 prescription. You could see Dr. Browder sigh, pause for a 17 minute, wring his hands just to get himself to a place where he 18 could say it was a legitimate medical prescription. Think of 19 him changing the opinion after the break but then not being 20 able to tell you what subject his opinion was about.

21 And you can't look at each activity in a vacuum, as 22 Mr. McCoy and Dr. Browder would like you to do. These -- this 23 is what they had to do to come here to testify, but it's 24 nowhere near the jury instructions the Court will give you.
25 It's not a single activity. It's the totality of the picture

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 painted, which makes ordering tests or issuing prescriptions
2 legitimate in the usual course of professional practice. You 3 have to take into account all the information available to a 4 medical provider, not just a particular action on its own.

5 Dr. Browder and Mr. McCoy's subjective opinions 6 played out on the stand and it just stands in stark contrast to 7 the evidence in this case. And so on behalf of the United 8 States, I'm going to ask you to regard those, and I think you 9 should regard those opinions, which is entirely in your power 10 as jurors.

11 The revenue also tells you in addition to the PMP 12 analysis and in addition to all the things we've talked about, 13 the revenue tells you that these places were pill mills.

14 In the summer of 2011, Gallaher View 1 has a high of 15 $227,000. This is Exhibit 893. Lenoir City revenue, a high of 16 $163,000 in the winter of 2013, because now it's competing with 17 Gallaher View 2, unbeknownst to it. And let's talk about the 18 big moneymaker, Gallaher View 2 and Lovell Road. In May of 19 2014, a monthly take of 411,000 for a clinic sitting between 20 Waffle House and a pornography store.

21 Ms. Hofstetter told you it was all about the money
22 for her and volume. If you recall Agent Nocera's testimony 23 with her goal of a hundred patients, and he demonstrated some 24 of the e-mails that showed you that. One body in the door 25 equals 300 to 350 a month, and that's how this was thought of.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 And she told you in text messages that it was all about the 2 money. And you can also see with Exhibit 652B, when she 3 responds to Enriquez, it's all about the money.

4 34 million total cash played and churned at just 5 Seminole and Cherokee. A loss of 1.7 million just on slots, a 6 loss of 937,000 just on slots. And her total clinic profits of 7 4 million.

8 This is the big picture. For Ms. Hofstetter, you can 9 see from the chart the sheer numbers we're talking about. This 10 is the big picture right here. You see Dr. Valley's dip in 11 revenue here, if you recall his testimony, and you see that 12 411,000 in May of 2014. This clinic was the worst of the 13 worst, and if you divide that 411,000 by 300, that will tell 14 you roughly how many customers were going about that time.
15 Dollars equal lives at this pill mill.

16 So just think about the owners here. Just for 17 investing, Gallaher View 1 income, 7.1 million, Lenoir City, 18 5.39, Gallaher View 2 and Lovell Road, 8.5 million for clinics
19 on the side of the road. This is why they did it.

20 Before we move on from the drug conspiracies, I want 21 to cover one last thing, and that's the overdoses in this case.
22 And I want to remind you, we've got the two drug conspiracies, 23 we've got drug conspiracy elements. And I know this is a bit 24 repetitive.

25 But now what we're going to talk about is the

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 overdose elements. So you've got your two drug conspiracies.
2 And in each drug conspiracy, there are two overdoses. So with 3 respect to Count 2, there is Ms. Sandra Boling and Ms. Carolyn
4 Hayes, and with respect to Count 4, there's Ms. Anna
5 Vann-Keathley and Mr. Henry Reus.

6 And so there's a couple ways you can find in an 7 overdose resulted in a prescription. Let me just go back. I
8 told you about Counts 2 and Counts 4. Counts 14, 16, and 18 9 are what we call the substantive counts that we associate with 10 those overdoses. Ms. Hayes doesn't have a substantive count.
11 That dealt primarily with a prescription written by Dr. Larson.
12 So that's only in Count 2. Whereas the other three overdoses I 13 wanted to discuss, Ms. Boling, Ms. Vann-Keathley, and Mr. Reus, 14 have substantive counts.

15 So there are two ways that the government can prove 16 an overdose death. One in order to establish a death resulted 17 from a defendant's conduct, the government must prove the harm
18 would not have occurred in the absence of the defendant's 19 conduct.

20 It can be done two ways. The first is called 21 independent sufficient causation. Under this theory, the 22 government must prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the drug 23 or drugs standing alone were enough to cause the death. That's 24 way one. I'm going to call that independent causation.

25 The other way is but-for causation. Under this

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 theory, the government must prove beyond a reasonable doubt
2 that the death would not have occurred but for defendant's 3 conduct. The government need not prove that the death was 4 foreseeable to the defendant, but the government must prove 5 beyond a reasonable doubt the death would not have occurred had 6 a mixture and substance containing a detectable amount of 7 controlled substance distributed by the defendant not been 8 ingested by the individual.

9 Evidence of the drug merely contributed to the 10 victim's death is insufficient. However, when the use of 11 controlled substance combines with other factors to produce 12 death and death would not have occurred without the incremental 13 effect of the controlled substance, but-for causation exists.

14 For example, if poison is administered to a man
15 debilitated by multiple diseases, the poison is a but-for cause 16 of his death, even if those diseases played a part in his 17 demise, so long as without the incremental effect of the 18 poison, he would have lived.

19 So that's a mouthful. Let's talk about how either 20 one or two independent causation or but-for causation applied 21 to the overdoses in this case.

22 If you recall Ms. Hayes, you heard specifically from 23 Debbie Shockley and Dr. Robbins. She died on September 11th, 24 2012. You had an autopsy and a toxicology report, and the 25 drugs that we're kind of focused on are oxycodone and

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 oxymorphone. I would submit to you this is going to be one of 2 those but-for causations because Ms. Hayes already had a heart 3 condition.

4 If you recall Ms. Shockley, she was living with 5 Ms. Shockley. She kind of went through that last day of 6 Ms. Hayes' life with you where she was at court, she ended up 7 in the hospital, then she came home, and they continued to 8 abuse drugs by snorting them that evening. They all went their 9 separate ways for bed. In the morning, she woke up, Ms. Hayes 10 was dead.

11 Also Dr. Robbins he was the ER doctor that saw 12 Ms. Hayes in the ER. If you recall, he testified to Narcan and 13 the various steps he took her to bring her back from an 14 overdose. And his note said patient stoned on prescription 15 meds.

16 If you recall Agent Nocera's testimony, he simply 17 took the Exhibit 920A. He took the chart and kind of 18 summarized who were the individuals that saw Ms. Hayes before 19 her demise. Two things I want to point out with Agent Nocera's 20 summary chart, the first of which is that they had medical 21 records in the chart indicating she had overdosed before in 22 2012. And those records were received well before that last 23 prescription by Dr. Larson, yet nothing in the chart indicated 24 that anyone looked at those records.

25 And second, that the last prescription written to

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 Ms. Hayes was by Dr. Larson himself. And as you recall, the 2 patient chart was Exhibit 441, there's Dr. Larson's 3 prescription for oxymorphone and oxycodone as well as Xanax to 4 Ms. Hayes.

5 And then you recall Dr. Lochmuller's opinion. He was 6 the medical examiner that did the autopsy. He opined her cause 7 of death was oxycodone, oxymorphone, both of which were 8 prescribed bring the clinic, and the manner of death, accident.
9 This supported by Ms. Shockley's testimony, who described 10 Mrs. Hayes' last day consisting of the pill mill visit, the 11 court appearance we just discussed, and the ultimate overdose 12 she discovered in the morning. I would submit to you, she 13 didn't go to another clinic. She got her drugs from Lenoir 14 City as a patient file indicates. And this went uncontested by 15 the defense.

16 I would also ask you to recall the heart issue that 17 Dr. Lochmuller told you about and kind of how that would 18 interplay with an overdose. Because she's got a heart 19 condition, her heart is already not getting a lot of oxygen
20 because of the blood flow. Couple that with a respiratory -- a 21 CNS suppressant like an opioid, and this is absolutely 22 something that could happen to someone like Ms. Hayes.

23 I want to talk to you next about Ms. Boling. If 24 y'all remember Randy Haynes, he flew in here from Oregon. He 25 described her as going to pill mills for a year, including

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 Lenoir City. Started with back pain. She got addicted. She 2 died on February 12.

3 They had a fight that day, but it was over how she 4 used her drugs. The agreement was, she could party the day she 5 got her pills, and then they had a fight that evening, if you 6 recall, about where she slept, because she essentially kind of 7 landed on the floor and wouldn't get into the bed. He also 8 told you that when she got that last script, she used to sell
9 some of her pills for Xanax. You have an autopsy and a 10 toxicology to look at. The drug we're talking about was 11 oxycodone.

12 So with respect to Ms. Boling, Agent Nocera prepared 13 a summary chart kind of indicating who saw her during the 14 course of her prescriptions there. Couple things I want to 15 point out, she had tested positive for Xanax in the past. And 16 on February 10, 2014, she told Ms. Clemons, she took a friend's 17 morphine. And also contained in the clinic where there was no 18 action taken was a discharge letter from a previous pain place 19 for Methadone.

20 Again, Ms. Clemons wrote this prescription for 21 oxycodone and OxyContin to Ms. Boling, which she did fill, 22 pursuant to Mr. Hayne's testimony.

23 And then we have what happened to Ms. Boling. She 24 had a 958 nanograms per millimeter of oxycodone concentration.
25 Then she had the metabolite, the oxymorphone. Dr. Lochmuller

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 and Dr. Mileusnic opined the cause of death was oxycodone and 2 the manner of death accident, supported by Mr. Hayne's 3 testimony.

4 Yeah, they had a couple fights. It was over drug 5 use. They came to a resolution. They fought about where she 6 slept that night. This is no suicide, as Dr. Arden put 7 forward. And he also admitted that more information may have 8 changed his opinion. This was an addict. She used too much in 9 her agreed-upon one and only party, and she overdosed.

10 Standing alone, the oxycodone, if you remember, from 11 Dr. Lochmuller, Dr. Mileusnic was sufficient to cause this 12 lady's death, even though she too had a heart condition.

13 Then we had Ms. Vann-Keathley. She's in Counts 4 and 14 14. She died on November 14th, 2013. She had been going to 15 pill mills for years, including Lovell. She had back pain.
16 She got addicted. This -- again, this ain't a suicide. It was 17 the opioids issued by this clinic.

18 If you recall testimony from Mr. Keathley, they had 19 that fight. They go to bed. She goes to bed, she wakes up in 20 the middle of the night, 2:30 a.m. She comes back to bed. One 21 doesn't start to overdose, and then wake up, go to the 22 bathroom, and continue the overdose. What I would submit to 23 you is that she went into the bathroom, probably hit her elbow, 24 as Mr. Keathley testified, probably took some more pills, came 25 back, and of course she's found in the morning by her family.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 Agent Nocera prepared a summary chart. Again, you'll 2 notice the pattern we talked about with all these folks, a lack 3 of confirmation drug tests. You can also see she's missing
4 more than she actually had. And you can see the different 5 providers she saw in Agent Nocera's summary chart.

6 And, again, this is Ms. Newman who writes her a 7 prescription for oxymorphone and oxycodone shortly before her 8 death. And then, of course, you had the autopsy and the 9 toxicology associated with Ms. -- with Ms. Vann-Keathley's 10 death.

11 Dr. Lochmuller and Dr. Mileusnic opined the death was 12 oxycodone intoxication, the manner of death, accident. Again, 13 we just talked about Tony Keathley's evidence about her last 14 days, argument over her drug use and her last night alive.

15 She had been benzodiazepines in her system, but the 16 oxycodone, coupled with her heart disease, was more than enough 17 to cause her death. And if you recall from the tox report, the 18 benzodiazepines were in the therapeutic range.

19 Finally, we have Mr. Reus. He was charged as what we 20 call an enhancement in Counts 4 and 18. And do you remember 21 Sarah and Chris Kinsey? Sarah being his daughter and Chris who 22 took him to the clinic before he died.

23 Do you recall Sara talking about all the stops they 24 made and how her father was snorting drugs and the people he 25 was selling them to? You recall how they were going out for

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 Chris' birthday, and they left Henry, both testified, very 2 high, and he was cloning out some sort of milk on the floor, 3 and they left him there. When they showed back up, he had 4 died.

5 Agent Nocera, again, put together a summary chart
6 associated with patient files. You can see which provider saw 7 Mr. Reus. Again, you'll note, a lot of times he's testing 8 positive for benzos, which I would submit to you would put the 9 clinic on notice that this guy has an affinity for them or is 10 at least taking a prescription they should know about.

11 If you recall with Mr. Reus, Ms. Smith saw him, but 12 Ms. Clemons wrote the prescription. And if you recall from all 13 the testimony, if you write that prescription, if you sign your 14 name to it, you own it. It's your responsibility.

15 And then we didn't have an autopsy from Mr. Reus. We 16 just had what I would submit to you was cardiac blood at 17 2400 nanograms per milliliter. Postmortem redistribution, 18 which we talked about briefly, this is not the issue. She used 19 an astronomical amount.

20 Dr. Bradley, Dr. Mileusnic opined the cause of death 21 was oxycodone, oxymorphone intoxication, the manner of death, 22 accident. Dr. Arden had a different opinion on the manner of 23 death. This isn't a suicide. I mean, yeah, he had some stuff 24 in 2011, but this is the type of case where I'm asking you to 25 use your common sense.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 He was out with his daughter. He was cleaning up the 2 milk. That's not where he decided to commit suicide. It's 3 exactly how they told you. He just took too much. He partied 4 with too many customers, and he overdosed. I would submit to 5 you that the oxy standing alone would be an independent cause.

6 With all four of these overdoses that we just 7 discussed, finally, you recall Dr. Blake's testimony, 8 testifying that none of the prescriptions in any of the files 9 were submitted for a legitimate medical purpose.

10 And, finally, we have Mr. Joseph Russell. He's not 11 charged in any of the enhancement or any of the counts. Okay.
12 And the reason we proved him up is not just to add another two 13 days to the case. The reason we're going to talk about him, he 14 was deceased on November 8th. It was specifically Ms. Hickey, 15 his sister, who kind of explained to you the drug problem her 16 brother had and kind of how it changed their family. And she 17 also told you one important fact. She actually called the 18 clinic. And she told them that he and his girlfriend were 19 abusing the narcotics before he died. There's clearly no 20 action taken on that.

21 And then let's talk about Agent Nocera's count -- 22 chart. Not a single drug screen in the entire file for seven 23 months. He's taking benzodiazepines and opioids which 24 ultimately caused his death, but with substances. And not a 25 single drug screen, not a single question. And you've also got

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 his sister calling the clinic. And, of course, Exhibit 921A, 2 Ms. Vanover is going to the same clinic. That's his 3 girlfriend. Agent Nocera testified she overdosed.

4 He just demonstrates the dangers of Benzodiazepines
5 and opioids, and he demonstrates the dangers of not treating 6 your patient and not caring about their well-being. They were 7 on notice via Ms. Hickey, and instead of doing anything, they 8 kept writing him prescriptions. And we all know what happened.
9 We can also see that Mr. Russell and Ms. Vanover were staging 10 their visits, as Agent Nocera described, to keep them flush 11 with medications. And then this is foreseeable. He's an IV 12 drug user, and he overdosed.

13 Those are the drug conspiracies. Here's what the 14 government wishes for you to take away. As a trained nurse 15 practitioner, licensed by the state of Tennessee and the DEA, 16 you have a duty to do no harm. And unfortunately for these 17 people that died, these providers just didn't care. And 18 because they didn't care, they fed the illegal drug market with 19 millions of opioids pills and hurt the very people, like these 20 folks, that they were there to help.

21 The good news is, with Counts 11, 12, and 13, it has 22 two elements, those are maintaining a drug premises. First, 23 the defendant knowingly opened or used or maintained a place, 24 where permanently or temporarily. Second, the defendant did so 25 for the purpose of distributing any controlled substance.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 What this boils down to is, if you believe these 2 places are pill mills and they're trafficking narcotics, then 3 they are drug premises. And the defendants charged in each of 4 those counts are guilty.

5 Now, with respect to Counts 14, 16, and 18, those are 6 the substantive drug offenses. So there's an overdose attached 7 to each one of those, but you can also find that the 8 distribution was criminal, not for legitimate medical purpose, 9 but find that the overdose was not a but-for independent cause
10 of that prescription or you can find both. So you can either 11 find simply the prescription is criminal or the prescription is 12 tied either but-for or by independent cause to the overdose.

13 And so Count 14 is Defendants Hofstetter and 14 Ms. Newman. It's oxycodone and oxymorphone. It's the 15 enhancement for the death of Anna Vann-Keathley.

16 Count 16, this is going to be Ms. Boling. This is 17 going to be Ms. Hofstetter and Ms. Clemons. Oxycodone, the 18 enhancement of the death of Sandra Boling.

19 Finally, Count 18, that's going to be Mr. Reus.
20 That's going to be September 8th, 2014, Hofstetter and Clemons, 21 oxycodone, and of course Mr. Reus.

22 And, finally, I do want to talk to you just briefly 23 about the money laundering and the RICO conspiracy, and we're 24 almost done.

25 So with RICO conspiracy, this charges only Defendant

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 Hofstetter. And, again, it's a conspiracy. So it's the 2 agreement that's the crime, not the substantive offenses, but 3 just that agreement to do what these folks agreed to do. And 4 it does not include the clinics run, Gallaher View 2 and Lovell
5 Road, by Mr. Tipton and Ms. Hofstetter. It's simply those UCSC
6 clinics.

7 So the -- when we talk about RICO, we use the term
8 racketeering activity, which I'm going to talk to you about.
9 But that -- in reality, Racketeering Act is defined by federal 10 statute, just a bunch of crimes. So in this case, we're going 11 to be talking about drug trafficking and money laundering. So 12 it's got a fancy name, but the reality is, it's a type of crime 13 that the statute says is racketeering activity.

14 So the first element, I've got -- the United States 15 has to prove five elements. The first element is that the 16 charged enterprise, the UCSC enterprise was or would be 17 established.

18 An enterprise can be a legal entity, much like a 19 corporation used to do bad things, but it can also be an 20 association in fact enterprise. And that's what we have here.
21 It's an informal organization that has a purpose, relationships 22 among those associated with the enterprise, and lasts long 23 enough to permit those people to pursue the enterprise's 24 purpose.

25 In this case, the Urgent Care and Surgery Center

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 enterprise was created by the Italians and Mr. Tipton and 2 Ms. Hofstetter. They ran pill mills to generate millions in 3 illegal proceeds. And based on all the elements, I would 4 submit to you this isn't in dispute.

5 The structure of the enterprise was the Italians,
6 Ms. Hofstetter, and Mr. Tipton who was their Tennessee member.
7 They had control of the hiring of various medical directors, 8 sought legal guidance in order to keep the pill mills operating 9 below the radar of law enforcement. And then you have 10 Ms. Hofstetter running them on the boots of the ground. And 11 then, of course, you had the providers who were writing the 12 prescriptions, the office staff managing the business. This is 13 kind of an analogy of Count 2.

14 Element 2 is interstate commerce. And that just 15 means that the enterprise was or would be engaged in or its 16 activities affected -- would affect interstate or foreign 17 customers. This element really isn't in dispute. They went 18 from Florida to Tennessee, and they distributed millions of 19 opioids pills that were manufactured and shipped to pharmacies 20 in both states. So this element really isn't a dispute insofar 21 as the RICO.

22 Okay. Element 3 is that the Defendant Hofstetter 23 knowingly agreed that a coconspirator would be associated with 24 the enterprise. This just means that she agreed that somebody 25 would further the activity. And in this case, the activities

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 we're talking about are drug trafficking and money laundering.

2 Not only did she agree to that, she actively 3 facilitating the drug trafficking and money laundering done by 4 the enterprise. She ran the clinics in Florida, she ran them
5 in Tennessee, and she was the boots on the ground. So I would 6 submit to you that this element has been proved beyond a 7 reasonable doubt.

8 Element 4 is that pattern of racketeering activity we 9 talked about, that she knowingly agreed that a coconspirator 10 would conduct or participate in the enterprise's affairs 11 through a pattern of racketeering activity. So we talked about 12 those are simply the crimes that we're talking about. It's 13 defined by federal statute. And in this case, we're just 14 talking about operating those pill mills as drug trafficking, 15 maintaining drug houses, and the money laundering that went 16 along with it.

17 And the final element of a RICO conspiracy is that 18 she knowingly agreed that a coconspirator would commit at least 19 two acts of racketeering activity. So you just -- it's 20 basically the agreement again that I -- that Ms. Hofstetter 21 agrees that at least two racketeering acts would occur. And 22 you have to find a reasonable doubt that either she agreed that 23 she would do it or a coconspirator would do it.

24 These acts never had to be completed, however, in 25 this case, we talked about 11 million pills and weekly

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 disbursements to the owners. So I would submit to you that not 2 only did they agree, but they did it again and again and again.

3 So what this -- what the RICO conspiracy comes down
4 to, and I'm just going to submit to you and the evidence shows
5 is that Hofstetter and the coconspirators agreed to operate 6 pill mills, and they meant to distribute high-dose opioid pills
7 to paying customers for millions the profit.

8 So I would submit to you the RICO conspiracy
9 dovetails with Count 2, and it's been proved beyond a 10 reasonable doubt.

11 And the final things I want to talk to you about are 12 Counts 3 and 5 which are the money laundering counts before 13 you. These are intertwined with the drug trafficking.

14 So the bottom line is, if you believe these folks 15 were drug trafficking, then the proceeds from that -- the 16 moneys that the Count 2 took in, moneys that Count 4 took in 17 are what we call specified unlawful activity. So if they're 18 drug trafficking, they're also money laundering with the things 19 that we're going to talk about next.

20 So Count 3 relates to the proceeds of specified
21 unlawful activity to violate the federal drug laws in Count 2.
22 So that's your Gallaher View 1, Lenoir City, Hollywood clinics.

23 Count 5 is the same thing, but now we're talking 24 about Gallaher View 2 and Lovell Road.

25 So there's different theories of money laundering,

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 and we've got three that are contained in both Counts 3 and 5.
2 Let me go back. The first theory is promotion. And what 3 promotion means is that you're using the moneys taken in from 4 drug trafficking to keep the conspiracy going. In this case, 5 pay rent, hire providers, pay them, buy the supplies you need 6 to keep the drug trafficking moving.

7 The second theory, and these are the elements in the 8 second theory, we call concealment. And that deals with once 9 you find your specified unlawful activity, what are they doing
10 to conceal the true nature of those proceeds? And in this 11 case, as I'm going to demonstrate to some of the exhibit, we're 12 talking about those flow-through accounts, which have no 13 purpose other than to kind of launder the money to the 14 investors.

15 So Exhibit 807, as to Count 3, money laundering, 16 that's what we're talking about. The use of the 9859 account 17 to move that money from the clinic accounts from the patients 18 who are paying for prescriptions to the investors for those 19 weekly disbursements. And, again, Count 3, that's Gallaher 20 View 1, Lenoir City.

21 Same with 808, Count 5, money laundering. It just 22 looks a little different. But, again, you see the flow-through 23 account in Bank of America account 4433 using to take those 24 money from the clinics, from those patients, from those 25 customers paying for those visits to the investors. And that's

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 Exhibit 808.

2 Counts 6 and 7, the final counts we're going to talk
3 about, are money laundering counts. Those are substantive 4 offenses. And that simply deals with taking money from a 5 specified unlawful activity, which is drug trafficking, and 6 using it to purchase something over $10,000. And we presented 7 two purchases, one for the house, Exhibit 816, and one for a 8 Lexus, Exhibit 821.

9 So I just want to conclude briefly. And I thank you 10 for your time and attention for my very lengthy presentation to 11 you.

12 But in the end, Ms. Hofstetter, she made millions and 13 she dealt as many pills as she could to willing dealers and 14 addicts, and the Knoxville streets were flooded, and we know 15 for at least 11 million pills from her mill pills. Her goals 16 were obvious, and she was able to lead a lavish lifestyle and 17 gamble.

18 These three defendants contributed approximately 19 2 million pills to those 11 million. Each made a comfortable
20 living by signing a piece of paper. They should have done 21 their job right, because they had their patient's life at 22 stake.

23 And in this case with these facts, it doesn't take a 24 medical degree to know what each defendant was doing was 25 criminal as to the thousands of customers that came to their

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 clinics. They had a duty to do no harm, and that's not what 2 they did. They did harm, and they didn't treat anyone.

3 This is what happens, this case, this three months of 4 evidence is what happens when a nurse practitioner chooses not 5 to do her job. These defendants, all four, they became a 6 deadly and integral part of the opioid epidemic here in 7 Tennessee. And they threw the gates wide open, and they 8 flooded the street with high-dose deadly opioids. They did it 9 because they chose not to do the basic things any nurse of 10 medical professional knows from their schooling.

11 So I would submit to you, in the end, this case is 12 about choices and decisions. That's really what this boils 13 down to.

14 Hofstetter, she made her choice from jump street, 15 money for lifestyle and gambling.

16 These three defendants made the decision that $65 an 17 hour was worth more than doing the job as taught. And when 18 they all three chose not to be compassionate, and when they 19 valued their paycheck over someone else's well-being, and when 20 they chose not to care about their fellow man, they did harm.

21 And when they made these decisions, these choices,
22 every day they walked into that clinic and they wrote a 23 prescription, they became drug dealers. And that's when they 24 joined the conspiracies in Count 2 and 4.

25 And in the end, all these four defendants had the

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 same priority, money over people, and they just had different 2 levels of profitability.

3 For that, the United States is asking you to find 4 them guilty of all the counts they're charged with in the 5 indictment.

6 Thank you, Your Honor.

7 THE COURT: Thank you, Ms. Pearson. We'll go ahead
8 and take our morning break. That's concludes the opening 9 closing argument of the government. And we'll proceed with the 10 defendants' closing arguments after our morning break. The 11 jury is excused.

12 (Jury out at 11:13 a.m.)

13 THE COURT: All right. We'll stay in recess until 14 11:30. Let me ask, you are you going to go first, Mr. -- is 15 Ms. Hofstetter --

16 MR. WHITT: That would be me.

17 THE COURT: Oh, it will be Mr. Whitt. So how are 18 we -- everybody can sit down for just a moment.

19 MR. WHITT: I've got a little -- I'll go ahead and 20 answer your question. I've got something I need ask about an 21 exhibit.

22 THE COURT: All right. I'm sorry. So it's going to 23 be Mr. Whitt and Mr. Reagan are going to go first and then 24 Mr. Burks and Ms. Cravens.

25 MR. BURKS: Yes, Your Honor. We had talked to

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 Mr. Oldham, Mr. Rodgers to see if they wanted to follow in a 2 progression of nurse practitioners. I don't think they want to 3 do that, but if they do, then we'll go at the end.

4 THE COURT: That's fine. But anyway, Mr. Whitt, 5 you're going to go up to about an hour.

6 MR. WHITT: Roughly.

7 THE COURT: So that will probably -- we'll do that,
8 and then we'll take a break. And I'm flexible if you-all 9 change the order given. But we'll -- depending on how long you 10 go, that will probably take the break. And then we'll come 11 back, and Mr. Reagan can pick up after the lunch break.

12 MR. WHITT: I need to be heard on something. I'll 13 speak loud enough hopefully. The chart -- there was some 14 summary charts that were proposed that were placed into that, 15 and I was asking Mr. Reagan, Mick and I originally, we talked 16 about these things, and these were regarding the death charts, 17 he's summarized each one of those visits there, and in my 18 cross-examination of him on those charts, I was showed the many 19 discrepancies that occurred on those.

20 He came back and said we wanted to clean those up, 21 perhaps, and we started talking about how to clean those up.
22 And then he came to something and he showed them to me, and I 23 came over and we had a discussion about that.

24 I said, "Well, you still don't need to put that one 25 on here." I said, "You can get up again and I can

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 cross-examine you on it," I said, "but I can't agree to that."

2 I never spoke with anyone in any of the prosecutors 3 on this case about that. And lo and behold, I realized that 4 the original ones that were submitted were not what was placed 5 before this jury. They were the ones that had been corrected.

6 I don't know what major emphasis that will have or 7 what to do about it at this point, because as I was asking 8 Mr. Reagan, I wasn't here at one point, and I thought, well, 9 maybe they agreed that later on. But my understanding is that 10 that was not an agreement, and that certainly it wasn't agreed 11 to by me, and we didn't have discussions with any of these 12 folks, I didn't, about that. And I just have -- I have some 13 concerns about that.

14 MR. REAGAN: Judge, what we're talking about is the 15 death charts. They were originally numbered 923 whatever, and 16 then the charts that Mr. Nocera talked with Mr. Whitt about 17 were labeled, for instance, 923A, and it was the A charts that 18 were used in the closing, not the charts that were rendered 19 into exhibits. I don't think the A chart -- the A charts were 20 ever introduced as exhibits.

21 MR. STONE: I'll respond.

22 I'm pretty confused. All I -- I guess I was told 23 there was an agreement. Mr. Whitt and I didn't talk. But at 24 least from my sitting here, I know Ms. Pearson was going very 25 fast. I don't know to what effect anybody, if there was an

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 issue there, that anybody -- there's a lot of information in 2 those. It seemed like Ms. Pearson gave a gloss or an overview
3 of those, spent a few seconds on each one. Clearly, the jury 4 won't have this PowerPoint back with them.

5 So there's a misunderstanding, of course. I
6 apologize. I was told there was an agreement, and, you know, 7 Mr. Whitt and Mr. -- Mr. Nocera, of course, have a good 8 relationship, and I didn't know there was an issue.

9 THE COURT: Well, the key seems to be, perhaps what 10 is -- what is in evidence and what's going back to the jury?
11 Maybe y'all can talk about that, and let's just make sure 12 there's no issue in that regard.

13 MR. STONE: We'll make sure that's squared away. If 14 there's not an agreement, there's not an agreement. We'll deal 15 with that.

16 THE COURT: Does this affect your closing at all?

17 MR. WHITT: No, it doesn't. That why I said I'm not 18 saying there's a huge emphasis or difference here. It's 19 certainly not going to change what I'm getting ready to talk 20 about. But at the same time, it's just -- it's concerning.

21 THE COURT: Let's just make sure.

22 MR. STONE: We'll deal with it.

23 THE COURT: You're saying it's not -- you're saying 24 it's not the As that are in evidence, it's the originally 25 numbered exhibits. And perhaps it was the As that were shown

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 during the closing argument in brief fashion.

2 MR. STONE: It wasn't part of mine. So I'm not sure.
3 We'll figure it out.

4 THE COURT: Y'all look into that. Maybe over the 5 lunch break, we can clear it up. Let's go ahead and take our 6 break, so we can come back. I think it will work out 7 timing-wise. The jury can hear from Mr. Whitt, and then we'll 8 take our lunch break.

9 THE COURTROOM DEPUTY: All rise. This honorable
10 court stands in recess until 11:30.

11 (Recess from 11:19 a.m. to 11:34 a.m.)

12 THE COURTROOM DEPUTY: This honorable court is again
13 in session.

14 MR. REAGAN: Yes, Your Honor. We have an issue we 15 need to address to the Court. During the government's 16 argument, Ms. Pearson stated, talking about Ms. Fristoe, talked 17 about her working there, said, I want you to think about the 18 raw emotion you saw, especially from Ms. Fristoe, when they 19 talked about working at these places years after the fact, you 20 can tell with Ms. Fristoe, she felt the emotion of being in a 21 small part, and then it says "in per pate waiting these 22 places," according with the realtime transcript. That's not 23 what that said. But the part I want to address is, immediately 24 after that, Ms. Pearson says, guilt you never heard about from 25 these three defendants.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 That is clearly a comment on exercising our right not 2 to testify. And we would ask the Court to declare a mistrial
3 in this case because of that prosecutorial misconduct.

4 THE COURT: All right. Response from the government?

5 MS. PEARSON: Your Honor, that -- certainly in the 6 context -- we were talking about the evidence, we were talking 7 about the testimony, that was certainly not a comment on these 8 defendants not testifying. It was not taken as such. It was 9 dealing with Ms. Fristoe's testimony. So I would submit a 10 mistrial is absolutely not appropriate.

11 MR. REAGAN: Judge, she said guilt you never heard
12 about from these three defendants.

13 THE COURT: What about that? Respond specifically to 14 that statement. I'll go back and review the testimony. But 15 how do you respond --

16 MS. PEARSON: I would have to reread the transcript.
17 What I meant by that is that their actions didn't demonstrate 18 any of the remorse Ms. Fristoe said. I certainly did not 19 comment about them testifying, them -- the lack thereof of 20 that. It was simply related to the evidence in this case and 21 the fact that they continued working there. And that's the 22 context that that was in.

23 THE COURT: Anything further?

24 MR. REAGAN: It's pretty clear, Judge, guilt you 25 never heard about from these three defendants. That's clearly

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Pearson

1 a comment on our exercising our right not to testify.

2 THE COURT: I'll take the matter, motion under 3 advisement. I'll review the testimony. I'll take it all the 4 defendants are joining in that request.

5 Okay. We're ready for our jury. Just before we 6 bring them in, I know defendants have given time estimates on 7 closing arguments. We didn't really pin down a specific time, 8 but generally speaking, I -- and I think it was a request from 9 Ms. Hofstetter, as well as the government, up to around two 10 hours for their opening -- for the closings or the opening 11 closings, so I've heard some 90-minute estimates. But I'm not 12 going to cut you off, because generally speaking, I'm looking 13 at up to two hours for each defendant, just so you'll know.

14 MR. WHITT: That's not going to be a problem for us.

15 THE COURT: Doesn't mean you have to use it. But 16 that's kind of what we're looking at, just to be fair to 17 everybody.

18 All right. Let's bring our jury in.

19 (Jury in at 11:37 a.m.)

20 THE COURT: Thank you. Everyone may be seated.

21 Now the defendants have the opportunity for closing 22 arguments. The counsel for the defendant, Ms. Clemons, is 23 going to present closing argument first. Mr. Whitt is going to 24 go first on behalf of the Defendant Clemons.

25 And then that will probably take us to our lunch

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 break. And then Mr. Reagan will come back after lunch. So, 2 again, I'm allowing multi -- parties represented by multiple 3 counsel to split up their closing arguments if they desire.

4 Mr. Whitt, you may proceed with closing argument on 5 behalf of the defendant, Ms. Clemons.

6 MR. WHITT: Thank you, Your Honor.

7 Good morning. On behalf of Ms. Clemons, I want to,
8 first of all, just as the government did, I want to thank you 9 for literally taking four months, what's been four months out 10 of your life to come here each day and sit through and then 11 have to go back there and sit and then come back. It's a 12 difficult time. It's -- you add the holidays to it, and I know 13 it's not easy.

14 But this is an important, important day for 15 Ms. Clemons. It's an important day for all these defendants.
16 It's an important day, which is why her family, as you know, 17 her mother and father have been here every single day that we 18 have and have come here, and a lot of the balance of her family 19 is here today, because it is an important time. It's a huge, 20 huge moment here in Ms. Clemons' life.

21 And I'm fortunate that we have -- and we're all 22 fortunate that we have a system where the words of the 23 prosecutor or the words of the defendant -- or as far as the 24 defense counsel, our words don't mean anything. It's what you 25 hear from the witness stand that means something. And that's

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 important. And that's important. Because it's not the 2 argument. It's the substance of what you hear.

3 And we're going to have a little dispute over what -- 4 the way I heard some of this testimony and what the government
5 had brought forward just a moment ago. So we're going to kind 6 of talk about that.

7 But the way I want to do, I'm going to get to a road 8 map here in a little bit. I'm going to help a little bit with 9 you. You're going to get some jury instructions that are going 10 to be really, really long. It's going to take a long time to 11 listen to them and to look through them. And they're kind of 12 difficult.

13 And I do think the government did a fairly good job 14 of showing you what some of those counts were. And it's 15 difficult. It's kind of difficult work, I guess, to go through 16 all those things.

17 I'm going to help you from the perspective of 18 Ms. Clemons. But before I do that, I want to go through some 19 things. I want to review some testimony, kind of going in a 20 different order than they did. I want to start with the 21 importance of -- and before we get into that, the importance of 22 one thing, and that is, there's been a term that has been used 23 literally hundreds and hundreds and hundreds of times, over a 24 hundred times today so far, and I want to go ahead and get that 25 out of the way now and talk about that.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 And it's the term "pill mill." We heard this word 2 from the very first time when the very first witness got up, 3 and even before that, when the opening was done by the 4 government. They talked to you about pill mill. They said
5 pill mills here, pill mills there, pill mill, pill mill.

6 Then they get the -- Stanley Jones when he first 7 testifies, he tells you that -- the DEA expert tells you what a 8 pill mill is. And he told you that a pill mill was a pain 9 clinic that actually dispensed medication from their facility, 10 that that was a pill mill. But even after that, that was 11 clearly not the context that the government wanted.

12 And you have to ask yourself about the word "pill 13 mill." What's the reason for it? Must be a basis for it.
14 Maybe it's in the statute somewhere. Maybe it's in those sorts 15 of things. But it's not. It's not.

16 The reason why you hear pill mill over and over, and 17 the reason why you continued to hear that terminology is not 18 because they were trying to use it as a pain clinic. It's 19 because there's a negative connotation to that word. There's a 20 negative connotation to that word. And so why not refer to the 21 clinics as pill mills? That way, you can start with your 22 negative connotation in the beginning. And that's exactly what 23 they attempted to do.

24 Even though they had the definition of really what 25 one was, they expanded that definition to be a lot of things,

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 things with the red flags. And that's where Mr. Jones talked 2 about things that are red flags in a pill mills -- in pill
3 mills. What we're really talking about the pain clinics. What 4 we're really talking about is pain clinics.

5 Pill mills are something that is defined after the 6 point, after -- after all is said and done. That's something 7 to be said for later on, if you want to use that definition.
8 But we know the clear definition is it's for a clinic that 9 actually dispenses their medication. We know this clinic never 10 did that. We know this clinic never did that.

11 I do want to talk about, as far as Stanley Jones, 12 because it started early. And it started with the fact that he 13 conceded several things that are very important. And he came 14 in and he told you-all that -- in my question of him, that it 15 was in fact -- it's the DEA that releases -- that releases the 16 quotas of any drug that is -- involved controlled substance 17 medication. It is the DEA that does that.

18 And he also conceded that during the ten-year period 19 leading up to the end of this -- at the end of this case, that 20 the percentage -- that the percentage of oxycodone had gone up 21 400 percent. And what we mean "gone up" is, they had released 22 400 percent more of that medication into the United States.

23 Seems like a big number. And the reason why he said 24 that is because the DEA had -- it recognized the need for that 25 medication. The need for that medication, that's why they did

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

1 it.

2 If you remember what he said, if they wanted to cut 3 it off at zero, they could have cut it off at zero. They could 4 have cut oxycodone out if they wanted to. DEA has that power.
5 But they didn't do that. They upped it because there was a 6 recognized medical need for that medication.

7 So when we're talking about this, as we're going 8 forward -- going forth, there was this recognized need. That 9 was the lens. We're talking about the lens of today versus the 10 lens from ten years ago or eight years ago. It is different.
11 We see things different now maybe than we did.

12 But it's our job here today and your job as the 13 jurors to see -- to see this case through lens of 2013, 2014, 14 which is when these -- these prescribers here, these providers 15 were actually working for these clinics. It's important that 16 we do that. Not from today, because we see things different 17 today.

18 Also, Mr. Jones talked about, which I thought was 19 very telling, he talked about how the changing with drug 20 dealers in their involved -- getting involved in diversion, and 21 that is getting involved in trying to figure out a way to make 22 money off prescription medication. They had gotten money off 23 of the -- of normal, more recreational drugs, and he talked 24 about in his experience how they tried to adapt to be able to 25 take advantage.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 And he said that was -- the reason why the drug 2 dealers did that, and we talked about these drug dealers from 3 the context of these people that were supporting people into 4 this clinic, you've heard actually from quite a few of those 5 people, these sponsors is what we're referring to, how they had 6 come in and they were taking great chances, they were taking 7 great risks, the risk of severe prosecution. And the only 8 reason they would do that is for the money. And that's what he 9 said.

10 They do that because the motivation for the amount of 11 money that they might be able to make is there. And that's why 12 drug dealer would do that, is for the money.

13 And I want to talk to you about that, because I want 14 to talk to you about what the proof that you heard of what 15 Ms. Clemons made in the context of her employment at this 16 clinic.

17 She made $65 per hour. They did not take taxes out 18 on her paychecks, which means she had to pay the taxes.
19 Ordinarily, if you have a job and they're actually taking 20 taxes, you're actually splitting that with them. But when 21 you're a contract 1099 employee, you have to pay both taxes.
22 So it's -- you have to pay a higher tax rate.

23 Got no vacation days, no sick days, no retirements, 24 no health insurance, have to pay that yourself, no anything, 25 nothing. Hardly the above-average compensation that the

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 government said in their closing a minute ago when they said
2 they were paid at above higher grade.

3 The truth is, it's the exact opposite. They were 4 paid a lesser grade. They were not paid any incentives
5 bonuses. They were told, "Oh, if you see so many patients in a 6 day, we're going to give you an extra, you know, $500 this 7 week." That was not the proof. Did not happen. Didn't show 8 you a single check, a single payment, a single voucher, a 9 single nothing, because it didn't happen.

10 So to come to this jury today and say they were 11 making above average compensation is absolutely false and 12 inaccurate. It was less. And, therefore, it also was less 13 motivation, because as Stanley Jones told you, there's a high 14 risk. The punishment is high. You're going to do that, you're 15 going to do it for the money. And they clearly were not doing 16 it for the money.

17 When we get into the actual -- and I think -- I 18 think, ladies and gentlemen, you can pretty much figure out 19 what my role in this was, and that every doctor that testified, 20 I ended up being the one to cross-examine them.

21 So that was kind of the role that I played was 22 from -- and you're going to get some instruction where he talks
23 about opinion testimony. In state court, we call it expert 24 testimony, so I'm probably going to call it that, even though 25 that's what this court calls it, only because I've done it for

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 30 years and I can't stop. So I'm going to refer to them that 2 way, because in a way, that's what they are. But we'll refer 3 to them as opinion testimony.

4 But that was my role in this case. In looking at 5 that, one of the first witnesses that really fit that was 6 Michael Carter. Now, Michael Carter was an academian, as we 7 would call, had been around, retired, was a retired nurse
8 practitioner. And there were a lot of very important things 9 that he said.

10 Of course, one of the things that he conceded, at 11 least seven times, I believe, in his testimony was this, that 12 he had no experience or knowledge or expertise in chronic pain 13 management. And he was -- actually also said he wasn't even 14 familiar with the Tennessee Intractable Pain Treatment Act.

15 As a matter of fact, one of the, I believe, 16 paraphrasing a quote here, he said, "I'm not familiar with pain 17 management. It's not my specialty. So I don't know all the 18 ins and outs, but I can tell you about wound care."

19 And he could tell you about charting, and he could 20 tell you how to chart something from a classroom, from the 21 academic standpoint, but he clearly had no experience in pain
22 management. He said he had never seen what even the files 23 looked like until he got them -- got here in this case.

24 And he also told you that it was his -- his 25 experience -- I hid my water from myself -- he said it was his

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 experience that patients will come in and tell you about their 2 medication and that they're going to be very honest with you
3 about that. That was his experience.

4 He also admitted that when he talked about the visits
5 he did concede the fact that you -- there's one responsibility 6 for a first time patient, and then there's a different 7 responsibility for a follow-up patient, that is that you
8 require -- a nurse practitioner is required to perform a 9 physical examination on a first-time visit, but is not required 10 to do that on follow-up visits. We all knew that, but he 11 confirmed that. So he certainly had an idea of what the duties 12 of a nurse practitioner are.

13 But he -- when he started looking at these files, and 14 he said that -- he admitted that there was an attempt, was his 15 words, there was an attempt to put most of these elements in 16 the files, but they didn't write enough in these charts to tell 17 the full story.

18 So he started discussing what he -- what standard of 19 care existed in -- on behalf of these nurse practitioners. And 20 then before he started going through the files, he said
21 something very telling. And he said, in assessing these files, 22 he defined his rubric, as referred to it, as basically a 23 measuring stick for did the feel meet his measured standard of 24 care.

25 And that's what he analyzed those based upon that.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 Did it measure up to his standard of care for files? And we 2 know that he reviewed about 90 files, and we know that he said
3 absolutely none of those files met up to his measured standard 4 of care based on the rubric of his analysis.

5 We're going to get back to that in a minute, because 6 it's going to be pretty important when I bring that together 7 here in a moment.

8 He also indicated if you didn't write it in the 9 chart, it did not happen. If you didn't write it in the chart, 10 it did not happen. Well, he also says later on, though, that 11 there's no way you can write everything in the chart or you'd 12 never be able to practice actually medicine. But if it's not 13 the chart, that it didn't happen. So that was the purview by 14 which he was reviewing these files. Wasn't in the chart, 15 didn't happen.

16 He had previously testified in one case before. It 17 was a malpractice case. Had never been a part of a criminal 18 case -- criminal proceeding before. And none of his testimony
19 was directed at Ms. Clemons or the providers, because as you 20 recall, he said that he wasn't even told who they were the 21 names or anything else. So he was really looking at this from 22 the perspective of just looking at the file versus who might 23 have been in the file or any of those things.

24 He did admit that many of the criteria that he was 25 looking at were best practice, because that's what every

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 provider should do. He admitted that he did not know all the 2 standards for visits to a pain clinic. He said I can't speak 3 to that.

4 And then he went on, and he talked about some of 5 the -- some of these visits. And he talked one of the ones 6 that comes to mind first, Mr. Burns, Danny Burns, he talked 7 about that file, because he talked about the fact that 8 ultimately Mr. Burns and his opinion was discharged from the 9 clinic for benzos.

10 And then upon my cross-examination of him, I said, 11 "Well, that's actually not a benzodiazepine. That's actually a 12 contributor of cocaine."

13 He said, "Well, yeah."

14 I said, "He was actually kicked out for cocaine."

15 He said, "Yeah, but he had been on benzos the whole 16 time."

17 Y'all may remember, I started going back through 18 those visits, and I said there's no benzos here, no benzos this 19 month, went back the next month, no benzos. I said, "Want me 20 to keep going, or do you want me to tell you he never tested 21 positives for benzos during this time?" I said, "You were just 22 wrong."

23 He said, yeah, he wrong. He was wrong how he 24 assessed that file and how he missed -- I don't know exactly -- 25 I can't really speak for him how he was wrong about that, but

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 the bottom line is that he was.

2 He also said on cross-examination, he said, I have to 3 keep telling myself -- we talked about this lens of today
4 versus a lens of yesterday. He said he had to keep telling 5 himself to look at it from the lens of 2013 and 2014 because 6 the thinking today is much different about medication than it
7 was back then. And that's important. And that's important 8 because the thinking is different.

9 Dr. Blake testified. Dr. Blake testified, and let's 10 talk about Dr. Blake. Obviously a very intelligent -- he knows 11 pain management. He's got a good, successful, driving business 12 in Chattanooga. He focuses on all of the -- all of the various 13 modalities, the upper end modalities, we kind of call them, 14 that is like surgeries and the injections.

15 And he owns a clinic that actually does their own
16 physical therapy, as you recall. They also had their own 17 psychologist at one time. I think he had just lost them, but 18 they were looking for another one. They do all their own 19 interoffice drug screens, whether it be the screens or 20 confirmations. They do all of that inside that office.

21 And he obviously is a specialist and certified 22 specialist in pain management. And so he talked about trying 23 to compare -- to compare what his clinic was to what a general
24 pain clinic is. And they are obviously two different things.

25 He admitted that his toolbox -- we talked about a

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 toolbox. His toolbox is much larger than the toolbox that a 2 regular pain clinic that doesn't have all the specialties and 3 modalities that his does has. And I think that's common sense.

4 But the government asked him if he was familiar with 5 the standards of the case, as far -- as standards of care of -- 6 as it applied to chronic pain management.

7 And he said, "Yes."

8 And the government followed up and said, "So when 9 you're testifying going forward, are you applying these 10 standards to your testimony?"

11 And he said, "Yes, ma'am."

12 And those standards of care that he were talking 13 about were things like the pill counts, they do the pill counts 14 every -- every time a patient comes in, they do their pill 15 counts. He conceded the fact that there's no requirement by 16 law or rule that that happen, but he says and that's what his 17 office does, and therefore that's the standard of care.

18 He says they don't ordinarily issue pain medication
19 on the first time. I believe Dr. Browder's office doesn't do 20 that either. There's no rule that says don't do that or that 21 you can't do that. But that's the way he practices in a best 22 practice standard.

23 He says they do background checks. He thinks that is 24 the standard of care, to do criminal history checks, those 25 sorts of things. But yet there's no requirement that any of

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 those things happen. But that's his standard of care is what 2 he had testified to.

3 The electronic records, he thinks is a standard of 4 care, because they had had them since, I think, 2000 -- well, 5 probably even before maybe he even went. I don't think he got 6 out of school till 2009. So they may have had them before 7 then, but -- and he talked about his exams and advanced exams 8 are the standard of care, the heightened standard.

9 And that's important, because once again, we're 10 talking about something called standard of care, quality of 11 care. That's what Michael Carter talked about was standard of 12 care. He talked about quality of care and best practices.

13 He went on to -- after he analyzed these files, he 14 came up with the same result of analysis that Michael Carter 15 had, in that these prescriptions, none of these prescriptions 16 in any of these files were with legitimate medical purpose in 17 the usual course of professional practice.

18 Now, when we cross-examined him, we talked about some 19 things that -- and he did admit that different doctors do 20 things different ways. Different doctors may see when -- you 21 know, as it applies to pain management with -- as far as MED 22 levels, for instance.

23 And we know that, because he said that he admitted as 24 a partner, he and his partner had differences on that. And he 25 said his partner has a different tolerance for high-dose

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 opioids than he does, because his partner was trained in the 2 1980s or before and felt way more comfortable with that than he 3 did than when he was trained in the late 2000s.

4 So we know there's a difference of opinion. We know 5 what his opinion was, and when he was giving his opinion, is he 6 is someone that does not -- does not regularly prescribe 7 high-dose MED levels. But he conceded that he had a partner
8 that saw things different. And people do things, do see things 9 different in that regard.

10 And we talk about how his partner was trained at a 11 different time. I asked you to kind of look at that from the 12 scope of Dr. Larson. Dr. Larson, who was a medical director of 13 these clinics, obviously was an older gentleman who would have 14 been trained at a different time, too, than what Dr. Blake was 15 and very well comfortable with higher levels than what 16 Dr. Blake would be comfortable with.

17 Different minds have different approaches. There's 18 nothing wrong with that. There's nothing illegal about that.
19 It's just a different way of viewing things.

20 There's a doctor -- I think we mentioned before,
21 there was a doctor when I was cross-examining him, there's a 22 doctor in Kentucky who had never given out pain prescriptions
23 before. Never. Because he chose to do it a different way.
24 Doesn't make him wrong. It's just a different way of doing 25 things.

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 Now, he did make a fairly big deal about the language
2 being spoken between the clinic and Dr. Larson. The government 3 has kind of jumped on that again today, saying that these 4 providers were intentionally, were intentionally disobeying his 5 request to reduce MED levels. And they did that.

6 And if you recall, I think I had pointed out to 7 you-all once before that there are different -- when you look 8 at these charts, there are different writings on these charts
9 that Dr. Larson would do.

10 And I think you-all will remember this, because I did 11 this before. He may say "300" and circle it, he may say "300 12 high" and circle it, or he may say "300 high" with an arrow.

13 When you look at these charts, you're going to see 14 that. You're going to see what each of these means, and 15 Dr. Browder told you that it -- by reviewing those files, it 16 appeared that 300 high was his threshold level. That's where 17 he thought that it -- that was the high point of what he 18 thought MED levels were. That's why he didn't put the arrow.
19 If he put an arrow down, that was an indication to lower the 20 meds.

21 So all these times, all these times when they're 22 saying that these providers are intentionally, intentionally 23 disobeying his request, that's inaccurate. That's wrong. And 24 I'm going to show you one in a minute when we get into 25 Mr. Reus' chart. You're going to see that the previous month,

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 it had said "300" and "high," and then it was Dr. Larson who 2 saw him the next month. He didn't lower it. He kept it at 3 300, because that was his threshold level. So if he was 4 telling them that high meant you needed to reduce it, then he 5 certainly would have had the opportunity to reduce it, but he 6 didn't do that. He kept it there, because he didn't put an 7 arrow. That was -- that's the key. It was the arrow for him.

8 So for them -- for the government to tell you that 9 that's what the communications from them were, is inaccurate.
10 They weren't disobeying him. They were doing exactly what he 11 told them to do. And that was the way in which he did it.

12 They also -- we talked about this before, too. They 13 said -- the government used this. They said Dr. Larson wasn't 14 on his game that day. They refer to him as being on his game 15 or maybe he was on his game that day, but wasn't on his game 16 another day. Every time they didn't like necessarily what 17 Dr. Larson did, they said he was off his game that day. And it 18 came from prosecution through the question. It really never 19 came from the witness. It just came from the prosecution.

20 But they would say that. And that's -- I think 21 that's a very disingenuous way of doing things. Because I 22 don't think it tells the tale of what Dr. Larson was doing or 23 not doing. You were just doing it -- seeing it through their 24 own eyes and not through anybody else's. That's a disingenuous 25 way, in my opinion, to reveal that communication.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 Also from the -- he talked about window dressing. He 2 talked about these files were window dressing, that -- and then 3 when they came back as a rebuttal, he basically was telling you
4 that everything they did was window dressing. I talked to him
5 about the drug screens. What did he tell you about the drug
6 screens? I said, "How many do you have to have a year?"

7 "Two."

8 "How many did they have?"

9 "Well, 10 to 12," I believe is what he said.

10 I said, "Now that would be window dressing if you 11 were only doing two a year, the very bare minimum. Right?"

12 "No. This is window dressing here because they're 13 doing too many."

14 Makes no sense.

15 I asked him, "Well, what about this window dressing 16 you're saying when Ms. Clemons on multiple occasions with 17 multiple patients asked for a full blood count panel to make 18 sure of how the organs were reacting?"

19 "That's window dressing."

20 "How is that window dressing if it's for the safety 21 of the patient?"

22 "Well, it's just for window dressing."

23 Couldn't give us an accurate answer to that. He just 24 said it was window dressing.

25 I said, "And when they then -- when the person still

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 wouldn't go get that blood panel test, all of a sudden then 2 there was the threat that they would actually reduce the 3 medication if they didn't get it. Is that window dressing 4 too?"

5 He said, "Yeah."

6 That doesn't make any sense. And then when 7 Ms. Clemons actually did reduce -- actually did reduce an MED 8 level for not getting that done, it was for the safety of the 9 patient. There could be no other reason why that would do 10 that. If this was what the government wanted you to think that 11 it was, she wouldn't have cared two whatevers, iotas about 12 that. They wouldn't have. She would have said, "Well, just 13 keep your medication then. I'm not even going to -- I'm not 14 even going to try to -- it's no concern to me if you don't want 15 to take that test. Don't take the test."

16 But that's not what was going on. There was care 17 being given. There was activities being given. There were 18 referrals being given. But every time we addressed one of 19 those, it was window dressing. It was window dressing. When 20 you kick -- when she kicked 200 -- or 200 or so people out of 21 the clinic, it was window dressing. Just because to protect -- 22 they were just protecting the clinic by kicking the people out 23 of the clinic.

24 I submit to you that that is just absolutely an 25 inaccurate argument. That is not reflective of what was going

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 on. And it makes no common sense why you would kick hundreds 2 of people out of the clinic when you know how much it is -- I 3 mean, if this were just all about money, and clearly it wasn't 4 to them, they weren't making them money, if it was all about 5 money, then they would -- that's an extra $300 per visit times 6 200 people that she kicked out. That's not what that was.

7 So we get into -- with -- oh, before I do this, 8 Dr. Blakely also had testified and he had talked about how the 9 300 MED level, that he had checked around the area, and that 10 seemed to be the standard area. You'll recall his testimony 11 about that. So there's a reason why that number also then 12 carried into Dr. Larson when he had taken over to the clinic.

13 Dr. Browder testified. And Dr. Browder, also very 14 educated, had been around a long time. I think retired back in 15 2018. But had a lot of experience. National award winning, as 16 you were told, pain management clinic. We went through a 17 numerous amount of slides with Dr. Browder. We talked about 18 how he then assessed the clinics.

19 And if you recall -- I'm here behind the screen where 20 I can't see it, so I'm going to move over here. You recall the 21 clock that he gave you. And the clock is what he used in an 22 effort to evaluate these cases. And you evaluate on the issue 23 of legitimate medical practice in the usual course of -- 24 legitimate medical purpose in the usual course of professional 25 practice. And he did that.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 And we got a few of those slides here. Well, I did
2 have. Oh, thank you. Hiding.

3 I want to go over a few of these that we talked 4 about, and then we'll get back to the clock. He talked about 5 some general concepts. We talked about the treatment
6 modalities. And so we've heard about those treatment 7 modalities, and that is heat, ice, physical therapy, home
8 stretching, durable medical equipment, for instance, TENS 9 units, back braces, knee braces, those sorts of things, 10 nonopioids, which is NSAIDs, those sorts of things, opiates and 11 opioids, and then the more serious, more invasive maneuvers, 12 the basic injections, invasive procedures, surgical 13 intervention, those sorts of things. Those are the modalities.

14 And what we know is, and this is kind of the back to 15 the difference in the toolbox that Dr. Browder and Dr. Blake 16 had this clinic didn't, is this clinic certainly offered heat, 17 ice, stretching. You saw this throughout the charts, 18 throughout the charts. Of course, it was window dressing to 19 Dr. Blake, but you saw it throughout the charts. You saw TENS 20 units. You saw braces. You saw where people were either being 21 given other nonopioid medication, and, of course, the opiates 22 and opioids.

23 These things we know this clinic didn't offer, but 24 every other one that they did. They didn't offer it, because 25 they were not -- they had no expert that could do those sorts

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 of procedures. So this is all that they had. And they offered 2 all of those, and they actually administered all of those.

3 Also, he looked at legitimate medical purpose, and he 4 said that it is one or more generally recognized indications 5 for the use of a controlled substance prescribed for a 6 therapeutic purpose and used in the context of a 7 practitioner/patient relationship.

8 One or more generally recognized indications, that is 9 pain, for pain, is certainly a recognized understood case. And 10 once again, and for the therapeutic purposes of fixing that 11 pain, of relieving the suffering, and used in the 12 practitioner/patient relative. Clearly those things occurred 13 at this clinic.

14 Usual course of professional practice, individual 15 acting as a health-care practitioner engaged in health-care 16 activities to render medical treatment.

17 He talked about the activities. He talked about the 18 things that were going on, and we're going to go through a 19 couple of these charts. Bore you a little bit. But he talked 20 about those things, those activities.

21 And -- but he also talked about the standard of care, 22 and we put this up at that time. Standard of care is 23 distinguished from usual course of professional practice.
24 Standard of care is terminology affiliated with quality of 25 care. That is inside or outside the standard of care generally

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 relates to malpractice cases. The usual course of professional 2 practice means doing the things a health-care practitioner
3 would generally do in accordance with the generally accepted 4 practices in place at the time of prescribing. It does not 5 equate to the constant use of best practices or gold standard.

6 That's going to be important. And the reason that's 7 important is because you're going to be receiving jury
8 instructions. This Court is going to instruct you, and as a 9 part of instructing you, one of those issues is going to be on 10 standard of care.

11 And first of all, I do want to say this, you were 12 first showed earlier this morning, you were showed a slide here 13 by the government that shows for a particular crime is the 14 legitimate medical purpose in the usual course of professional 15 practice, and then it said, comma, or beyond the scope of 16 something medical practice or something like that.

17 Never seen that language before. I don't believe 18 you're going to see it in any jury instruction from when this 19 Court instructs you. I have not seen that language before. I 20 believe all you're going to see is legitimate medical 21 practice -- I mean, legitimate medical purpose in the usual 22 course of professional practice. That's what you're going to 23 see. That's going to be the standard.

24 But what you're going to also be advised by the Court 25 is, the law is, you have heard the phrase standard of care used

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 during the trial by several witnesses. When you go to see a 2 medical practitioner as a patient, the practitioner must treat 3 you in a manner that meets the applicable standard of care that 4 practitioners of similar training would have given to you under 5 the same circumstances. If the practitioner fails to provide 6 you with that care, the practitioner may be found negligent in 7 a civil lawsuit.

8 This case is not about whether the defendants acted 9 negligently or whether they committed malpractice. Rather, in 10 order to find a defendant guilty, you must find that the 11 government has proved to you beyond a reasonable doubt that the 12 defendants' actions were not for a legitimate medical purpose 13 in the usual course of professional practice.

14 So we told you when Dr. Browder, when he got up to 15 testify, that this is not a standard of care case. And yet 16 Michael Carter got up and said this is a standard -- my 17 standard of care, as whether or not it meets the rubric of my 18 standard of care. Dr. Blake testified over and over about his 19 concept or idea of what the standard of care was.

20 But yet standard of care, and we refer to that also 21 as quality of care, because some is higher than the others, 22 that's not what this case is about. It's not about the 23 standard of care and whether or not somebody might have dipped 24 below on a particular chart or on a particular day, below the 25 standard of care. That's not what this -- this is a criminal

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 proceeding. This is not a civil case where -- of malpractice
2 or otherwise. And you're being told that by this Court.

3 This is something entirely different. This is when 4 you quit becoming a healer and you at some point become a 5 dealer. That's what this case is about. It is not about a 6 standard of care and that's exactly what the government's 7 witnesses testified from was the standard of care of what it 8 was, and that they violated the standard of care.

9 This is different. And it should be different.
10 You're asking -- you're being asked to judge on a 11 criminal-standard basis, beyond a reasonable doubt, whether or 12 not Ms. Clemons has violated the law in that regard. And you 13 should use the appropriate standard. And that is, was it with 14 legitimate medical purpose, and was it in the use of -- in the 15 usual course of professional practice.

16 Also, in assessing that, there's another instruction
17 that follows that regarding the state of mind. I believe 18 government may have referred to it briefly, but it says, 19 "Ordinarily, there is no way that another person's state of 20 mind can be proved directly, because no one can read another 21 person's mind and tell what that person is thinking. But a 22 defendant's state of mind can be proven indirectly from the 23 surrounding circumstances. This includes things like what the 24 defendant said, what the defendant did, how the defendant 25 acted, and any other factors, circumstances in evidence that

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 show what was in the defendant's mind."

2 So what did Ms. Clemons -- when you saw her charts, 3 you saw her requesting multiple times for blood counts, you saw 4 her kicking patients out of this clinic, you saw her reducing 5 MED levels for various reasons because they didn't get the MRI, 6 because they wanted a new MRI, because they failed drug screens 7 obviously, she kicked them out without hesitation. That's the 8 circumstances that we're dealing with.

9 And the government would have you believe that's 10 nothing but window dressing, nothing but window dressing. It's 11 significantly more than window dressing.

12 I do also want to talk to you about the good faith
13 that the government has told you you should ignore. I'll read 14 that one again. "If a nurse practitioner prescribes a drug in 15 good faith in the course of medically treating a patient, then 16 the nurse practitioner has prescribed the drug for legitimate 17 medical purpose in the usual course of accepted medical 18 practice that she has prescribed that drug lawfully.

19 "Good faith in this context means good intentions and 20 an honest exercise of professional judgment as to a patient's 21 medical needs. It means that the defendant acted in accordance 22 with what she reasonably believed to be proper medical 23 practice.

24 "In considering whether a particular defendant acted
25 with legitimate medical purpose in the course of usual

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 professional practice, you should consider all the defendant's
2 actions and circumstances surrounding it."

3 It's exactly what we're talking about with 4 Ms. Clemons. You should do exactly that. You should see the 5 things that she was doing with these patients each and every 6 time that she met with them.

7 No defendant has to prove to you that she acted in 8 good faith. Rather, the burden of proof is on the government 9 to prove to you beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant
10 acted without a legitimate medical purpose outside the course 11 of professional practice. We don't have to prove that she did.
12 The burden is on the government. We don't have to prove 13 anything, but yet here we are.

14 And I'm telling you that good faith applies in this 15 case. It clearly applies. It is not something that you should 16 ignore. The judge is going to instruct you to this, and it's 17 not something you should ignore.

18 I want to get into a few of the charts from the 19 standpoint of -- I'm going to kind of combine two things and do 20 it this way. We're going to combine talking about some of 21 these death-related charts, and in that context, try to show 22 you and go through a little bit of what we've done with the -- 23 with going through clock that Dr. Browder and Mr. McCoy had 24 gone through.

25 And I have missed out on talking about Mr. McCoy's

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 testimony. And one of the reasons why I wanted to save a 2 little bit of that, because Mr. McCoy was up here over the 3 course of a couple of days, and he testified about a lot of 4 things. He testified that his analysis of these cases was 5 similar to Dr. Browder's, in that how he viewed and how he set 6 out to assess these cases.

7 But he was asked a few questions, and he was -- and 8 the government has brought up today this issue of subjective 9 versus objective. And they tried to say, well, he's changed
10 his mind about this or he changed his mind about that. I 11 submit to you, that if you listen to what he was saying, what 12 he was testifying to, the difference between subjective and 13 objective is, he was very clear to the fact that it was 14 objective from the standpoint he certainly had rendered an 15 opinion before ever met two of the defendants.

16 I know he told you he -- it was a chance meeting, it 17 wasn't a planned meeting, that he ran into them and he asked 18 them a couple of questions. But he already rendered his 19 opinion well in advance before he ran into those -- ran into 20 the ladies that day.

21 But he said that subjective is because everything is 22 subjective when you kind of look at a chart. And it kind of 23 makes sense when you think about it, that is that if you're a 24 provider or if you're a nurse or whatever and you're looking at 25 one of these charts, you're basing it on, obviously, the

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 information that you're getting, but you're also basing it on a 2 radiologist's opinion who has given you something and you may 3 be getting a record from someone else, so it's subjective from 4 the standpoint -- or there's other opinions have been injected 5 into that process.

6 And then he's given -- and then he said, "Well, I'm 7 giving you my opinion. So if it's my opinion, it's subjective.
8 It might be base on objectivity, but it's my subjective 9 opinion."

10 That's where it went south. That's all that ever 11 was. It meant nothing. It was all the same standard. It was 12 all an objective review. It was all an objective review.

13 So -- but then they played, and they tried to end 14 with him by playing a little game on whether or not he had 15 called these -- called these clinics pill mills. And you 16 wondered why they had to do that, because what happened is, is 17 they had gone back, and way back when in this case, and tried 18 to hire him to be the one to give analysis to you. That's what 19 the government was doing. And in that analysis or in that -- 20 or in that request for analysis, he sent them an e-mail back 21 declining to do that. And merely referenced what the 22 government had already referenced to him about the Hofstetter 23 pill mill case.

24 They didn't ask you that question, though. That's 25 not the question they asked. They presented that in a fashion

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 when they asked him, is, did you call -- you recall referring 2 to these places as pill mills? Totally different question.
3 Totally different question.

4 Why did they do it? Ask yourself, why did they do 5 that? They wanted you to think that he at some point in his 6 time had called this places pill mills. That's what they 7 wanted you to think. No idea how they were going to pull that 8 off, and they didn't, but that's what they wanted you to think.
9 There's no other reason to bring that up. Why even bring that 10 up? Why even bring up the fact that they had tried to hire 11 him on their side? One of those things that makes no sense.

12 Another thing that makes no sense, the repetitiveness 13 of referring to talking about the Waffle House on one side and 14 the adult bookstore on the other side, which they would refer 15 to it -- call it the porn shop, or the porn store -- the porn 16 store. No significance to that whatsoever. No significance to 17 that whatsoever. That happened to be the store that was next 18 door.

19 But yet you get flooded with that. You get flooded 20 with that. Remember what we talked about at first? We talked 21 about, you know, how the -- that the superfluous use of pill
22 mills. Pill mill, pill mill, pill mill, pill mill. Porn 23 store, porn store, porn store.

24 It's this effort of the government to get you to try 25 to see something that it's not. Almost subliminal to get you

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 to believe that this is negativity revolving around this area,
2 when it has nothing to do with anything.

3 It has absolutely nothing to do with anything, that 4 there was an adult bookstore next to this location. Nothing.
5 Has nothing to do with legitimate medical purpose. It has 6 nothing do with usual course of professional practice.
7 Nothing.

8 The charts -- the death-related charts that they 9 talked about -- the first one was Carolyn Hayes. I'll be 10 relatively brief with Ms. Hayes, although I certainly have some 11 opinions on that. Because Ms. Hayes passed away almost two 12 years before these ladies became involved in this clinic, year 13 and a half, two years, whatever it was. However, I do want to 14 bring up a few of the things about the -- that particular case 15 that you may obviously remember.

16 And if you recall, Ms. Hayes was the lady that 17 went -- she had court on that particular morning, and she went 18 to court. She had lived with Ms. Shockley. But she went to 19 court, and she had some episode at court where she fell down or 20 almost fell down, almost passed out, or something. That's kind 21 of unclear from the paperwork. But then they took her to the 22 hospital.

23 And then Dr. Robbins came in and testified about how 24 he had given her Narcan, because she appeared to be out of it 25 when -- by the time that he had seen her. And so they gave her

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 the Narcan.

2 And you remember what he did, though? He gave her
3 the Narcan, and then he instructed her -- and he instructed her 4 to use your medication, you know, go home and use your 5 medication as prescribed, and he underlined it twice. And I
6 asked him why he underlined it twice. Well, wanted her to know
7 to use it as prescribed. But he told her to go ahead and use 8 that medication and go home.

9 Well, what we know, if you believe Ms. Shockley is, 10 of course, Ms. Shockley said that she made it home about noon.
11 Well, we all know that that wasn't right, because she was at 12 the hospital till four o'clock in the afternoon. But 13 Ms. Shockley said she came home about noon.

14 Ms. Shockley said that she was given a ride home by a 15 man that she knew him to -- her to have drug activities with.
16 Yet the hospital record, if you saw, that it was a 17 sister-in-law, family member, a female family member is the one 18 that actually took her home. So can't say who is telling the 19 truth. None of us will ever be able to do that.

20 But here's what you can do. You can, if she realized
21 that she got home, allegedly, she -- according to Ms. Shockley, 22 that they snorted pills when she got home. And you know that 23 she was with -- you know that that's not the way they were 24 prescribed. We know that. But we also know that by the time
25 she gets home, she's been with a man that she had done drugs

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 with, according to Ms. Shockley. We don't know where those 2 pills came from. We don't know where any of that medication
3 came from, that she was there.

4 And under the instruction, it has to be -- the 5 causation of death has to be the actual prescription, the 6 actual prescription. There's no way in the world, kind of like 7 the Reus case we're going to talk in a minute, there's no way 8 in the world to know where those drugs came from.

9 Was that prescription from this clinic? Was it 10 prescription from the other folks that are in that house, all 11 of which were admitted drug users who said that they regularly 12 traded back and forth? Was it the man that had given her this 13 ride home, belonged to him? Was it this -- the family member 14 who we don't really know was there at the hospital with her?
15 No way to know that. No way to know that at all.

16 But the second case I want to talk about -- and the 17 government is right, they haven't -- they haven't used that as 18 a substantive count or anything here -- is the Joseph Russell 19 case. And I bring that up because very clear, very clear what 20 happened in Mr. Russell's case, other than by taking medication 21 that didn't belong to him, and taking -- that he wasn't even 22 prescribed to with the benzos, but also there was a note -- 23 there was a note on that -- on his nightstand.

24 If you remember the pictures, there was a picture of 25 the belt. Showed you the picture of the body of Mr. Russell,

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 and there was a belt there that would have been used to inject.
2 And we know in fact that he did -- that he was an IV drug user, 3 because Mr. -- Dr. Lochmuller testified, who did the autopsy of 4 Mr. Russell, that there were all sorts of sediments of stuff
5 that indicated, you know, IV use. So we know he was an IV 6 user.

7 But we know from that note on the nightstand that it
8 was -- the girlfriend had said, "Here's the Rs," the Roxies, 9 "please be careful." So we know where that medication came 10 from. So not that that one matters, it's not charged, but it 11 matters from the standpoint that this was the behavior, this 12 was the behavior of Mr. Russell, and it was not the medication 13 that was prescribed to him by the clinic.

14 I do want to talk about Anna Vann-Keathley. Now this 15 is where I'm going to kind of go into the clock a little bit.
16 I'm going to talk about Ms. Vann-Keathley relatively shortly.
17 Once again, Ms. Clemons never saw her. But I do want to use 18 this as the means by which, if I can, make this a little bit 19 smaller, to show what we -- what we were doing.

20 Now, Ms. Vann-Keathley was at the clinic a very short 21 period of time. Only made a few visits there. But what I want 22 to do, if you remember what Dr. Browder, and then had said, is 23 you start here at the physical -- I mean, at the history and 24 the physical evaluation, and we know from the -- and by the 25 way, this is Exhibit 922, I'm guessing, is what we've written

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 down here. I hope that I'm right about that.

2 Anyway, on Page 6, so -- and like I said, we're not 3 going to go through this whole thing. But this is an 4 indication of what you can do. And this is what we've done -- 5 or what I've done in this case. There was a request for 6 medical records in there. That's part of the history and 7 physical evaluation.

8 On Page 38 through 40, there's the initial patient 9 interview showing prior treatment modalities and the pain 10 history.

11 Page 41 is the MRI, so we know that we're -- a 12 history and a physical evaluation. We know that these are the 13 things on there that are being performed. They're being 14 performed. There is the physical examination, you have to look 15 at actually the Pages 38 through 40 to see, but you'll see that 16 there was a physical examination being done, as would have been 17 required. And so -- and once again, requests for medical 18 record and otherwise.

19 Then we get down to the risk assessment and treatment 20 plan. There was two separate DASTs done. But there's more 21 than DAST. Risk assessment is more than that. Okay. It's not 22 just a DAST. There's -- here, there was the pharmacy and 23 prescription drug profile done. That's part of risk 24 assessment. That's absolutely part of that. And that was done 25 on Page 42.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 Then you have on Page 39, there's the initial 2 treatment plan, including the request for a new MRI in the 3 treatment plan. And on Page 75 through 77, that's the new 4 patient drug screen, which means when that patient came in,
5 when Ms. Vann-Keathley came in, she was administered a urine
6 screen that would have then -- of course, almost all the time
7 they sent those off for confirmations. Didn't always get them 8 back, and we'll talk about them here in a minute.

9 Then we refer to over here on the informed consent
10 and treatment agreement, we have two different ones here. So 11 clearly, clearly that was a part that was engaged here in 12 this -- the activities here between the provider and the 13 patient.

14 The periodic review of the plan and ongoing risk and 15 monitoring. And we talk about that here in 35, 36. That's her 16 first follow-up. She got the updated MRI for the treatment 17 plan from Methodist medical center. First -- well, that's when 18 she got the MRI was -- 4/23 is the first follow-up visit. And 19 she got her drug test, a PMP was checked. Treatment plan was 20 gone over.

21 Also Dr. Larson sees the patient for following drug 22 tests reviewed, PMP marked as no data. He notes, however, 23 osteophyte impinges on L4 nerve root as rational for opioid 24 use, continues the plan. Once again, that's the basis, that's 25 the basis for which the pain medication was prescribed, was the

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 client's description of pain, along with a very clear 2 radiologic support as well.

3 Patient pregnancy test was done on that occasion.
4 Patient advised that the clinic would no longer prescribe 5 benzos or Valiums to her. So they cut -- that's when they just 6 eliminated those from her practice. If you remember during 7 about this time, we saw multiple files where they were being -- 8 where benzos were being removed. I think we've heard from 9 several experts why they would do that. They don't always act 10 as a good sandwich, if we remember that. Sometimes it's a bad 11 sandwich.

12 So they removed her from the benzos. Once again, 13 there's a safety issue. Once again, it's medical decisions 14 that's being made by these providers to do that. This is part 15 of the patient provider relationship here. The activities that 16 we see that is part of medical decision-making to make these 17 decisions. It's not just willy-nilly window dressing. These 18 are decisions that are being made.

19 The use of referrals. Here we had the referral for 20 the MRI. Also in Page 45 through 47, there's a request for 21 TennCare, for prior authorization. And then looking to place 22 patient on long-acting medication, and TennCare approved that.

23 The medical chart showing that provider relationship
24 that I was just talking about, that's the -- that's basically 25 the entirety of what's in there. That's what I'm talking

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 about, this provider/patient relationship and all these things
2 that go together to combine.

3 Then we get up to the top. So was there one or more 4 generally recognized indications for the use of a controlled
5 substance? And clearly there was. We knew there was touching 6 on the nerve root at the T4. We know there was MRI, even a new 7 MRI from Methodist Medical Center to update that, and that 8 there was the claim of pain, and that's why she was given a 9 prescription. And that is with legitimate medical purpose 10 acting in the usual course of professional practice. That's 11 what it is.

12 Now, the government would have you believe that that 13 standard of care is lower than what their experts believe, but 14 the activities are there. The practice is there. The 15 decision-making is there. The provider/patient relationship is 16 there. All of those things are contained in there. This is 17 not a malpractice case. This is not a standard of care case.
18 This is legitimate medical purpose. That's what this is in the 19 usual -- acting in the usual course of professional practice.

20 Ms. Boling -- only two more of these. Ms. Boling 21 similarly -- that's hard to see, isn't it? All right. I'm 22 going to have to do fancy reading. I don't even think these 23 glasses are going to magnify it to help me out here.

24 I'm going to start here. I won't necessarily go 25 through each and every one of them. But we start here with the

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 history and physical evaluation.

2 Once again, the reason I'm doing this, the reason I'm 3 doing this is not to go back through the chart again. The 4 reason I'm doing this is to show you the manner in which 5 Dr. Browder and Mr. McCoy assessed these files, which is 6 different and contrasted from the situation or from the 7 analysis that Michael Carter and Dr. Blake did. Because it is 8 different. And the reason it's different, because once again, 9 it's not a standard of care case. It's not a malpractice case.
10 It's a criminal case.

11 So we got the history and physical evaluation, 12 request to prior pain provider to get records. For request, 13 they had the prior imaging, lots of prior imaging from 2006, 14 2008, 2010, 2012. Tear in shoulder, and that was verified by 15 the office. The office went and verified that and marked it 16 was verified. So it's not window dressing.

17 Initial patient interview showing the prior treatment 18 modalities and the pain history. Talked about all those 19 things. Once again, there was an examination that was 20 performed. Physical examination, as would have been required.

21 Then we get to the risk assessment and treatment
22 plan. There was a DAST, a pharmacy prescription drug profile
23 again that we got. Once again, it goes towards that risk 24 assessment. And then a treatment plan was showing extensive 25 counseling regarding her previous use of a drug. And that was

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 actually in the treatment plan.

2 And they gave her a new drug test and a report.
3 Obviously, then she has also signed the informed consent and 4 treatment agreement. And then they had a periodic review.

5 And one of the important things that -- in this 6 particular case, in this periodic review is they immediately -- 7 on the first follow-up visit, they immediately began weaning 8 her off of the benzos. She had been given previously at the 9 other clinic, she had been getting 60 of those a month. After 10 that first month, they knocked her down to 30. The very next 11 month, they moved it down to 15. And the very next month, they 12 cut her off at zero.

13 Medical decision-making for the benefit of the client 14 to do no harm to the client. You don't just ordinarily take 15 somebody off that quickly of benzos. But you do that because 16 it can be dangerous. Right? We know that from what the 17 doctors have testified to. So they took it and they cut it off 18 over the course of 90 days, and then they removed her from the 19 benzos. There's nothing window dressing about that, folks.
20 Not one thing about that is window dressing.

21 Subsequent visits, talked about how morphine had 22 upset her stomach. There was some changes being made. Oh, 23 yeah, there's an important one, January 13 of -- visit. She 24 saw Ms. Clemons and said that she had ran out of medication and 25 taken a morphine pill.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 And -- but as part of that provider relationship,
2 that patient/provider relationship, she was actually honest
3 about that. And she told her that she had taken that 4 medication. So it wasn't any surprise by her volunteering that 5 information that the following month's confirmation, when it 6 came back, showed there was morphine in there. Well, she told 7 her it was going to be there.

8 So she came back, but then -- so came back in the 9 following month in February. She sees Ms. Clemons. That's 10 when she -- that's confirmed. And here's what they're doing, 11 they're trying to help her find an orthopedic surgeon. Talking 12 about her PCP is.

13 Because for the couple of months there, she's trying 14 to find with her BlueCare, I believe is what she had -- yes, 15 she's trying to find it with BlueCare, which was the Medicaid.
16 She was trying to find somebody that would do her surgery, her 17 shoulder surgery. She's trying to find somebody to do that, 18 and was having some difficulties, somebody taking her 19 insurance.

20 So she was working, they were -- this coordination of 21 care that we talked about, how the clinic with the PCP and her 22 insurance trying to get together to find somebody to find the 23 right referral to somebody that would take it.

24 So that's what was going on, once again, during these 25 visits. And keep in mind, on these follow-up visits, it

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 doesn't have to be physical examinations, yet almost every time 2 there still was some type, almost every time. Not every single 3 time, but almost every time, there was still physical 4 examinations when they needed to do none.

5 And the use of referrals, we just talked about that.
6 There were lots of referrals. The medical chart, we know it 7 showed -- clearly showed provider/patient relationship, because 8 they actually had developed a relationship to the point where 9 obviously the patient felt comfortable enough to share that she 10 had taken a pill that she wasn't supposed to. She was 11 counseled on that. It was documented in the file, all those 12 things were done.

13 Because those things happen. Every doctor that got 14 up and testified would tell you that those things happen. You 15 know, you're going to have somebody that takes their friend's 16 pill, that takes their neighbor's pill, that takes their 17 spouse's pill on occasion. It's going to happen. And you have 18 to counsel them. It's the best thing as a provider is what you 19 do, you counsel them on that. And this was the first time that 20 they had ran into that, to that particular issue.

21 And so we had the one or more generally accepted 22 indications for the use of controlled substance, that is for 23 the shoulder problem, which was confirmed by November 21st, 24 2013, tear in the shoulder.

25 So once again, the practices that these providers

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 showed, the interaction between them was not a case of window
2 dressing. Might there have been things better that they could 3 have done? I'm sure they could. I'm sure -- almost 4 everybody -- I'm going to sit here when I leave here today
5 wishing I had done that. Everybody is going to do that. You 6 wished you had done better.

7 But you have to look at the -- you have to look at 8 what they did. And they certainly did in good faith to try to 9 help their patient, to try to make changes, to make medical 10 decisions for their patient.

11 Folks that are making medical decisions, that's not 12 drug dealers. These -- those are two totally separate things.
13 They're healers, not dealers. That's what they're doing. And 14 that's clear from these files that's what they're doing.

15 The last one I want to talk to you about is Mr. Reus.
16 And I want to do that for a couple of reasons. First of all,
17 when -- I didn't want you to just take my word for it when I
18 told you a minute ago that in the Reus file I was going to show 19 you about the 300 high doesn't necessarily mean that Dr. Larson 20 intended on lowering it.

21 Here is the -- this is the January -- this is a 22 January visit where Holli Carmichael -- where Holli Carmichael
23 had seen Mr. Reus. You can see that, and you can see here 24 where "high 300," and it was circled. Everybody see that? So 25 that's January of '14.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 I'm going to move you to the very following month,
2 February of '14. And it's Dr. Larson. And if you can -- 3 almost got it straight to the 300, did not lower. Did not 4 lower it. If he was so frustrated by these folks doing this, 5 why this? Why didn't he lower it?

6 The reason is, is because the clear indication of the 7 practice and communication between Dr. Larson and his providers
8 were, it's the arrow is what matters. That's the way he did 9 it. That's not -- that's the reason. The 300 was his comfort 10 level, just like Dr. Browder said that it was. Because you can 11 see from the files that that's where they are.

12 And with Mr. Reus, I'm -- we've heard a lot about 13 Mr. Reus' file, so I'm throwing that up there -- oh -- but I 14 want to get straight to a particular part of this, and I'm not 15 going to go through all of these, it's the same that we had 16 seen, but I do want to get to something.

17 Mr. Reus' last visit was September 8th, 18 September 8th. I want to go to a June 30 visit. We talked 19 about this. We talked about this at one time. And then I had 20 a witness up there that didn't know everything about it, and so 21 the Court said, well, we'll wait on a different witness.

22 And what we ended up doing is this, I want to go back 23 to the June 30 visit. Because on June 30, he goes into the 24 clinic, and they -- and he gets a -- obviously gets his 25 prescription, and they do a drug screen, drug screen on

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 June 30th. They send it off to the lab. So when he comes back
2 in July, we're expecting to see a confirmation. Right?
3 Because they requested a confirmation.

4 We know, however, we didn't always get these 5 confirmations back. But we also know from Shannon Hill, we 6 understand that she wasn't always playing on the up-and-up. So 7 we come back in July -- here we go. We come back in July 8 expecting to see the confirmation from June 30th. Right?

9 Let's make this bigger. And this is actually in the 10 file. We knew this already. I'm going to -- it may be 11 difficult for you to read, but I'm going to tell you this right 12 hear says "6/30/14." Okay. So this was the -- this was the 13 original of what was done there.

14 And then it was sent off, and then you see there 15 was -- when we come back in July, there's no confirmation, but 16 instead you see this, "Sample leaked in transit." That means 17 sample leaked in transit, which means there was no 18 confirmation. Right? If you're a provider, leaked in 19 transit -- in transit, there is none.

20 And we know that Shannon Hill -- Shannon Hill was the 21 one who -- well, that's her initials right here, by the way, 22 "SH" for Shannon Hill. She's the one that wrote that. She's 23 the one in charge of that, so she's the one that wrote it.

24 So all we know is, by looking at the file, is that 25 comes back for July, and we've -- we've leaked in transit, so

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 we don't know what it would have been. Except for -- except 2 for the fact that -- remember those boxes? Remember those 3 boxes of missing screens and confirmations and stuff that 4 weren't in the file?

5 Well, lo and behold, I found one. This is not till 6 after the fact. We found the June -- the June 30, what should 7 have been in this file, what this provider should have seen, 8 and here it is. It's a two-page. I'm going to -- just so we 9 can -- kind of hard for me to do that, guys. Let's do this.

10 We show right here a collection date of June 30.
11 Now, keep in mind, Shannon Hill said this thing was leaked in 12 transit. That's what she said. But here it is, never for 13 anybody to see, except was found in a storage room, I guess, 14 where Ms. Hill would keep these clandestine things.

15 And what's it positive for? Well, lots of stuff, 16 folks. We got Methadone right here. Let me see if I can make 17 that bigger for you. We've got Methadone, EDCP, we've got the 18 oxymorphone, obviously, the morphine, all kinds of stuff, all 19 kinds of stuff. And that is kept from this provider.

20 That is not on the provider for someone to take it 21 upon themselves to criminally inject themselves to hide a 22 document like this that could be so important, and that's why 23 it was done. That's why you didn't find it anywhere near this 24 file. That information could have been used, could have been 25 acted upon, but it was hidden, and it was hidden by Shannon

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 Hill and lied to by Shannon Hill so that the provider wouldn't 2 see it, so that Shannon Hill, I guess, could make her extra 50 3 bucks.

4 So then we come later on, and we -- to the September 5 visit, the last visit, and he actually sees, he actually sees 6 Donna Smith first. Here it is. So we get to his last visit.
7 All right. You actually see this little "DS" right here.
8 That's Donna Smith.

9 And Donna Smith originally had given him a 10 prescription for his regular 300. You see the 300 right here.
11 Had originally gave him a prescription, but you look in the 12 back of the -- and you realize it wasn't accepted or there was 13 a problem with it, so he comes back to the clinic, and that's 14 when we see -- and the government showed you the prescription 15 that was actually written was by Ms. Clemons.

16 But when Ms. Clemons came back, she knew from the 17 previous month she had already warned him. She had already 18 warned him about the new MRI. She had already warned him about 19 getting the other records. So he comes back, and she reduces 20 him down to 180. She doesn't give him the 300 like Donna Smith 21 had done when she met with him.

22 She actually came in and said, "No. He doesn't have 23 the new MRI. He doesn't have this stuff. 180."

24 And so he walked out of there with a reduced, almost 25 in half, prescription.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 I ask you to consider the things in the totality, as 2 the instruction tells you, to consider what that 3 patient/provider relationship was. It was clearly one where 4 she's trying to make the right decision for her patient to do
5 no harm, to do no harm. She has made a medical decision and a 6 good one. Sometimes we make good decisions, bad decisions.
7 Legally, we make good decisions, bad decisions. But made a 8 good one and was doing the right thing for her patient, even 9 though there were bad actors actually at this clinic. Lot of 10 them pled guilty.

11 But the bad actors aren't these providers over there.
12 The bad actors are the ones that were trying to manipulate.
13 And what ends up happening to Mr. Reus? He gets half his 14 medication. He and his daughter go out the following day and 15 go around, and he trades them for -- and trades his medication 16 for benzos, trades them for other medications, sells them, does 17 all these things. She doesn't even know all the stuff that 18 they're doing.

19 That night, actually the night of, she has -- you 20 know, she's having to step over him and laughing as she's 21 stepping over him. Could have injected herself into that and 22 done something, but I'm not going to -- I'm sure that was 23 hurtful enough. I'm certainly not going to judge her for her 24 actions that day or how she handled her relationship with her 25 father.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 But she sees him after she's taken him and driven him
2 around all through Newport to sell and trade these drugs. And 3 now we get to the issue. Well, now this is a count. Now, this 4 is a death enhancement count now.

5 So you look at the test. First of all, were these 6 medications -- were these medications the medications that 7 caused his death? Well, how in the world would you know that?
8 How in the world would you know where this medication came 9 from? Admittedly, according to the daughter, traded, traded 10 for benzos, traded for other medication, obviously morphine.
11 You know, there was multiple drugs he certainly wasn't 12 prescribed by this clinic.

13 So how can you say that his -- that those 14 medications, those prescriptions calls for the but-for test for 15 the death of Mr. Reus? You can't. Not only is it not logical 16 or rational, it's certainly not proof beyond a reasonable 17 doubt. There's every doubt in the world to question where in 18 the world those drugs came from.

19 Once again, I've showed you some of these charts. I 20 showed you the different way, because I think it's important.
21 I think it's important that you understand that what it is that 22 we are here for, and it's not to determine whether or not -- 23 and Dr. Browder and -- said it best. "I have some problems 24 with these charts. I would like to see this. I would like to 25 see that."

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 So when the government is talking about the struggle, 2 there was a struggle that he had with some of the charts. But 3 the -- this is not malpractice. This is not an issue with 4 malpractice. This is an issue where you look at the 5 activities. And when you look at the clock, and you go around 6 that clock, and you look at the things that the providers did, 7 and you look at the -- they followed all the rules and 8 guidelines as far as that were required. Says you have to have 9 physical examination. Did all those sorts of things. Risk 10 assessment, did all those sorts of things.

11 As a matter of fact, I wrote the four that the 12 government had put up, appropriate history, physical exam, 13 diagnosis, and a treatment plan and follow-up.

14 Those things exist. They may not exist to the level 15 of what Dr. Blake wanted them to be. But that's quality of 16 care. That's the quality of care, a standard, a best practice, 17 any of those things.

18 That's not why we're in this courtroom today. That's 19 not why. We're here on a criminal case, seriously. And these 20 providers are on the line on a criminal case, not a 21 malpractice. This is the manner in which you have to judge 22 this.

23 You listen to these instructions, which will tell you 24 this is not a standard-of-care case. And there's no way to get 25 around that Dr. Blake and Michael Carter clearly judged and

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 assessed these cases on the issue of standard of care, because 2 they say they did. That's not my opinion. They said they did.
3 I got to cross him on it. I just let him keep going. He said
4 standard of care. Keep going.

5 That's not it. That's not why we're here. That's 6 not the standard that we use in these courtrooms, in these 7 criminal courtrooms on this type of case. That's not it.

8 I do want to talk just a few things in closing, just 9 to kind of counter a few things that the government talked 10 about on theirs.

11 They called Lovell Road the worst of the worst.
12 That's where Shannon Hill and Stephanie Puckett worked. That's 13 the file I just showed you a minute ago, where Shannon Hill is 14 the -- is the -- had kept that particular -- kept that 15 particular confirmation screen out. That is the worst of the 16 worst. What she did in compromising these providers in this 17 clinic and everybody else in here, what that -- that is the 18 worst of the worst.

19 And what strikes me as more surprising is that they 20 will in here, get up here to testify against the very people 21 that they were lying to and keeping stuff from, to hope you to 22 get -- to hope you will get to prosecute them so that they 23 might be able to get a little bit less time. That, too, is the 24 worst of the worst.

25 Talk about all the Blumenthal e-mails. That was

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 years before these girls ever even went to work -- or these 2 ladies went to work there. I'm getting old now. Everybody is 3 girls. My daughter turned 21 last week, so I'm getting a 4 little scared.

5 We talked about Marc Valley. He was -- that was also 6 there before Ms. Clemons ever worked there. Talked about the 7 government referred to the tons of other modalities. We talked 8 about the modalities. I had nine of them sitting up there, and 9 six of them we offered, three of them we didn't. We told you 10 why we didn't. They clearly offered other modalities. They're 11 required to and they did. Might not have been injections, 12 might not have been surgeries.

13 Another surprising thing that I saw up there, talked 14 about Cam Patterson was under the addiction or dealer group 15 category. He may have said he bought one pill or sold one 16 pill. Maybe that's what made him a dealer or something.

17 But his case was clearly different. Cam Patterson 18 came to this clinic as an option, having been to another 19 clinic, as being given an option that you either need to take 20 medication or you need to have surgery.

21 And we know from the Intractable Pain Treatment Act
22 that you don't have to take a surgical option. Okay. Don't 23 have to do that. But he goes to take the opioids, and he does 24 that for a while, and they bump him up because he's in pain.
25 Well, heck, yeah, he's in pain. I had the same surgery.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 That's painful. We talked about that.

2 He ends up having to have the surgery in June. But 3 then what happens, he doesn't get full relief, so he comes back 4 to the clinic, and he starts up having to take medication. And 5 the reason why is because he ended up having to have a 6 follow-up surgery, and these things happen.

7 He was a person who clearly had -- clearly had an 8 injury. He clearly had pain. He properly described his pain.
9 He was properly treated, and yet they're going to look at this 10 file and say that it's without legitimate medical purpose and 11 not the usual course of professional practice. Makes no sense.
12 He is a legitimate pain, has legitimate pain that required
13 surgery not once, but twice.

14 How can that be window dressing? Wasn't window 15 dressing to him, I'm sure. But he said his pain was 16 legitimate. Not sure why he was up there in that.

17 And, finally, they talked about -- and we kind of 18 briefly discussed that, that they ceased being nurses at all, 19 that they ceased being providers at all.

20 I guess the last thing that I would tell you is, 21 along those lines is, and I've said this twice already, and 22 Mr. Reagan may even say it again, dealer and healer, dealer and 23 healer. Big difference between the dealer and a healer, a big 24 difference.

25 They've suggested to you that these are nothing --

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Whitt

1 they're not healers. They're window dressing to try to make 2 the money, make an above-average wage, which they weren't 3 making. When you look at all of the totality of their -- of 4 their work.

5 And you can count the pills. They gave you that to 6 count them. It sounds like a lot. Over the course of a lot of 7 patients, it does add up. Notice, we didn't see other people's 8 numbers. We didn't see Dr. Blake's to see how many -- how much 9 medication they had dispensed either, down here in his clinic 10 with 22,000 patients. Didn't offer that number in comparison.

11 It is a lot of medication. But for -- but for it to 12 have -- they had 6,600 patients, I think, at this clinic in 13 totality over the course of years, I believe. I may be wrong
14 about that figure, but I think I'm pretty close. But it didn't 15 take long to add up to big numbers when you do that. That's 16 clear.

17 But I'm going to let Mr. Reagan take over after 18 lunch. I probably went a little bit over my time than what I 19 intended. But I would just suggest to you to look at the 20 manner in which these cases were addressed by the experts as 21 well, and to what they were doing, what the practices were, 22 what was the interaction, what were the general practices that 23 these -- that Ms. Clemons was doing.

24 Because this road map that I've tried to show you to 25 get you to get you to, it leads to one place, and it leads to

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Reagan

1 not guilty. That's where the road map goes. I believe we're 2 good for --

3 THE COURT: All right. Thank you, Mr. Whitt.

4 We'll go ahead and take our lunch break, a little 5 later lunch break. Let's stick to an hour and 15 minutes and 6 come back at 2:30. Give you plenty of time for lunch and to 7 stretch.

8 (Jury out at 1:12 p.m.)

9 THE COURTROOM DEPUTY: This honorable court stands in 10 recess.

11 (Recess from 1:13 p.m. to 2:34 p.m.)

12 THE COURTROOM DEPUTY: All rise.

13 THE COURT: Ready to keep going?

14 (Jury in at 2:35 p.m.)

15 THE COURT: Thank you. Everyone please be seated.
16 You heard from Mr. Whitt right before lunch, and now Mr. Reagan 17 is going to continue with closing argument on behalf of the 18 defendant, Ms. Clemons.

19 Go ahead, Mr. Reagan.

20 MR. REAGAN: It's been a little while since y'all 21 have heard from me. I let Jeff do all the heavy lifting with 22 the doctors.

23 But you know one of the first things I told you was 24 that Cynthia Clemons is not guilty, and that has not changed 25 one bit. I want to talk to you about some things that the

Closing Argument - Mr. Reagan

1 government didn't talk to you about. One of the things that 2 they did not talk to you about, they talked about several of 3 the jury instructions, but I want to talk to you about the most 4 important instruction in this case, the one that is most vital 5 to us as citizens when the government comes and accuses us of 6 committing a criminal act.

7 We're not guilty simply because they say so, because 8 our constitution, that great document that governs us all, says 9 that unless and until the government can prove us guilty beyond
10 a reasonable doubt, we are not guilty. All you heard from this 11 case was the government's argument this morning, they obviously 12 think that Cynthia Clemons is guilty.

13 But that opinion of theirs doesn't mean anything.
14 What is important is what comes from the witness stand and what 15 comes from the judge's instructions and what you-all decide, 16 because it's your power.

17 It's what we have used in our society to protect 18 against government overreach, to protect against innocent 19 people being convicted for something they didn't do, for 20 something the government can't prove they did beyond a
21 reasonable doubt.

22 And that reasonable doubt instruction tells us that 23 the government must prove every element of the offense charged 24 beyond a reasonable doubt. A doubt -- a reasonable doubt is 25 one, as we talked about in voir dire, a reasonable doubt is one

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Reagan

1 based on reason and logic. It is a doubt based on reason and 2 common sense. Reasonable doubt may arise from the evidence.
3 It may arise from the lack of evidence or the nature of the 4 evidence.

5 Proof beyond a reasonable doubt means proof which is 6 so convincing that you would not hesitate to rely upon it in 7 making the most important decisions of your lives. And I can 8 assure you today, this is one of the most important decisions, 9 if not one of the most important decisions that you'll ever 10 make in your lifetime, at least it is to Cynthia Clemons.

11 And what proof is the government asking you to rely 12 on in convicting these providers? They're asking you to rely 13 on in large part the testimony of professional liars, people
14 who lied to make a living. People who were sponsored by Jason 15 Butler, who made a living off of lying, who made a living off 16 coaching other people and telling them thousand lie.
17 Professional liars who came into the clinic and told these lies 18 to get the medications they needed, that they said they needed 19 for pain, but that they really wanted to take and sell out on 20 the street.

21 That wasn't all lies that they told, as we heard from 22 some of them. Because some of them said, yes, I had legitimate 23 pain. Lisa Elliott, remember Lisa Elliott? She said, "Yeah, I 24 had legitimate pain." She had been injured in a car wreck, I 25 believe.

Closing Argument - Mr. Reagan

1 Cameron Patterson definitely had legitimate pain.
2 This is a man, I think it was Cameron Patterson, forgive me if 3 I'm wrong, but he had two back surgeries that didn't work. I 4 mean -- were those back surgeries not done within legitimate -- 5 for a legitimate medical purpose?

6 Those back surgeries were done for a legitimate 7 medical purpose to help him with his back pain. How could 8 providing medication to him to assist him with that back pain 9 be not within the legitimate medical purpose and usual scope of 10 professional practice?

11 Has the government proven that that was not so? I 12 submit to you they haven't. What he did prove was he had 13 legitimate pain.

14 And another thing is, we talked about the activities 15 of daily living, how these are clinic -- these clinics are 16 not -- they're not pill mills. They're not pain clinics.
17 They're pain management clinics. And the purpose of the 18 medication that these clinics prescribed is to help people who 19 have pain that would interfere with their daily living 20 activities to enable them to function, to go to work, to go to 21 school, to take care of their children or their grandchildren.

22 And Cameron Patterson is a great example of that.
23 Because we know he had legitimate pain. He had back pain. He 24 had back surgery. He didn't want any more back surgery. He 25 wanted to take pain medication. And taking the pain

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Reagan

1 medication, he went to school, he held down a full-time job.
2 That's the purpose of these pain medications, is to help people 3 like that, and that was the purpose they were prescribed for,
4 particularly with Cameron Patterson and all the other patients 5 that we've talked about.

6 I want to talk about one thing about legitimate 7 medical purpose. This is something that Jeff Whitt touched on.
8 This is from Carolyn Hayes' record. I can't tell you what -- 9 y'all don't mind if I step over here a minute, do you?

10 This is her discharge summary from when she was 11 discharged at the emergency room when she was taken after she 12 passed out at the courthouse. She's taken to the emergency 13 room, they give her Narcan. They know that she's prescribed 14 medication from the clinic, from Lovell Road clinic, I think, 15 maybe Lenoir City. But anyway, they knew she was prescribed 16 medications from these clinics. And did they say, "Oh, no, my 17 gosh, don't -- that's a pill mill, don't take that medication?"

18 No. They said, "Take meds as prescribed."

19 Do you think they felt there was a legitimate medical 20 purpose for those drugs, for those medications? They wouldn't 21 have told her to keep on taking them, if they weren't, would 22 they?

23 Cynthia Clemons is a mother of five. You've seen her 24 mother and father here during the trial. You see her family 25 there today. She worked hard. She had to work hard to get

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Reagan

1 through nursing school while supporting her family. She had to 2 work hard to get into nurse practitioner school to support her 3 family. When she got out of school, she worked as a -- in an 4 anesthesiology practice for a number of years. She worked at 5 Blount Memorial Hospital for several years. And she worked at 6 a couple of different pain clinics, two or three different pain
7 clinics.

8 She's making $65 an hour as a 1099 employee. And 9 those of you who are self-employed, as I am, you know that when 10 you're a 1099 employee, when you don't have -- when you don't 11 have your employer paying your taxes, you got to pay them 12 yourself out of what you make.

13 She had no health insurance. Had to pay her own 14 health insurance and that of her family, too, I would imagine.
15 Didn't get any annual leave or sick leave. She didn't work, 16 she didn't get paid. She wasn't making millions of dollars.

17 Why would someone do this, commit a criminal act 18 intentionally and knowingly and risk all that, risk being with 19 her family? No one would do that.

20 And, you know, not only did she work at the -- in the 21 pain management side of the clinic, but she also worked on the 22 primary care side. And you heard her on the tape, Matt Sterns, 23 and we'll get to that in a minute, but you heard her on that 24 tape how she loved primary care a lot more, because it was a 25 lot different and a lot more varied. But she preferred working

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Reagan

1 at the pain clinics, because the pain clinics, the primary care 2 clinic, because when she worked at the hospital, she had to 3 work weekends, and she wanted to have weekends with her family.
4 Where's the nefarious motive in all that?

5 The government wants to talk about how she ignored 6 all these things. How can you ignore something that people are 7 actively -- taking active measures to prevent you from finding 8 out about it?

9 Take one example, one huge example, and this is one 10 that Stephanie Puckett told you about from the stand. Eldin 11 Hardy comes to the clinic to see Cynthia. He sees Cynthia 12 there. He has his arms covered up in bandages. He says he's 13 been in an automobile accident. Cynthia writes in the chart, 14 "Get me these UT medical records from the hospital before I 15 write this prescription."

16 Stephanie Puckett got them. And don't forget Eldin 17 Hardy is a sponsored patient by the people that are paying 18 Stephanie Puckett. Stephanie Puckett got those records. She 19 looks at the records. They talk about IV drug use.

20 So I'm sure she took those right in to Cynthia 21 Clemons and said, "Hey, you need to look at these. These may 22 help you make your decision." No, I'm sure she didn't.

23 What she said she did is, she shredded them to keep 24 Cynthia Clemons from seeing those, to keep Cynthia Clemons from 25 knowing that these bandages are covering up IV drug use.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Reagan

1 Cynthia Clemons didn't ignore that. She tried to find out what 2 was going on. And she did, she wrote him a prescription.

3 But we know from the other medical proof that we've 4 had, you can't just cut somebody off from an opioid 5 prescription. Hippocratic Oath says, first, do no harm. If 6 you cut somebody off, you're doing harm. She didn't do that.
7 She had to take him at his word. If she had seen those records
8 from UT Hospital, that would have made a big difference.
9 Stephanie Puckett knew that. That's why she didn't show those 10 to Cynthia Clemons.

11 You know, and there are other things that Stephanie 12 Puckett talked about that show to you what kind of provider, 13 what kind of nurse practitioner Cynthia Clemons was. She 14 talked about -- talked about a lady named Jeanine who called 15 her. Remember? Jeanine called Stephanie Puckett. I guess
16 this was after Stephanie had gone to KPC.

17 But she said that she refused to see Clemons, Jeanine
18 did. She refused to see Cynthia Clemons, because Cynthia 19 Clemons was going to discharge her for having marijuana in her 20 system, and she was also going to make her do pill counts. And 21 Jeanine is the one that called Cynthia Clemons the bitch 22 doctor, because Cynthia didn't just give her what she wanted.

23 You know, the government talks about -- you know,
24 they talked about, oh, they were just discharging people 25 because they were becoming liabilities. They were becoming --

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Reagan

1 they were pill seekers. Well, if you imagine what they would 2 be saying if these people who came in with track marks, with 3 bad drug screens, what they would be saying if they hadn't 4 discharged them?

5 On the one hand, you're a bad provider because you 6 discharged these people when they're not following the rules, 7 when they're not doing what they're supposed to do. And on the 8 other hand, you're a bad doctor if you -- if you don't 9 discharge them. I mean, it doesn't make any sense.

10 The other phone call that we talked about with 11 Stephanie Puckett was a fellow named Don, and he was -- he 12 called Stephanie Puckett after she had gone to KPC and said, 13 "Hey, you know, this -- you know, Cynthia Clemons is making me 14 do pill counts every two weeks. Can she do that?"

15 And Stephanie Puckett tells him, "Well, you know, 16 that's not a requirement. They don't have to do that."

17 But they were doing it. They were doing it to 18 monitor these patients, to monitor them to make sure that -- 19 you know, to try to make sure that they were not simply getting 20 medicine for the sake of their addiction or whatever, that they 21 were getting medication, they were using it in the proper way, 22 and that they were not selling it on the streets.

23 We talked about another phone call with Stephanie 24 Puckett. This one was from Jason Butler. Jason Butler called 25 and told Stephanie, "Hey, I got one of my patients, I want to

Closing Argument - Mr. Reagan

1 get her in there Wednesday."

2 And what did Stephanie Puckett tell him? Stephanie 3 Puckett told him, "No, no, don't come in that day. That's 4 Cynthia and Holly Harrell. Don't come in that day. She's a 5 bitch." And so she set them up the next day with Alicia Payne.
6 Didn't want him to see Clemons.

7 Other things Stephanie Puckett said that providers 8 would -- they did pill counts, and patients would be called in 9 for random pill counts. I would imagine with Stephanie Puckett 10 running the front, that patients who were told to be called in 11 for pill counts may not have got called in every time. Depends 12 on who they were, who sponsored them, who was paying Stephanie.

13 But another thing that Stephanie Puckett said, and 14 you remember this testimony about this telephone call on the 15 wiretap between Stephanie Puckett and Shannon Hill, and they've 16 gotten wind that there's something going on, that they think 17 that one of the patients may have been wired up to come in and 18 talk to them or something. And they were talking amongst 19 themselves. They're not talking to the police or anybody else.
20 They're talking amongst themselves.

21 And they say, "Well, we're trying to figure out 22 what's going on, but, you know, the providers didn't do 23 anything wrong. They must be after us." Because, you know, 24 Puckett said the providers weren't in on her scheme. They 25 didn't know what she was doing. They took active measures to

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Reagan

1 prevent anybody from finding out about that.

2 So how can you ignore something that people are 3 actively hiding from you? And when we talk about deliberate 4 ignorance is -- you know, deliberate means on purpose. When 5 you do something deliberately, you mean to do it. And so 6 deliberate ignorance doesn't mean they should have known.
7 That's not what it means. What it means is, they knew and they 8 ignored it. There's been absolutely no proof of that.

9 One of the -- you know, the government wants to talk 10 about this Matt Sterns video. Let's talk about Matt Sterns for 11 a little bit. We talked about Matt Sterns' file where they had 12 the records from the previous clinic that he had brought in.
13 They had an MRI that he said was a real MRI.

14 They brought in the records from the previous clinic 15 that showed he had -- he told him that he had -- at that 16 clinic, that he had real pain. I don't recall now whether it 17 was back pain, neck pain, whatever. I think it was neck pain.

18 But anyway, he told them, and it was in his file that 19 was brought to those providers, he told them that he had such a 20 pain problem, he could not pick out a gallon jug of milk 21 without excruciating pain. That's what he told them. That's 22 what he told them.

23 I'm sure y'all remember Matt Sterns is the undercover 24 officer. That's the one that had the wire. He goes into the 25 clinic, does this undercover visit. He comes in, does his

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Reagan

1 undercover visit, he does everything possible, everything 2 possible to make himself look like a legitimate pain patient.

3 He has the MRI. He brings in the records from the 4 previous clinic that talks about excruciating pain. When he 5 comes in to take his urine test, he spikes the urine, spikes 6 the urine so that it would look like on his UDS that he was 7 taking the medication he was prescribed.

8 If you want to come in and find out if this place
9 isn't on the level, why do you do all that? Because he knew, 10 like these other patients knew. These other scamming patients 11 knew that if he didn't do that, he would not have gotten 12 written a prescription. And if he had not gotten written a 13 prescription, that would have kind of messed up his 14 investigation.

15 And the other thing that the government wants to talk 16 about on Matt Sterns and his visit is the time he came in and 17 he said, "Oh, yeah, I'm -- I'm kind of a couple weeks late for 18 my appointment because I was out of town on vacation. And 19 while I was gone, I had to -- I ran out of medicine and I had 20 to take a pill from a friend."

21 And, you know, Cynthia Clemons, she -- at first, it 22 looks like on the video she thought he was talking about 23 marijuana. And she said, "Well, marijuana is not legal down 24 there."

25 He said, "No, I'm talking about a pill."

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Reagan

1 She says, "Oh, okay. I'll just write down you were 2 on vacation for two weeks," which is not the perfect thing to 3 do.

4 THE COURT: Mr. Reagan, I don't want to interrupt.
5 Just try to stay close to the microphone.

6 MR. REAGAN: I'm sorry, Your Honor. I need a leash.

7 THE COURT: Okay.

8 MR. REAGAN: I've got the microphone right here.

9 THE COURT: Okay. Stay near the podium then.

10 MR. REAGAN: Yes, sir. When the government showed us 11 that video, okay, they showed it to that point, and they 12 stopped where they wanted to stop.

13 We objected. We said, "No, no, no. Let's play the 14 rest of it. The jury needs to see all this."

15 And what you saw, when the rest of it is played, is 16 she's still asking him to get his blood lab reports to make 17 sure that this medicine is not messing with his internal 18 organs, to make sure she's not doing any harm to him by 19 prescribing this.

20 And he says -- and just to step aside here, you 21 remember all the patients saying, "Well, all we had to do was 22 ask for more medicine and they give it to us"?

23 What he says is, "Can we up my medication? Can you 24 give me more medication?"

25 And she says, "No. No. Not until we get your drug

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Reagan

1 screen back and see what's in your system."

2 She didn't ask him what he had taken. He may have 3 told her something that was wrong. First of all, he may not 4 have known what he had taken.

5 But she said "No, you're -- we're going to leave 6 everything like it is right now until we find out what was -- 7 what's in your system, and you bring us these blood reports so 8 we can make sure you're okay."

9 And, again, you know, the government didn't want to 10 play that whole thing. They wanted to cut it right off in the 11 middle, but you needed to see that. She did not ignore that 12 problem. She did what she needed to do to check it out.

13 And, you know, the government says they were joking 14 about addiction. He was talking about being addicted to 15 Mountain Dew. They weren't joking about addiction to opioids 16 or anything like that. He was talking about Mountain Dew.
17 They were joking about Mountain Dew.

18 Lisa Elliott, you know, one of the other things -- 19 excuse me. One of the other things that Lisa Elliott told us 20 was that the providers were not involved in what was going on 21 with Stephanie Puckett and Shannon Hill and Patty Newman. And 22 she told that not only in here to you-all, but she told that to 23 the FBI when she was arrested.

24 She told the providers that she was a legitimate pain 25 patient. She told the providers she had neck pain. She had an

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Reagan

1 MRI. She told them it was a real MRI. You know, this pattern 2 is repeated over and over again with just about every one of 3 these patients they put up here.

4 Lee Jenkins, remember Leo. Leo told us that, yeah, I 5 had a slipped disc, and it caused me a lot of pain, and he was 6 still in a lot of pain. And that's what he told the providers.
7 He did say that he overexaggerated, overexaggerated the pain to 8 get the medicine, because if he told them he wasn't in that 9 much pain, he wouldn't have gotten the medicine, and he knew 10 it.

11 Scott Willis, do you remember Scott Willis? He's the 12 chicken-fighting man, rooster guy. He said that, you know, 13 yeah, I had -- I told them, hey -- I think he actually said he 14 went in to Stephanie Puckett and said, "Hey, I've got a couple 15 of track marks on here. What can I do about that?" And they 16 came up with the idea, oh, yeah, just tell them it's rooster 17 marks.

18 When I asked Scott Willis about that on cross, I 19 said, "Well, you know, what -- what were these like?"

20 And he said, "Well, it was just one or two marks," 21 and it was right there where a rooster would have hit him.

22 He comes into the clinic, and he's alert, he's 23 oriented. He doesn't look like he's under the influence of 24 anything. And he does fight roosters. You know, everybody 25 over there knew it.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Reagan

1 Andrea Osborne, Andrea Osborne comes into the clinic.
2 She tells us that Stephanie Puckett coached her on what to say
3 to the providers to get her medication. She also said that 4 Cynthia Clemons was the only provider to ever ask her about 5 track marks.

6 And she also told Sylvia [sic] Puckett, and this is 7 what Andrea Osborne testified to from the stand, told Stephanie 8 Puckett she didn't want to see Clemons again because she was 9 concerned she wouldn't get her meds if she saw Clemons.

10 If Cynthia Clemons is ignoring this stuff, why is 11 Andrea Osborne worried that if she sees Clemons, she's not 12 going to get her medication? Why is Jeanine calling Sylvia 13 Puckett and complaining about being discharged for marijuana
14 and having to do pill counts? Why is Don calling and saying 15 Cynthia Clemons is going to make me do pill counts every two 16 weeks?

17 And the government talks about these providers
18 ignoring routine monitoring. That's routine monitoring.
19 Monthly visits are routine monitoring. They want to talk about 20 these being high-risk patients, yet they complain about them 21 coming in every month, the government does. That's why they 22 come in every month, so you can monitor, so you can see what's 23 happening, so you can see what's going on.

24 You know, one of the -- one of the red flags that 25 they talked about, what the government wanted to talk about at

Closing Argument - Mr. Reagan

1 the start of this case was how trashy these people look coming
2 into the clinic. Look like they shop at Walmart. They drive 3 bad cars. I think one of the security guards described them as 4 street urban cars. You know, what does he mean by that?

5 But then Shannon Hill gets on the stand, and we 6 talked to her, and Shannon Hill says, "Well, yeah, I used to 7 work in a dialysis clinic, and we had the same type of patients 8 there." And it's the government trying to use what's there to 9 try to make you-all think that that's bad. And it's not.

10 What else did Shannon Hill tell us about Jason
11 Butler? That Jason Butler would come in with patient -- 12 Butler's sponsored patients would come in, a couple of them
13 would come in at the same time, and they would have the same 14 MRI, except, you know, the names were changed. And Stephanie 15 Puckett didn't go tell the providers, "Hey, these are fake 16 MRIs."

17 What Stephanie Puckett and Shannon Hill did was, "No.
18 Just don't put both those patients in with the same provider.
19 Split them apart, so the providers won't know." Another one of 20 those active measures that they took.

21 Again, Shannon Hill confirmed what Stephanie Puckett 22 said, the providers didn't know what was going on, because they 23 kept it from them. They kept it from them. Active measures to 24 conceal what was going on, to keep these providers from knowing 25 what they needed to know to make the medical decisions that

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Reagan

1 they wanted to make.

2 They wanted to talk about -- about how -- one of the 3 red flags is a dirty clinic. It's a not clean. It's just -- 4 they're ratty looking. Crystal Parks -- or Crystal Morgan, I
5 think her name is now, came up and testified. She said, yes, 6 when she went in there, the office was cleaned, it was well 7 organized. Government's own witness comes in and says it's 8 clean.

9 And one of the other things a lot of the patients 10 talked about was how packed these waiting rooms always were.
11 They talked about that until we got the still photos from Matt
12 Sterns' visits, and showed them to you, and there's maybe two, 13 three, maybe four people in there. They're certainly not 14 packed. And that's photographic proof of that fact.

15 Another thing is, the government talks about -- well, 16 they didn't -- you know, they didn't make referrals to 17 neurosurgeons or to orthopedists. Okay? On the one hand, the 18 government wonders how somebody can pay $300 a visit here, and 19 they wonder why they don't get referred to -- people without 20 insurance, why they don't get referred to neurosurgeons who's 21 neurosurgery probably starts at $12,000.

22 And who's got $12,000 laying around to pay a 23 neurosurgeon? You know, you may get surgery there, and you may 24 end up like Cam Patterson and it doesn't work, first of all.
25 But they were making those referrals. And the person that told

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Reagan

1 us that was Brandon Ledford.

2 Brandon Ledford said, going to a neurosurgeon would 3 be impossible for me because of the expense. There were a lot
4 of other patients in his same boat. You know, Brandon Ledford
5 lets us know that referrals were made. It's just the patients
6 couldn't afford them. There may have been patients like Cam 7 Patterson who chose not to have another surgery and chose to 8 control his pain with pain medication.

9 Another thing they talk about, one of the red flags 10 is, no medical supplies, and there's no medical supplies in 11 these clinics. And yet when Jessica Watson gets up on the 12 stand, she talks about Cynthia Clemons swabs her arm with an 13 alcohol swab. I guess that alcohol swab came from the medical 14 supplies that weren't there.

15 Now, I want to talk about Heather Alred. From the 16 perspective of Cynthia Clemons, Cynthia is in the clinic one 17 day. Heather Alred comes in, and Heather Alred has track 18 marks, track marks that Cynthia Clemons discharges people for.
19 But she didn't discharge -- didn't discharge Heather Alred
20 because Heather Alred tells her, "Look, here's what happened.
21 I got assaulted. I got raped. This guy jabbed me with 22 needles."

23 And the government wants to talk about Cynthia 24 Clemons not caring for Heather Alred or what -- you know, what 25 this story she told. And I don't know whether Heather Alred

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Reagan

1 was raped or not. Nobody was ever charged for it.

2 We'll talk about Leslie Steelman. He was never 3 charged for it, never even been convicted for it, never even 4 been charged. The government wants to call him a rapist. I 5 guess they've already convicted him without a trial.

6 But going back to Heather Alred. She's going to the 7 clinic. She knows she's got these track marks. She knows 8 she's got to come up with something to keep from being 9 discharged. And she tells them this story about her being 10 raped by Leslie Steelman.

11 Cynthia Clemons could have discharged her right then 12 and there, written her a taper dose, said, "No. Track marks, 13 go."

14 She didn't do that. She said, "Well, let's -- you 15 know, let me look at this."

16 She brings in -- she gives the note to the medical 17 director, Dr. Larson, she calls him in, says, "Hey, this is 18 what this lady is saying." You saw the note that she gave to 19 him. "What should I do?"

20 And Dr. Larson says, "Let's get the police reports.
21 Let's get the report from the sexual assault nurse."

22 The government says, "Oh, why didn't she refer her to 23 a sexual assault nurse?" She had already been to a sexual 24 assault nurse. Why would you refer her to see another one?

25 And they get the police records, and, they're -- you

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Reagan

1 know, they're not even going out a month with her. They're 2 saying, "Let's bring you back in a, week and let's see what 3 these records say." And they have to do it another week.
4 They're doing it a week at a time. And they're giving her the 5 benefit of the doubt. Cynthia Clemons is caring about what 6 happens to her, because Cynthia is not sure what's going on 7 with her.

8 And then we get the records and we go over the 9 records, and the story in those police records isn't quite what 10 she told Cynthia. But she still doesn't get discharged. She 11 comes back another week later and has a dirty drug screen, 12 which, you know, could have been enough again to discharge her 13 right there on the spot.

14 But because of what's going on with her, they don't 15 do that. They ask her to come back another week, let's do 16 another drug screen and see if maybe that was a -- you know, a 17 mistake in the lab or whatever. Goes back the next week, got 18 drugs again that shouldn't be there, and even at a higher 19 level. Then and only then does she get discharged.

20 If these were uncaring, not compassionate people, she 21 would have been discharged the minute she came in there with 22 those track marks. We know that from the proof that's come in 23 about the discharges and the discharge summaries and all that.
24 People were discharged for track marks all the time.

25 And then the government talks about -- one thing I

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Reagan

1 want to talk about, Heather Alred, is this, she goes to the ER.
2 Right? She tells them what's happened to her. That hospital
3 knows that she was being prescribed oxycodone and oxymorphone
4 from the clinic. They knew that, and they discharged her.
5 They gave her additional oxycodone.

6 And they also told her to -- here's the oxycodone
7 they prescribed her, the additional oxycodone, and then, you
8 know, here that they've said, "Yeah, you're taking oxycodone 9 and oxymorphone. Continue these medications as you were prior 10 to today's visit."

11 They knew these pill -- this medicine was being 12 prescribed to her. They knew the clinic it was coming from, 13 because they had the pharmacy printout, and that's in the file.
14 You can look at it.

15 And did they say, "Oh, my God, no, that's a pill 16 mill. You can't take those pills"?

17 No. They said, "Keep taking those."

18 Do you think they thought those were for a legitimate 19 medical purpose? They didn't say, "Stop taking those." They 20 said, "Keep taking them. Here, we'll give you a little more 21 oxycodone to help you with this thing you're going through 22 right now."

23 THE COURTROOM DEPUTY: Five minutes.

24 MR. REAGAN: I'm sorry. I've got five minutes. Hope 25 it's five minutes, not five seconds.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Reagan

1 And I'll just close -- one thing I want to close is 2 with this, and this is from -- I apologize to you for reading
3 to you, but I don't have it memorized. This article is talking 4 about the -- this is a 2018 article when they're talking about 5 lowering the MED levels and all that, CDC guidelines.

6 "These requirements have caused some physicians to 7 stop treating pain with opioids completely. There may also be 8 an adverse effect on chronic pain patients who will have to 9 deal with debilitating pain without the one measure that has 10 proven effective for them, pain medication.

11 "One study of 3,108 pain patients indicates that 12 84 percent report more pain and a decreased quality of life as 13 result of the CDC guidelines and 42 percent have considered 14 suicide.

15 "We also have to take into account the unintended 16 consequences of increased mortality from illicit opioids, such 17 as heroin and illicit fentanyl analogs.

18 "While we have seen dramatic decreases in opioid 19 prescribing patterns, we have seen an increase in overdose 20 deaths as people turn to street drugs.

21 "As we navigate these difficult times, it is 22 important that we always keep our patients' best interest in 23 the forefront of our decisions. While it is imperative that we 24 change our mindset on when and how we prescribe opioids, we 25 must also remember that there are patients out there that do

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Reagan

1 suffer from chronic pain and deserve to be treated with the 2 same compassion as anyone else."

3 The author of that article Dr. Rett Blake, the 4 government's expert.

5 And what did Cindy Clemons say in her meeting with 6 her appointment with Sterns when they talk -- when she talks
7 about the -- you know, there are new guidelines coming out 8 where they have to reduce them down, she said, "This is going 9 to hurt a lot of people." Rett Blake says the same thing.

10 All these things I've been talking to you about, you 11 know, discrepancies in the proof, you know, the things that 12 these people -- patients are saying that Cynthia Clemons did, 13 that they didn't like because she wasn't giving them the 14 medicine they wanted, all those fall within the realm of 15 reasonable doubt.

16 If you think that Cynthia Clemons might have not -- 17 if you think the government has proven that Cynthia Clemons 18 might have prescribed these drugs without a legitimate medical 19 purpose, they're outside the scope of professional practice, 20 you think that might be true, that's reasonable doubt. If you 21 think it's even likely that it's true, that's reasonable doubt.
22 And reasonable doubt is a very high standard, ladies and 23 gentlemen, all the way from he was proven not guilty and 24 defendant's don't have a burden of proof.

25 We don't have to prove ourselves not guilty. It's

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Reagan

1 the government's burden, because as we talked about, that's 2 what the constitution provides. That's the law of the land.
3 That's what the instructions the judge will give you. It goes
4 all the way up to guilt is highly likely. Even that doesn't 5 satisfy reasonable doubt.

6 So, again, we don't guess people into the 7 penitentiary. We don't assume people into the penitentiary.
8 We don't send people to the penitentiary because they might be 9 guilty. It's the government's burden, ladies and gentlemen.

10 What you have seen from the proof is that Cynthia 11 Clemons was a caring and compassionate provider who did what 12 she thought she should do in these cases.

13 And, you know, the deliberate ignorance the 14 government was talking about, you know, the judge will tell you 15 she may have been careless sometimes. She may have been 16 negligent sometimes. But that is not, not deliberate 17 ignorance, and that does not make her guilty beyond a 18 reasonable doubt. The government has to prove it beyond a 19 reasonable doubt. They haven't done so.

20 Jeff Whitt and I have been here fighting for Cynthia 21 Clemons for three months now. But now my part -- our part is 22 now over. It's up to you-all now. You are the ones who must 23 decide. You are the ones who must say no, this case has not 24 been proved beyond a reasonable doubt.

25 If you feel that, if you don't feel it's been proven

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Cravens

1 beyond a reasonable doubt, the judge will tell you under your 2 oath, you must find -- return a verdict of not guilty.

3 Let Cynthia Clemons go home with her family, because 4 Cynthia Clemons is not guilty.

5 THE COURT: All right. Thank you, Mr. Reagan and 6 Mr. Whitt, for closing argument on behalf of Defendant Clemons.

7 Who's going next? Are you ready to go? All right.
8 We'll go ahead. Next is going to be closing arguments on 9 behalf of the Defendant Ms. Hofstetter. And Ms. Cravens will 10 go first on Ms. Hofstetter's behalf.

11 MS. CRAVENS: Ladies and gentlemen, a few years ago, 12 I read a book called "The Signal and the Noise." A friend gave 13 it to me because I was trying to make a big decision. And the 14 idea behind the book -- and it had lots of math, which you know 15 I skimmed over.

16 Yeah, the big picture behind the book was that when 17 you're trying to make a big decision, you have to separate what 18 is signal from what is noise. And signal is fact, the reliable 19 things, the things that make sense. And noise are the -- is 20 the stuff that distracts you, the flashing lights, the extras, 21 the things you get caught up in but don't really impact what is 22 the fact, the basis on which you should make your decision.

23 So I was thinking about that, and speaking with 24 Mr. Burks, we're going to split our time here today, about 25 talking to you. And thinking about this case that we've all

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Cravens

1 lived for so long now.

2 And in applying that concept to my thoughts this 3 week, ladies and gentlemen, the government wants you to convict 4 Sylvia Hofstetter on the noise. They want you to convict her 5 because of her personality. She's not always likable. Little 6 bit strong-willed. They want you to convict her because she 7 made a lot of money and she liked to gamble. They want you to 8 convict her maybe because opiates, we know in 2020, are bad.

9 That's all noise, all noise. The signal in this case
10 are going to be what Judge Varlan tells you, probably tomorrow 11 when he gives you those jury instructions. Those are the 12 signals you have to seek out. Does it -- has what the 13 government's shown you in each and every element answer those 14 instructions?

15 It's why Mr. Reagan is pointing out the most 16 important, reasonable doubt. It's not only the most important 17 instruction, it's the most important part of your job. You are 18 here to seek reasonable doubt. Because if you find it in the 19 government's proof, you don't have an option under the law but 20 to return a not-guilty verdict. It's as simple as that.

21 So I want to talk to you a little bit about what I 22 call noise that we've seen in this case. So you know after 23 three months of trial that it's been almost five years here, in 24 about six weeks, since the federal government descended on 25 these clinics and arrested Ms. Hofstetter and some others, five

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Cravens

1 years.

2 You know that there was at least one year, maybe two 3 before that, that the government was investigating these 4 clinics. You know that, because you've met Matt Sterns. You
5 know that because you met the gentleman from Florida, the agent
6 whose name escapes me. He was going to the zoo.

7 You know that investigation happened. You know there 8 were undercover agents going in because you saw people like 9 Matt Sterns with their key chain camera or cell phone camera or 10 whatever was -- contained the camera in the exam room with 11 Ms. Clemons. You saw the still photographs that Mr. Reagan 12 referenced of the packed waiting rooms for Mr. Sterns.

13 This idea, their red flags, the crowded waiting 14 rooms, noise. If they could have proved it, they would have.
15 You would have seen it on those videos. That's not what you 16 saw. They didn't bring you the key chain cam of the packed, 17 crowded waiting rooms. They brought you a parade of admitted 18 liars, of admitted scammers, professional cons.

19 Not the signal, they brought you the noise.

20 Another red flag. We talked about -- the government 21 has made a big deal out of parking lots, out-of-state tags and 22 parking lots. Such a big deal that I asked Dr. Blake, "Do you 23 spend a lot of time in your parking lot?" I was really shocked 24 he said yes. But they made a big deal out of that, a red flag 25 for an illegal pill operation.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Cravens

1 They've shown you one picture from all their 2 undercover surveillance of one tag from Jefferson County. In 3 seven years of investigation, one Jeff County tag, right up the 4 road, and a parade of admitted liars and cons.

5 Security, armed security, we've heard a lot about 6 security guards too. More noise. The government talks about 7 how there was security at this facility. It was necessary to 8 protect the patients. Ms. Hofstetter did that. The 9 government's witness told you they did that.

10 Dianna Berdal, the landlord, came right in here, sat 11 on that stand, and told you they asked for a security guard to 12 be hired because the parking lot was messy. Cigarettes were 13 burning in mulch. The ashtray was on fire. Somebody needed to 14 keep it clean, keep people from littering, whether it was 15 Bradford behind, the hair salon below, or these clinics that 16 were a result, causing the litter.

17 It wasn't the clinics that hired the armed security
18 guard. That's not indicative of some sort of need to control 19 their patient population or to protect themselves. It's 20 because the landlord wanted them to keep the parking lot clean.
21 They did what they were asked, compliant.

22 This morning, Ms. Pearson, she mentioned paper 23 signage. And we've talked a lot about the names of these 24 clinics, as if they're trying to hide what they do there, as if 25 they chose those names to deceive. That's how they talk about

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Cravens

1 it. That's noise.

2 And we know that again because the landlord took the 3 stand. You remember seeing the lease? The lease that 4 prohibited the use of the word "pain" and allowed all signs had 5 to be approved by the landlord?

6 Ms. Pearson referenced paper signage. But you've 7 seen the picture from Gallaher View. You've seen the picture 8 from Lovell Road with a sign right there on the door. It's not 9 illegal to have an inefficient sign. It's just noise.

10 And then perhaps one of my favorite examples, Lori 11 Crabtree. We met Lori Crabtree, and you -- you can go back and 12 look at it, Exhibit 654. You'll be able to look at anything 13 you want to back there.

14 They were talking to Lori Crabtree about how 15 Ms. Hofstetter dressed and her love for fine jewelry. And they 16 put up a picture of Sylvia Hofstetter, and it has that big, 17 thick, gold chain hanging down to almost her waist and a big 18 thick gold ring across her entire fist. They made a big deal 19 out of her jewelry.

20 "Does she wear jewelry like that?"

21 "Yeah."

22 Nobody believed that. That was a Halloween costume.
23 How do we know that? Because the date was on the photo.
24 They're trying to make something exist where it does not, and 25 trying to convince you that that's true, that it's signal when

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Cravens

1 it's just noise.

2 Another signal, and this -- I'm not going to repeat 3 everything. Mr. Whitt particularly, throughout the course of 4 this trial, has talked to you about legitimate medical purpose
5 and the usual course of professional practice. That's a 6 signal. The judge is going to define it for you. He is going 7 to tell you what that means.

8 And then you have to decide if they have proven 9 beyond a reasonable doubt, the government has proven beyond a 10 reasonable doubt that those prescriptions were not for a 11 legitimate medical purpose and in the usual course of 12 professional practice.

13 Ms. Hofstetter, she has no medical background, which 14 you know. She wasn't a site manager, though they insist on 15 calling her that. She was a corporate manager, a corporate 16 administrator, which you've heard.

17 She had regional and site managers beneath her, 18 people like Maria Vera, Stephanie Puckett, Lori Crabtree, those 19 were site managers. Those were people in the clinics every 20 day, and she relied on them. She relied on her medical 21 directors. She wasn't there every day. The witnesses told you 22 that.

23 Staff, like Crystal Parks Morgan, told you that. And 24 more importantly, perhaps, I'll say signal, a little less 25 noise, Crystal Parks Morgan told you that she never saw

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Cravens

1 anything illegal when she worked at these clinics. When she 2 was asked if she had, what would she have done? Her response
3 was, "I would have gone and told Sylvia, and I'd have quit."

4 So it defies logic, that if Sylvia was someone that 5 Crystal Parks Morgan believed wouldn't do anything about an 6 illegal act occurring in this clinic, why would she have said
7 she would have told her?

8 If Dr. Blumenthal, Dr. Valley, Dr. Larson knew they 9 were working with Sylvia to run an illegal pill clinic, a pain
10 mill, there's some more noise, why would they send e-mails 11 suggesting improvements? Why would they make them? Why would 12 Debra Kimber be brought in to do compliance? Now, truthfully, 13 Debra Kimber did say the compliance wasn't important to Sylvia.
14 Fair statement. She made that.

15 I don't know if compliance was important, but it 16 seems to me that if you were trying to make sure you had all of 17 your window dressing in order, you would have wanted -- 18 compliance would have been important, because those notebooks
19 make it look more legitimate. Less -- it's window dressing.

20 So we've made a big deal out of that. And Mr. Reagan 21 has covered a lot of those issues regarding that window
22 dressing. But I want to suggest that there's a simpler 23 solution to this question. Was it window dressing or 24 legitimacy?

25 Well, the simplest answer is often the truest one.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Cravens

1 It wasn't appearance. It wasn't window dressing. It was just 2 legitimate. It was just the business operating. Boxes of 3 files you saw through pictures of through Ms. Sherrod, through 4 the agents, all of these documents that you've seen during the 5 course of this trial, regular business records. Chart after 6 chart was kept in the same order.

7 Now, we know there was something illegal happening at 8 those clinics. Can't deny Stephanie Puckett and Shannon Hill 9 definitely were running an illegal operation, and they've 10 admitted it. You've heard the recordings of how hard they 11 worked to hide it for Sylvia and how mad they knew she would be 12 if she found out something illegal was happening in that 13 clinic.

14 And they told you she didn't know anything about it.
15 Patients told you she didn't know anything about it. So it's 16 the simplest common sense answer is, if Sylvia Hofstetter were 17 running the operation the government wants you to convict her 18 of running, patients wouldn't have had to do that.

19 Shannon and Stephanie wouldn't have had to do that.
20 In fact, they would have been employee of the month. Sylvia -- 21 there's another signal about how Sylvia would have reacted to 22 that. She did. When she found out something was wrong, you 23 heard Lori talking about there were papers in the floor. She 24 went in and there were papers in the floor. We started these 25 audits. And you've seen a lot of those audit sheets as we've

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Cravens

1 gone through some of these charts.

2 And Sylvia was mad. Sylvia wasn't mad because she 3 was losing patients. Sylvia was mad because she had just 4 figured out something wasn't right. She didn't know what, but 5 she was bound and determined, that's true, she's bound and 6 determined to find out. Consistent with her personality.

7 And so she brought in Lori Crabtree and some others 8 that Lori talked about to figure out what had been going on, 9 why these papers weren't where they were supposed to be. How 10 bad was it? How deep did it go? What had been happening?

11 And so they started this audit. The audit was 12 ongoing at the time of the raids. The audit that produced 13 sheets, little checklists that you've seen. They look kind of 14 like this.

15 See if I can maneuver this without causing some kind 16 of -- Jessica Watson. You know Jessica. You met her, been 17 through her file a lot. This is just an example of one of the 18 many kinds of audit sheets that you will have seen.

19 And that was in an effort to figure out what had been 20 happening. You can't fix a problem you don't know about.
21 Dr. Blumenthal was giving her information throughout the course
22 of the clinics, Dr. Larson, Dr. Valley, they're making changes, 23 updating protocols. Same thing with this. Just figured out 24 there's a problem. Is it a paperwork problem? Is it just file 25 clerk not doing her job?

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Cravens

1 That's when they start looking. And then they start 2 finding these sorts of things. She never really gets to the 3 bottom of it before the federal government slaps handcuffs on 4 her. But she sure tried. She's doing audits like this, trying 5 to uncover information. Trying to find the signal in all the 6 noise.

7 Jessica Watson, I'm not going to talk anymore -- 8 well, I'm not going to make that promise. I'm going to try not 9 to talk anymore about Ms. Puckett and Ms. Hill, because I think 10 Mr. Burks has some things to add.

11 But I do want to mention one sort of example of that 12 scam they sat in here and told you they were running with 13 patients from Mr. Butler and Mr. Jenkins. This was 14 particularly telling to me, because it really jumped out at me 15 just a few weeks ago of how good at it they were, how 16 convincing these patients and those scammers were in this 17 clinic.

18 And it had to do with Jessica Watson. You'll 19 remember, I'm sure, that file being reviewed with Dr. Blake, 20 sort of visit by visit, and going through all -- every one of 21 those drug screens, checking to see what was there, what the 22 providers should have seen. Spent a long time on it.

23 And there was one that the government spent a long 24 time on that caught my eye. And this is from Ms. Watson's 25 chart, which you know is an exhibit. This one caught my eye,

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Cravens

1 because it proved how good they were. The United States
2 government stood in this courtroom, pointed to this document, 3 had their expert testify that this was Jessica Watson's drug 4 screen.

5 That's not the name on that document. That's Rachel 6 Watson, May 30th. That's her May 30th visit. Their scam was 7 so good at fooling people, that it fooled them right here into 8 this trial, all these years later. Can't rely on that kind of 9 noise.

10 And we know that that was Stephanie and Shannon's 11 little scam, because there's also a second copy of that same 12 drug screen over in Rachel Watson's file where it belonged to 13 be seen by a different provider. And we know that as part of 14 their scam, because that drug screen which you can find 15 elsewhere, would have been positive for cocaine and they 16 wouldn't have gotten their pills. That would have upset the 17 apple cart. That wasn't going to happen. So that's -- you 18 know, maybe that's signal and noise.

19 Here's another signal about Sylvia Hofstetter and 20 what she knew. Brandon Ledford, who Mr. Reagan mentioned, he 21 stood there and we were talking to him about what happened
22 after things changed in late '14 after Hill and Puckett left.
23 He said there's a big change, big change. Well, I reckon so.

24 Sylvia is now trying to figure out what's wrong.
25 She's on-site a little more often. She's got the audit going,

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Cravens

1 trying to figure it out. Gerritt Orrick. I loved Gerritt.
2 Described all his cars by his rims. Do you remember that guy?
3 Interesting fellow.

4 But he told us, he gave us some signal. When that 5 black Lexus pulled up, everybody got right. Why? Why did 6 everybody get right? Boss lady, boss lady was coming. And 7 they had to get right, because they knew if they weren't and 8 she saw it, the jig was up. Because Sylvia Hofstetter was 9 running a pain management clinic.

10 If she were running an illegal pill mill, she 11 wouldn't have cared what Gerritt Orrick or anybody else was 12 doing. They wouldn't have been afraid to be seen by her.
13 Puckett and Hill wouldn't have been afraid to be caught by her.

14 That's the signal, ladies and gentlemen. That's the 15 signal. You've heard it from the witnesses. So think about 16 what they said. No one of these patients or these providers 17 can say otherwise.

18 They can complain about Sylvia's personality. Big 19 personality, we know. But that's the extent of it.

20 And so I want you to think, and this is the same 21 instruction Mr. Reagan referenced, because your job here is not 22 to do anything except put the government to its burden and to 23 take a look at reasonable doubt.

24 With each -- with regard to each of these elements, 25 will you rest easy trusting that kind of information? Five

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Cravens

1 years of investigation, five years since these clinics were 2 closed down, and all these documents were in the exclusive
3 possession of the United States, five years in which Agent 4 Nocera told you they didn't bother to look at all the 5 documents. They didn't read them all.

6 They gave you few e-mails, not a lot. Some charts, 7 not the boxes of PMPs, audit sheets, and UDS that were 8 otherwise filed. Is that the kind of information that you can 9 rest easy, rest your decision easily that there's no reasonable 10 doubt in this case?

11 All the opinion witnesses, Dr. Blake, Dr. McCoy, 12 Dr. Browder, can't remember specifically Mr. Carter -- or 13 Dr. Carter. Said, you know, Dr. Blake, he said -- he sat there 14 and he said Dr. Browder, he's a real doctor, real doctor. He 15 said reasonable providers can disagree. Mr. McCoy said that.
16 Dr. Browder said that, something to the effect of reasonable 17 providers can disagree, period, end of story. If reasonable 18 providers can disagree, that's a truckload of reasonable doubt.

19 So I'm going to give Mr. Burks his time. But before 20 I do, I want to tell you just a little bit -- take a little 21 opportunity to tell you about what I know about Sylvia.
22 Because you've heard, you know, she's a bitch, didn't like her.
23 And maybe that's true. Maybe it's not.

24 She's a hard personality, for sure. She reminds me a 25 lot of me. Some people think I come across one way, and some

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Cravens

1 people think I come across another one. Sometimes I think it's 2 a compliment, and sometimes I'm a little offended.

3 Sylvia is a lot like that. She's strong-willed. You
4 know that she came up here from her -- from Miami. Her family 5 emigrated from Cuba. You got to sit here for months, and in 6 and out, you've seen her mother, flying in and out, as she was 7 able to do, to be here with her daughter. You've seen sisters.
8 You've seen -- they look very much alike, but there are two.
9 And they have flown in and out to be here with Sylvia as they 10 can. You've seen her aunt on occasions, her brother. The 11 people who can be here for her have been here.

12 And at heart of hearts, that's really who Sylvia 13 Hofstetter is. She's really this person. They're going to 14 point out the pool table, her fancy house. I'm going to point 15 out a photo wall. It's blown up from that last picture you saw 16 of her house. This is her family, her mom, aunt, cousins, 17 friends, daughter, and her grandson.

18 Grandson is the light of her life. She hasn't spent 19 a lot of time with him, as you might imagine, over the last 20 five years, but that's her soft spot. It's her grandson.

21 So she's not this monster. She's not this serial 22 gambler who's gambled away, according to the government, way
23 more money than these clinics ever made. Not her at all.

24 She came to Knoxville on a temp job for her neighbor 25 to be closer to her boyfriend, Mr. Davis, who had moved to

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Cravens

1 Atlanta, thinking she'd be here a little while, get these 2 businesses they wanted to start up and running and go back to 3 her family.

4 And, granted, it gave her an opportunity, a business
5 opportunity she never thought she'd have. They pulled her 6 right in. Kept her busy, kept her running, kept her unable to 7 see anything but a legitimate clinic, a legitimate business.
8 That's why she came here. Not the I-75 pipeline. She came 9 here to build a life.

10 For all that's been said about her personality, I'm 11 going to say this, thank goodness she has a strong personality.
12 Someone made of weaker stuff couldn't have survived five years 13 of waiting for you, of waiting for the day that a jury would 14 finally hear the actual evidence, not the perception of it, not 15 the characterization of it, not the stylized, mediaized version 16 of it, but the actual evidence, and be given the actual 17 instructions from a judge on which they decide her fate. A 18 weaker person couldn't have endured. Strong-willed one, she 19 is.

20 And that's why you're here. Because she trusts you.
21 She trusts you to make the decision the way you would make it 22 for yourself, the most important decisions of your life. Have 23 they done enough? Have they been careful enough to prove a 24 criminal case on any of the counts against Sylvia Hofstetter?

25 Frankly, I submit, they haven't. They've given you

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Ms. Cravens

1 the noise, but not the signal.

2 I thank you very much for your dedication. I know 3 how hard it is to have listened to all of us for three months.

4 So on behalf of Ms. Hofstetter, I'm going to turn it
5 over to Mr. Burks, but I do thank you.

6 THE COURT: Thank you, Ms. Cravens.

7 Before we hear from Mr. Burks, why don't we take a 8 break, take our afternoon break at this time.

9 (Jury out at 3:56 p.m.)

10 THE COURT: We'll take a break, let's say till about 11 ten after four. Mr. Burks, Ms. Cravens left you plenty of 12 time. One of our jurors has a dentist appointment. We need to 13 be out the door no later than 5:30. So why don't we go to 14 about -- depending on how long -- I think if we went to five or 15 5:15, you'd still have plenty of time, so unless you have some 16 reservations, I think we'll go ahead and get started with you.
17 If you don't finish by around them, you can finish up in the 18 morning. All right.

19 THE COURTROOM DEPUTY: This honorable court stands in 20 recess.

21 (Recess from 3:57 p.m. to 4:16 p.m.)

22 THE COURTROOM DEPUTY: This honorable court is again
23 in session.

24 THE COURT: Everybody ready?

25 (Jury in at 4:16 p.m.)

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Burks

1 THE COURT: All right. Thank you. Everyone please 2 be seated. Mr. Burks will continue with closing argument on 3 behalf of the defendant, Ms. Hofstetter.

4 MR. BURKS: Thank you, Your Honor.

5 Ladies and gentlemen, I have to confess that this 6 makes me awfully nervous to stand before you knowing that 7 you-all will be sitting in judgment of my client, Sylvia 8 Hofstetter. And that I do want to thank each and everyone of 9 you.

10 I don't know that I've ever been part of a trial that 11 has demanded so much from citizens doing their duty. And the 12 fact that you-all have been willing to take on this duty is 13 just -- it's awed me. I mean, I'm blown away, because I've 14 watched you, and you-all have paid great attention to this 15 case. And I can't thank you enough, and that's regardless of 16 the outcome of this case. I can't thank you enough for what 17 you-all have done.

18 You, as the jury, make up the bedrock of our judicial 19 system. I say that because while we put on proof and 20 cross-examine, the judge gives you the charge, you-all 21 determine what justice is.

22 Every time that a jury sits before a citizen or 23 citizens accused, they set a standard of justice, and you-all 24 will set a standard of justice in this case. And I can't be 25 more proud of watching you listen and take note to try to

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Burks

1 figure out what the truth is. I really believe that you-all
2 have sought truth in this case, and that's all we could ever 3 ask.

4 So on behalf of Sylvia, Loretta Cravens and myself, I 5 personally want to thank you for that.

6 And this case is, you know, so voluminous, and we had 7 over a terabyte worth of discovery and information on the front 8 end, and it's gone beyond that. So I know that y'all have 9 heard a lot. I don't expect to be able to tell you anything 10 that you hadn't already heard. So I'm going to try to be 11 concise, but there's some things that I think are important to 12 tell you from our viewpoint. First thing I'm going to do is 13 get my reading glasses.

14 The judge is going to tell you what the law is, and 15 certainly we've all touched on it. And I'm not going to go 16 through a list of all the law and what the Court will charge
17 you with, but I simply would say that the bedrock of this case 18 has to do with the issue of these conspiracy cases.

19 And a conspiracy case basically says that the 20 government must prove beyond a reasonable doubt that Sylvia 21 Hofstetter, Courtney Newman, Ms. Womack, Holli Womack, and 22 Cynthia Clemons all agreed to enter into these crimes that 23 they're alleged to have committed. That's really the beginning 24 of what a conspiracy is, and the Court will tell you how you 25 determine that.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Burks

1 But I think the question you have is, did they really 2 do that? Did they ever actually say, "I want to be a part of a 3 criminal enterprise or a pill mill or money laundering"? Was 4 that my intent to be a part of that? That's really the 5 question.

6 Did they prove that to your satisfaction beyond a 7 reasonable doubt? And that's -- that's where you will begin, I 8 suspect, to look at these facts and these cases to make that 9 determination and to determine whether or not these individuals 10 did enter into these conspiracies with the intent to be a part 11 of some criminal act. And it really sort of boils down to 12 that.

13 As jurors, when you raised your hands 36 trial days
14 ago and months ago, y'all took an oath, and part of that oath 15 was that you would try these cases to the best of your ability, 16 and you would not do it with any prejudice or bias or sympathy 17 that you may feel towards one side or the other.

18 That seems to be just sort of a saying. But in this 19 case, it's really important, because as we all know, the 20 elephant in the room is the opiate crisis that you hear about, 21 you read about, you talk about. And what's important in this 22 case is that under your oath, you shall not have -- you should 23 not have any bias towards a crime that's been committed because 24 you're to determine whether or not the defendants are guilty of 25 a crime, not this opiate crisis.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Burks

1 That would -- if that sways you, if that influences 2 you in any form or fashion, then that is the bias that the 3 Court, I think, will charge you that you should not have.

4 So the question is not about what your personal 5 feelings are about the opiate crisis, about all of the problems
6 that that causes. Your duty under your oath is to determine 7 whether or not Sylvia Hofstetter is guilty of these charges.
8 Has the government proved beyond a reasonable doubt? That's 9 really what it's about.

10 So as we delve into that, you've heard other charges.
11 I just want to touch on -- on two more, that I think are 12 critically important in this case. You're going to hear the 13 Court charge you on the credibility of witnesses. And the 14 Court, I believe, will tell you that as jurors, you're to 15 decide the credibility and the believability of each witness.
16 This is your job. It's not our job. It's not His Honor's job.
17 It's your job to determine the credibility of these witnesses.
18 And you are to give the weight as you see fit.

19 And then you'll hear him tell you some things for you 20 to consider. And a couple of those that I think, if he tells 21 you this, I anticipate he will, that you should ask yourself if 22 the witness had any relationship to the government or the 23 defendant or anything to gain or lose from the case that might 24 influence the witness' testimony. That's going to be a charge 25 that you'll have in this case.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Burks

1 You are also to consider whether the witness had any 2 bias or prejudice or any reason for testifying that might cause 3 the witness to lie or to slant the testimony in favor of one 4 side or the other.

5 Something that -- well, ask yourselves if the witness 6 testified inconsistently while on the witness stand or if the 7 witness said or did something or failed to say or do something 8 at any of the other times that is inconsistent with what the 9 witness said while testifying. It can make the witness 10 unbelievable. But that's up to you to determine. Also 11 consider other things that you think shed some light on the 12 witness' believability.

13 Now, those aren't all of the instructions, but those 14 are some I point out to you, because we're going to talk about 15 some witnesses and talk about how you should consider -- I'm 16 going to suggest you should consider their testimony.

17 Also, again, the issues of -- let's say the money 18 laundering, the money laundering is if Mrs. Hofstetter was -- 19 knew that these moneys were part of some ill-gotten gain, then 20 if she uses them and sends them through a corporation or, as 21 they say, conceals, if you find that, that they've proven that 22 beyond a reasonable doubt, that would be a money-laundering 23 situation.

24 You heard Mr. Still up there several months -- weeks 25 ago or a month ago saying, "Well, if you pass it through a

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Burks

1 business, then that's concealing it." But we know that lots of 2 people that have companies that will put money in one company
3 to pay expenses and to send others. You have to determine 4 whether they've proven to you beyond a reasonable doubt if 5 Mrs. Hofstetter has concealed any moneys in that light.

6 Also, you heard discussions about whether or not 7 Mrs. Hofstetter, Ms. Newman, Ms. Clemons aided and abetted one 8 another and did knowingly and intentionally open and use and 9 maintain a business for this illegal drug trafficking, as the 10 government has labeled it.

11 Again, did they know that these businesses were being 12 used in that fashion? We know that they didn't know what 13 Mrs. Puckett and Mrs. Hill were doing.

14 The question to you is, were they doing it because 15 they thought they were operating a pill mill or a pain clinic?

16 If you find that there is reasonable doubt as to 17 whether they knew that this was, as the government calls it, a 18 pill mill, we know the definition is different, but an illegal 19 pain clinic, if they haven't proven that beyond a reasonable 20 doubt, then they have not met their burden. So that's another 21 charge.

22 And the last one I want to talk about is the 23 deliberate ignorance. I didn't have it, but I think I can talk 24 about it without it.

25 The Court will charge you on deliberate ignorance.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Burks

1 That is that you have to purposely, deliberately turn away from 2 something you know that's going on. You close your eyes.
3 Sometimes we call it blind -- the blind eye or you turn away
4 from it. But it's not that you just know about it, but you 5 actually take an affirmative action by deliberately turning 6 away from it.

7 Now, in the proof of this case, I think just the 8 opposite is what's been proven. Any time that Mrs. Hofstetter 9 was alerted to some problem, she addressed it. Dr. Blumenthal, 10 he has some concerns about the -- the clinic, as it was getting 11 started, he was the doctor in charge. And they showed you some 12 e-mails where he was concerned about those issues and wanted
13 Mrs. Hofstetter to take some action. There were other e-mails 14 that when we asked about them, they said, "Well, we haven't 15 read those. We don't know about those."

16 But the one e-mail that we did look at, if I can find 17 it. I apologize. I may have to come back to that. It's the 18 e-mail from Blumenthal. I've got it. I'm sorry. Here it is.

19 This is Exhibit 580. It's been introduced. And you 20 remember all the e-mails they had where he was panicky and he 21 was -- he was really concerned about things that were going on 22 and nervous and all that? They showed you those e-mails, but 23 they didn't show you this e-mail, and we brought it up.

24 This is Exhibit 580 from Dr. Blumenthal. I'm going 25 to step over here so I can read it too. This is in May the

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Burks

1 15th, 2011.

2 "Dear Sylvia, permit me to thank you for running an 3 outstanding skillful group meeting on Thursday.

4 "The team needed it, and I needed it personally.

5 "Learning appropriate aspects of the business and 6 business management helps me 'stay out of the middle' of areas
7 where I truly do not want to go.

8 "You are the best person to teach me those aspects.

9 "I think we should both benefit from having some 10 private discussions to discuss what's working well, what isn't 11 working well, and how to achieve the best outcomes.

12 "Also, I have had a lot on my plate just now, 13 especially some very unfortunate divorce issues, challenging 14 parenting issues, and the fact that I absolutely must prepare 15 for and pass my Family Practice Boards again in November (a 16 major studying and time-management task!)

17 "At times, I feel overwhelmed, and I apologize for 18 'blowing my cork.'

19 "I want to see this business thrive, and you and I 20 are the central figures in making it do so.

21 "Let's do it!

22 "Thanks, Mark."

23 I show you that as an exhibit that we've looked at.
24 It's different than what we saw that the government would 25 present to you. I submit, just like Ms. Cravens said, those

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Burks

1 are noises. What that e-mail says is different. And he 2 apologized for how he had been feeling. He had been going 3 through some personal things, and he was scared.

4 So did she turn her blind eye when she got his 5 complaints, his information both before and after, or did she 6 address those issues? She did.

7 Again, and we'll go through this some more, but I'm 8 going to stay on this just for a little bit. Fast-forward now 9 to 2014 when it hits the fan. And what hit the fan was when 10 Mrs. Hofstetter comes back and finds the files in disarray, 11 everything is in disarray. She confronts. She doesn't hide.
12 She doesn't just ignore it. She confronts the problem. And 13 what she confronts is enough to where Puckett decides it's time 14 for her to leave because it's about to hit the fan again.
15 They're going to find something out. That's Puckett's reason 16 for leaving.

17 And what do we find later is that when 18 Mrs. Hofstetter has some idea that there was some problems, did 19 she turn away deliberately and ignore the problems? Or did she 20 go out and say, "Lori Crabtree Gaston and the rest of you, 21 let's pull these files. Let's look and see if there are things 22 that are not in there. Let's look and see if these files are 23 where they should be."

24 And what did we find out? Lo and behold, there were 25 audits that were done, and those audits showed that something

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Burks

1 was amiss with that lab, the UDS's. Was that turning a blind
2 eye? Was that deliberately ignoring a potential problem when 3 it was brought to her attention that there was something that 4 she didn't know.

5 I know the government made some comment with Agent
6 Nocera, did anybody go over the law? Well, they didn't know 7 what they had. They didn't know what they had really until 8 they got the wiretaps after this -- this clinic was closed and 9 they got that evidence. Then they saw what in the world 10 Puckett and Hill were up at -- up to.

11 One other example, pain cream. Ms. Hofstetter found 12 out that Maria Vera was going behind her back and trying to do 13 a pain cream scam. And the scam is that they would send the 14 cream to customers who didn't ask for it, and then they 15 would -- they would send it to customers that had insurance, 16 and then they would bill the insurance companies, and then they 17 were -- then Maria was getting the money and getting kickbacks 18 from the pain cream company.

19 And, in fact, you heard that what they did is, they 20 took Holli Womack, she didn't know at the time, I think she 21 signed maybe one prescription not knowing it was a scam, and 22 then they sat there and forged her prescriptions, 40 or 50 23 forgeries.

24 Again, Maria Vera -- Marie -- I'm going to do it 25 again. I'm going to do a Burksism here. Maria Vera,

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Burks

1 Ms. Puckett, and Ms. Hill were behind that.

2 Did she turn a blind eye? Absolutely not. She 3 confronted Ms. Womack. She said, "Have you been doing 4 something against this clinic?" Of course Ms. Womack didn't 5 know what she was talking about and then realized and decided 6 at that point she hadn't done anything wrong, and she didn't 7 want to be accused of anything.

8 But Mrs. Hofstetter took an affirmative action every 9 time something came up that appeared to be a problem. So if 10 you look at that charge, she didn't deliberately ignore 11 anything. In fact, she did the opposite. So that's the other 12 charge that I would ask you to look at.

13 Now, the core of the government's case is built 14 around two things. One are lenses. You've heard people talk 15 about the lens that's -- the lens today as opposed to the lens
16 back then. It's the lens that you see things through. You 17 know, you hear people talk about rose-colored glasses. You 18 know, they see something through rose-colored glasses because 19 then it looks different.

20 Let me talk to you, if I may, if I have your 21 permission to talk to you about what I think this case is 22 through the lenses of different people.

23 This case started -- this case, I'm talking about the 24 government's case, started when the FBI found people selling 25 prescription medications on the street. They did stings. They

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Burks

1 arrested them. And they learned from that that there was 2 somebody by the name of Jess Butler, who was orchestrating some 3 kind of a scam to get these pills.

4 So the government through the FBI, they put on their 5 lens of a crime. I see this as a crime. This is a violation
6 of the law. So what I'm going to do is I'm going to follow it 7 to its furtherest point. And so they get wiretaps. They get 8 wiretaps. And according to Andy Chapman, they find out that, 9 lo and behold, Jess Butler is up to it -- up to his neck in 10 this business.

11 But more than that, they find out that Jess Butler is 12 working with three people on the inside of our clinic, 13 Mrs. Puckett, Mrs. Hill, and Mrs. Newman. Not this Newman, but 14 Patty Newman.

15 So what do they do? They get more wiretaps. And 16 when they get more wiretaps, they get taps on Mrs. Puckett and 17 Mrs. Hill's phones and Mrs. Newman's.

18 That's when they learn about what those ladies were 19 up to in this clinic.

20 I asked Andy Chapman, I said, "Well, Agent Chapman, 21 did you try to get information about Mrs. Hofstetter?"

22 And he said, "No."

23 And I said, "Well, why not?"

24 He said, "Because we couldn't find anything that she 25 had done, according to these wiretaps."

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Burks

1 That's where the wiretaps stopped. Now, I know that 2 Mr. Stone will get up and say, well, they -- the girls left and 3 they didn't have time to work it. Well, they worked it -- they 4 worked this thing for a long time.

5 And even after -- and even after they left in the 6 summer of 2014, these clinics were still operating up until 7 March of 2015, which didn't stop them from attempting to see if 8 there was anything that Mrs. Hofstetter had said or done by 9 wiretap, illegal.

10 They did have phone conversations, according to 11 Mrs. Puckett, where Mrs. Hofstetter called her a couple of 12 times, one of which she was asking her, "What's this deal about 13 the pain cream," and they talked about Maria Vera.

14 So that's the lens that this started with. That's 15 the FBI's lens. They see this case as a crime, so everything 16 that touches it has to be a crime.

17 Well, what about other views of this case? Well -- 18 and I'll go into this a little bit later, but you've got people 19 like Ben Rodriguez, and I certainly want to talk about 20 Mr. Rodriguez, and Mr. Tipton. They see this case through 21 their lenses of if I can throw Sylvia Hofstetter under the bus, 22 then I can win favor with the government and get a 5K motion, 23 even though Mr. Rodriguez says he doesn't know anything about a 24 5K motion.

25 You-all do, because you heard all these witnesses

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Burks

1 come in here. We had almost 50 witnesses march up there, and a 2 lot of them talked to you about, "Yeah, I want that 5K motion.
3 I'm here. I need that 5K motion. I want liberty. I want out.
4 Or I want a benefit. I want a break." Ms. Puckett, Ms. Hill,
5 Mr. Tipton, he hadn't even been sentenced yet. The only one 6 that acted like he didn't know anything about was the 7 ringleader, Mr. Rodriguez, as far as throwing people under the 8 bus.

9 So the lenses of that, let's talk about some other 10 lenses. Let's talk about the providers that came in and 11 testified. They were scared to death. And I remember asking 12 one of them that they were concerned about what was going on, 13 and I said, "Are you concerned because you see these four 14 fellow employees and workers that you worked with sitting over 15 here in a criminal courtroom, and you see this entourage of the 16 FBI and the U.S. attorney and the Washington RICO chief deputy 17 sitting here prosecuting?"

18 Well, quite frankly, if I had even worked in that 19 clinic, I'd be scared to death if I saw all of this. And they 20 were scared. They admitted they were scared. And they were.

21 So they looked through this lens like, I'm not 22 getting in the middle of this. Now, I look back, I look back 23 20/20 hindsight, and yes, I can now see now that things have 24 come to light about what was going on with Puckett and Hill and 25 all that. Yes, I can see that that was a problem area. I can

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Burks

1 see that now.

2 The government's case, I would say to you, is built 3 upon 2020 hindsight and a 30,000 view from the sky looking 4 down, not looking at the evidence as it took place on a daily 5 basis.

6 So the last lens or the second to last lens they want 7 to talk to you about is the lens that Andy Chapman talked about 8 in his testimony.

9 You remember Mr. Chapman being asked about Melanie 10 Rucker. She was, you remember, the lady that worked for the 11 Department of Health that would come in and do investigations 12 on the clinics and audit the charts and those types of things.
13 And Mr. Rucker -- I mean, Ms. Rucker and Mr. Chapman had a 14 conversation. And Mr. Chapman had said that he disagreed with 15 what she had said.

16 And then there was sort of back and forth. Well, 17 what did she say? Finally, we got the answer. And what he 18 first said is she would say something to the effect that she 19 would be surprised if they were doing anything wrong.

20 I said, "Now, Agent Chapman, let's look at your 21 affidavit. Please look at that. Refresh your recollection."

22 And he did. And then he said, after refreshing his 23 recollection, "She said that in her investigations, these 24 clinics were legitimate." And he said, "Yeah, that's what she 25 said."

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Burks

1 Now, if you'll look through the lens of the 2 Department of Health and Melanie Rucker's comments to the FBI 3 agent, the lenses of the health department is, these were 4 legitimate clinics. No evidence to the contrary, as far as the 5 Department of Health.

6 And who is the Department of Health? They are one of 7 the regulatory bodies that regulate pain clinics in the state
8 of Tennessee. That's how they're regulated.

9 Now, Mr. Stone came back with Mr. Chapman and said to 10 Mr. Chapman, "Now, Mr. Chapman, you spent hours and thousands 11 of hours and thousands of man hours and thousands of phone 12 calls and thousands of wiretaps, you can't sit there and say 13 that Mrs. Rucker's investigation could even come close to your 14 investigation."

15 He said, "That's right."

16 In fact, he said, "It's like in a different ZIP 17 Code."

18 And Mr. Chapman says, "Right."

19 And you know what? I don't necessarily disagree with 20 showing a difference. But what I do show to you or suggest to 21 you, again, Andy Chapman, Agent Chapman is seeing it through 22 what? The crime, the glasses through the crime.

23 What is Melanie Rucker looking at it through? The 24 clinic and the clinic records and the clinic files. She finds 25 it legitimate. She is an investigator. She's a nurse by

Closing Argument - Mr. Burks

1 profession. That's what -- and she works for the Department of 2 Health. That's exactly what she does. If there's been a
3 complaint, she goes and checks the complaint out. She goes 4 in --

5 MR. STONE: Your Honor, I'm going to object. This 6 goes too far. There are no facts in evidence. They have 7 subpoena power. They did not subpoena Ms. Rucker. This is -- 8 there are no facts in evidence. He's just talking about things 9 that he thinks might be true or something, I guess.

10 THE COURT: What about that, Mr. Burks?

11 MR. BURKS: I think I can argue I think it's clear 12 that she says her investigations into these clinics as the 13 representative of the Department of Health said it was 14 legitimate. And all I'm expanding on is that in doing that, 15 she looked at files, she looked at --

16 MR. STONE: Your Honor, none of this is in evidence.
17 None of it.

18 MR. BURKS: I think it's fair argument.

19 THE COURT: Well, the question is, are you arguing 20 from the evidence in the record?

21 MR. BURKS: I think I am. I really do. I think the 22 investigation --

23 THE COURT: That's the standard. So go ahead with 24 keeping that in mind.

25 MR. BURKS: All right. Thank you, Your Honor.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Burks

1 They're different investigations. It's different
2 lenses that these clinics were looked at. That's the point I'm 3 trying to make. And if you look at it through the Department
4 of Health, according to Melanie Rucker, these clinics were 5 legitimate. It's what she said to Andy Chapman. And that's 6 what he testified that she said. Those are different lenses.
7 Those are important lenses.

8 Why are they important is because assuming one that 9 investigates the clinics and looks at files will determine 10 whether or not these are, as the government likes to talk 11 about, window dressing files or if they're legitimate pain 12 management heal -- where they're treating these patient files.
13 That's the lens that the Department of Health would look at at 14 these files and look at these clinics. So those are different 15 lenses.

16 The last lens is your lens. You-all have heard all 17 this proof. You can weigh what you've heard and how you look 18 at that. But you're going to have the lens of this jury to 19 determine what the truth is, what was proven beyond a 20 reasonable doubt or not. And it's your lenses that makes the 21 most important issues of this case. It's how you see it, each 22 one of you see it.

23 So it's your lenses that are going to investigate and 24 have investigated what came from this witness stand and what 25 this Honor will tell you about the law, not what we talk about.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Burks

1 You know we're trying to underline things we think are 2 important. But it's what you hear from that witness stand and 3 what the Court tells you about it, what evidence that you see.
4 And there's a lot of that evidence there.

5 But you're the ones that will make the ultimate 6 determination through your lenses, not the FBI, not the 7 providers, not anybody else. You can take into consideration 8 what they've said, and certainly I think those are important.
9 But it goes to the crux of the case. Who looked at these files 10 during the course of the investigation? FBI didn't. They 11 didn't get their experts to even look at it until sometime 12 later. They were looking at it as the crime. Department of 13 Health was looking at it.

14 So you've heard from the experts and Mr. Whitt, 15 Ms. Pearson talk about the experts, and they're talking about 16 legitimacy of the patient files. And I'm not going to repeat 17 all that. Everybody has done a good job of wringing their side 18 out. Ms. Pearson brought her position out. Mr. Whitt has done 19 a good job telling you what Dr. Browder and Nurse Practitioner 20 McCoy have had to say about it.

21 But you add that one other element in there I think 22 is important, and that is there's another lens that looked at 23 that in addition to these experts. It's the Department of 24 Health. It's Melanie Rucker. That's important.

25 Okay. I am watching my time, and I know we've got to

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Burks

1 move, and I'm going to try my best to see what I can do. Let's 2 talk about -- let's talk about some important witnesses in this 3 case.

4 Oh, oh, I forgot. I apologize. Can I back up just 5 for a second? Okay? Another deliberate ignorance argument.
6 You remember not only -- not only did Mrs. Hofstetter challenge 7 and get her clinic to look at these files, but she did 8 something else.

9 Exhibit 582, you remember, she contacted Sterling
10 Labs, and said, "Hey, we're missing this stuff. We need them."
11 And what we know is that Deana Haney -- Haney -- Haney -- I 12 guess it's Haney. I can't hardly read it. I apologize.

13 She says, I wanted to inform you of the missing drug 14 screens reports matters. I was informed and shown that some of 15 the patient files have missing drug screen reports. I reviewed 16 the files and began to take action on replenishing the 17 patient's records.

18 Now, is that a deliberate ignorance of turning away 19 from a problem on behalf of Mrs. Hofstetter? And then she 20 tells us about some of the files.

21 And we got Jessica Lively, her files apparently had 22 things missing. She's one of the sponsored patients.

23 Jessica Watson, we know about her. She's another 24 sponsored patient that were going through Puckett and Hill, and 25 her stuff is missing.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Burks

1 We've got Lisa Elliott. Hey, we know about Lisa.
2 She was going through, wasn't she. She was with Butler and 3 that crew. And guess what? She got stuff missing.

4 Now, how did she get -- how did these people get all
5 this stuff missing? It was Hill and Puckett, and that's why 6 they're looking through this. I could go down through there.
7 And you-all can look at this when you go back there, but some 8 of those are the same names that they're looking at, Mario 9 Boyd, you haven't heard that he was one of them too.

10 Hey, look here, number three. Guess what? Who's 11 missing stuff in his file? We recognize that name. That's 12 Mr. Butler. Mr. Butler is the one that was working with 13 Puckett and Hill, and lo and behold, he's got stuff missing out 14 of his file.

15 Now, how did those get missing? Well, we know. We 16 know Puckett and Hill did it. We know that. That's the scam.
17 And to sit here and say, well, you know, just a little side 18 venture thing, no, it wasn't. It was a scam that did a couple 19 of things. It puts patients at risk. It's not about the money
20 issue, even though there was money. And even though we know 21 Stephanie Puckett said she later became sponsors of people so 22 she would get the drugs. She sent her husband in, Michael, get 23 the drugs. Ms. Hill's husband came in, got drugs.

24 They were drug dealers. They weren't just working in 25 the clinics. They were drug dealers. They were getting pills

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Burks

1 and selling pills. That's a drug dealer. That's what they 2 were doing.

3 And they were putting these nurse practitioners and 4 doctors in harm's way, because they didn't have the material 5 that they should have had in order to look at something to 6 determine what was in the best interest of these patients.
7 They want to say that these nurse practitioners didn't care 8 about these patients. Well, they did care about them. They 9 just didn't have the information because Puckett and Hill 10 didn't give a flip about them. They wanted the money.

11 That's the scam. That's the crux of this case.
12 That's the crux of their case. To come in here and say, well, 13 this was just a pill mill, we'll talk about that for a few more 14 minutes, is not right.

15 What sets this case apart from any other illegal pain 16 clinic case is we've got the fox guarding the henhouse. We've 17 got the people that we've trusted to do it right doing it 18 wrong, and we didn't know about it. And Puckett says we didn't 19 know about it. Everybody says we didn't know about it.

20 But that was what was going on. That's what 21 distinguishes this case from any other case you will run across 22 involving an alleged pill mill or pain clinic. It's what 23 Puckett and Hill and Newman were doing and getting away with it 24 under the cloak of secrecy, under the cloak of deceitfulness.
25 And that's what this case is really about.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Burks

1 Now, there were a lot of people arrested, a lot of 2 people charged. We also have -- we talked about, and I think 3 it's important to remember a couple of things that we learned 4 from those wiretaps that finally were admitted to by 5 Mrs. Puckett.

6 Y'all know I'm not that organized. I hope you know 7 that, don't you. I'm sorry. Kind of like the scorpion and the 8 fox, and the fox gives the scorpion a ride across the river, 9 and he says, "Don't sting me scorpion." Scorpion says, "I 10 won't do it." Gets across the river and the scorpion stings 11 and kills the fox. The fox said, "Why did you do that?" The 12 scorpion says, "Well, it's just my nature."

13 I guess it's sort of my nature to sort of look for 14 some of this stuff, and I do apologize for that. What I'm 15 looking for -- oh, thank you. She's pretty good, isn't she?

16 Stephanie Puckett, I want to touch base on a couple 17 of wiretaps, and I think these are really important.
18 Mrs. Puckett finally admitted this. And you heard Mr. Reagan 19 touch base on this, but, again, I think it's important to bring 20 it up.

21 When Mr. Butler was arrested, you remember that, and 22 they got on that phone conversation and they told us all about 23 it. And what was said was, Mrs. Hill was scared because 24 Mr. Puckett -- Mr. Butler is now charged with some offense.

25 And she says, "Well," to Ms. Puckett, "Ms. Puckett,"

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Burks

1 she probably called her Stephanie, "Stephanie, is he going to 2 turn on us? What if they wire him up and send him into the 3 clinic?"

4 And what does Ms. Puckett say? She says, "Why would 5 they -- why would he wear a wire for the providers? The 6 providers don't do anything wrong. So it had to be to get me 7 and you."

8 That's taletelling for two reasons. Number one, they 9 know their time is short on this scheme. Number two, more 10 importantly, these two ladies that don't think anybody is 11 listening to them are talking in secret, saying these providers 12 don't do anything wrong. These ladies were in those clinics 13 day in and day out.

14 She's testified, Ms. Puckett did, that that's what 15 they said in this conversation. That's important. They should 16 know if this was a pill mill and these providers were just 17 writing scripts. But that's not what she said. They were 18 doing nothing wrong.

19 The other thing that sort of brings me into the other 20 arguments I want to talk about is another phone conversation 21 between these two ladies.

22 You remember Mrs. Puckett, once they get into this 23 conversation -- these conversations are very close to each 24 other. Mrs. Puckett has to say or admit, Ms. Hill, I've been 25 in trouble. You know, I had robbery, prostitution, I mean, a

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Burks

1 myriad of things. And the one thing I learned is when in 2 trouble, you're trying to find a way out.

3 Now, that's not just Mrs. Puckett, that's any of 4 these people that came in and took that stand. What are they 5 doing? They're trying to find a way out. And a way out is 6 throwing somebody else under the bus.

7 Those aren't my words. Those are Stephanie Puckett's 8 words. But those could have just easily have been the words of 9 Chris Tipton and Ben Rodriguez, because each of them came in 10 here to try to avoid further trouble or avoid a stiffer 11 sentence of finding someone to throw under the bus.

12 And who did they try to throw under? Sylvia 13 Hofstetter. Because that's the way the criminals work. You 14 get in trouble, and you say what you got to say to appease you 15 who you've got to appease.

16 And in these cases, to get that 5K motion -- because 17 with the 5K motion, Mr. Stone will stand up and ask this Court 18 to reduce that sentence. But to do it, you got to throw 19 somebody under the bus. And the person that you throw under is 20 the person that's here asking the jury to try to determine what 21 the truth is in this case. That's Mrs. Hofstetter. So the 22 code of the criminal and the pawn is to find somebody to throw 23 under the bus.

24 And I'm going to come back to finish with those two 25 witnesses. But I do want to talk about a couple more quick

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Burks

1 things. Again, this sort of goes to the medical -- this is 2 sort of jumping a little bit around.

3 I want to talk about Dr. Valley, because that's, I
4 think, an important part of this. They put on Mr. Blumenthal's 5 e-mails about all the trouble in Dodge City, so to speak, of 6 the clinics, trouble, trouble, trouble everywhere.

7 Well, you did see where Dr. Blumenthal was kind of 8 saying, "Wait a minute, you know, we had these meetings. It's 9 really been helpful."

10 But Dr. Valley, as you remember, actually came into 11 this by saying, "You need to get rid of the medical director," 12 which was Dr. Blumenthal, because Dr. Valley wanted to become 13 the sole doctor there.

14 And Dr. Valley then presented, as you-all will 15 remember, that contract. Do you remember the contract that he 16 sent to Chris Tipton? Remember that, where he said, I want you 17 to pay me all this money, pay me $11,000 a month consulting 18 fee, pay me a quarter of a million dollars a year to manage all 19 these clinics?

20 And oh, by the way, I want you to build me a clinic
21 up in upper East Tennessee that will be my clinic. If I ever 22 decide to leave, that will be mine. And the partners said no.
23 And that's sort of started flushing Dr. Valley a little bit out 24 of the realm of what he thought he was going to end up with.

25 He ultimately hooked up with Chris Tipton, because he

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Burks

1 saw the money train. Mr. Tipton was -- he was rolling with all 2 these deals going on, you know, and Dr. Valley, hey, this looks 3 pretty good. So he hooked his wagon to Chris Tipton, and he 4 and Chris went down to Chattanooga. And guess what? The 5 scorpion stung again. He caught Dr. Valley and cheated him.

6 But Dr. Valley, the important thing that I want to 7 talk about, two things. One is, what he did tell us that's 8 important, one of which was -- and you-all saw this, and I 9 pulled these up.

10 This is Exhibit 543. This is just an example that we 11 use to show Dr. Valley and a notation. Do you remember seeing 12 this? And we talked a lot about that, where Dr. Valley would 13 look at the file.

14 Now, remember these medical doctors had a duty to 15 look at how many of the -- how many of the files, 20 percent, 16 50 percent, it was a hundred percent, wasn't it? It was an 17 opiate file, they had to look at every file and chart it.

18 So Dr. Valley did that, and on this Ricky Nelson 19 file, on May the 9th, 2012, and I just -- I pulled this up, and 20 it says, "Chart review 5/15/12. I concur in treatment plan," 21 with the signature "Valley."

22 Now, when Dr. Valley was on the stand, I showed him 23 these, and I asked him what did that mean? What did he 24 actually do in order to write that concurring thing about the 25 treatment plan?

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Burks

1 In his testimony, he told us this is what he did. He 2 told us he looked at the chief complaints. He told us that he 3 looked for any history or present illness that the nurse 4 practitioner listed. He looked at previous visits and any 5 reference to previous visits. He looked for comments regarding 6 previous urine drug screens.

7 He said, "I flipped back to the previous visits to 8 see if there were any outstanding -- anything outstanding that 9 wasn't addressed in the notes." He checked the urine screens 10 to determine if there was any aberrant drug screens, anything 11 in there that shouldn't be in there. And then he said, "I 12 determined whether or not there was an appropriate diagnosis 13 that met the criteria supported by the physical findings."

14 What does that sound like? Legitimate medical 15 purpose? And then he said, "I then determined if the treatment 16 plan was appropriate. And if I determined the treatment plan 17 was appropriate, I concurred in the treatment plan."

18 While Dr. Valley was at this clinic, that's how he 19 handled these files. That's what he told us from the witness 20 stand. And that is consistent with what Dr. Browder and nurse 21 McCoy told us. These are some of the same things on that wheel 22 you remember that Mr. Whitt showed you. These are the same 23 type of things. These are activities that Dr. Valley looked at 24 and did, and then he concurred or he didn't. You know, he 25 said, "There are times I put a note. I don't concur. I put a

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Burks

1 note."

2 Just for your reference, and I'm not going to go
3 through it. You can go back and look at it. That's that 4 contract, 541, Exhibit 541, I'd ask y'all to look at that he 5 wanted to -- this clinic to do.

6 The final thing about Dr. Valley that we learned that 7 I think was important, one of the things that the government 8 has tried to suggest to you, that a clinic that gets paid in 9 cash, that's a red flag. You heard them talk about this cash 10 being a red flag.

11 Dr. Valley when asked about his clinic, he left 12 Chattanooga, now he has a clinic up in East Tennessee. And he 13 was asked, "Dr. Valley, do you take insurance?"

14 He said, "Nope."

15 "Well, how do you get paid?"

16 He said, "I take cash."

17 Does that mean that he's running an illegal pain 18 clinic? No. That's a legitimate way. If someone chooses to 19 do it in cash, they do it in cash.

20 So Dr. Valley gives us some important information 21 about the snapshot of this clinic during a time leading up to 22 and right before Puckett and Hill get their claws into these 23 clinics.

24 And at the time that Dr. Valley was there, he was 25 approving these files. And not only approving them and

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Burks

1 concurring with them, he determined that these were legitimate,
2 reasonable treatment plans for these patients.

3 Now, to sit there and say that these patients were 4 not receiving medical care, it's just not correct. It's just 5 not accurate. Dr. Valley was the government's witness. He 6 wasn't our witness. We didn't call him as an expert. But 7 that's what he shared with us on the witness stand. I concur 8 with the treatment plan.

9 Do you remember Mr. Still, the money man, the one 10 that had that Mississippi drawl? Y'all remember him, don't 11 you? He got -- he's kind of cute, wasn't he? Yeah.

12 He said that he is attributing $33,000 of some money 13 that Mrs. Hofstetter -- you remember that? So that's kind of 14 like -- that's part of this theory of looking at money 15 laundering.

16 And lo and behold, we presented to him a check of 17 $33,000 at that same time frame that was actually a check that 18 went through Mrs. Puckett's account to pay to Prodigal, because 19 these were moneys that were given to Mrs. Hofstetter on behalf 20 of the partners that were buying Prodigal.

21 So this wasn't any money-laundering issue. This was 22 a check that Mr. Still just apparently didn't look for. That's 23 Exhibit No. 572, if you want to review that as well.

24 I want to talk about discharges. I'm trying to watch 25 my time, Your Honor.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Burks

1 THE COURT: You've got additional time. We'll go 2 about five or ten more minutes, and if you're not done, you can 3 finish up in the morning.

4 MR. BURKS: Maybe this will be a good place to stop 5 on discharges. I can do that.

6 THE COURT: All right. Go ahead with that.

7 MR. BURKS: Thank you. Again, thank you-all for your 8 patience. One of these days, I'm going to get like Ms. Pearson
9 where you can flip that thing and flip it up there. She did a 10 good job. I liked that.

11 You remember we had the discharge -- battle of 12 government's discharges, Mrs. Sherrod's discharges, and they 13 were not exact, because as you heard, there were different 14 opportunities to look at the files, and maybe not look at all 15 the files.

16 But the bottom line is, and what -- what we know from 17 Agent Vehec is that they're really about -- they say the same 18 stuff. And what they say is -- I've got my second page. Let's 19 find the first page for you here. Might just lean over there 20 and ask her what her number was, but I can't do that. All 21 right. Let's see if I can't find that. I got it. I found it.
22 I got it. Thank you. Okay. Here we go.

23 Now, you got to ask yourself a question. If we're 24 operating a pill mill, the last thing you want to do is get rid 25 of patients.

Closing Argument - Mr. Burks

1 Now, I know the government will want to say, well,
2 that's just window dressing. We keep hearing that term, window
3 dressing, window dressing, window dressing. I consider it a 4 code saying we really can't explain it illegally, so I can't 5 tell you that it makes it legitimate looking, because it is 6 legitimate to discharge patients. So we just call it -- we 7 just call it window dressing. So that way they get around with 8 not really confronting what the facts are. But you-all 9 determine whether this makes sense to you as to whether this 10 was a pain clinic or not.

11 Now, Agent Vehec said that she found 2,000 -- sorry, 12 Jeff, it's 2,000, not 200 -- 2,083 discharges, and they had all 13 those charts and what years, and we've got the same stuff. But 14 I think this is the key.

15 Now, they would have you to believe, by listening to 16 the testimony, that they would discharge a patient and then 17 they just run them back to another place. That's kind of how 18 they made you feel anyway. Made me feel that way until I saw 19 these numbers. If I was going to discharge 2,083 people and I
20 was just doing it to make it look good, then I was going to run 21 them back to the other clinic, why did we only readmit 209?
22 That's a little over ten percent. Which means another 23 80-something percent were discharged for good.

24 So that's not window dressing. That that's the loss 25 of 1,793 patients, according to Agent Vehec. Ms. Sherrod

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Burks

1 looked at files, and according to her records, and I admit that 2 we probably didn't see as many. But she had 1,980 discharges.
3 And, again, her independent investigation showed there was 229
4 readmitted. Those are about the same percentages.

5 Now, I ask you a simple question. Why in the world
6 would a pain clinic discharge that many patients and not bring 7 and readmit, if that's the government's theory of what we were 8 really doing? That's the difference of 1,793, and Agent 9 Vehec -- and I have no doubt that what she puts down -- and she 10 said it's approximate. I think they're all approximate. There 11 may be a file in there that somebody missed, but this gives you 12 the general idea of the amount that's dealing with.

13 And then you've got a difference of 1,751 patients.
14 Now, what is -- what is the real bottom line to that? What 15 does that really tell us? It tells us that this clinic was 16 getting rid of and discharging patients for legitimate 17 discharge reasons, and only a certain amount were allowed to 18 come back. And by virtue of that, they're either the dumbest 19 pill mill that I've ever seen or they're a legitimate pain
20 clinic.

21 Because what that means is, that if you just took one 22 visit of that 1,793 patients, come back one time, one time 23 only, $300, not even 350, or the 1,751, come one time, I'm not 24 talking about month and month after month, what financially 25 does that do to this clinic?

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Burks

1 What that says is, that if those patients that they 2 discharged did not get to come back, only just one more time
3 under Ms. -- Agent Vehec's rule, this clinic basically lost 4 over a half million dollars on one visit for 1,700 patients
5 over that period of time.

6 And under Mrs. Sherrod's file, it's 525,000, again, 7 over a half million dollars, if this clinic had patients taken 8 out of this clinic. And these numbers, the 1,793 is the 9 difference between those that came back. So these are the ones 10 that never came back on both of these.

11 Those discharges, and I'm going -- I'll stop at this 12 point. Those discharges tell a real important story. Pain
13 clinics don't do that. People that are in it, as Ben Rodriguez 14 says, we were just letting the train run, and when they stopped 15 us, they stopped us. We're going fast and furious.

16 That isn't fast and furious, folks. That's not fast
17 and furious. That's trying to run a legitimate pain management 18 clinic. That's not window dressing. And that's not 19 explainable in any other terms than the fact that it is.

20 And I'll stop on this for tonight.

21 THE COURT: All right.

22 MR. BURKS: Let me make one comment to get -- 23 discharges. You heard a lot of the experts talk about, do they 24 discharge, don't they discharge. Dr. Blake says we don't 25 discharge, we just change modalities. Dr. Browder said, we

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Closing Argument - Mr. Burks

1 take a lot of patients that had been discharged from other 2 clinics to our clinics to see if they have gotten the stuff out 3 of their system, to recheck them.

4 But why? Why do you do that? Because they're 5 chronic pain patients that have a legitimate medical purpose.
6 They got discharged for various reasons. They still have a 7 chronic pain problem.

8 So these pain management clinics, like Dr. Browder's 9 clinic, will take these people in. They'll monitor them.
10 They'll try to make sure they'll protect them. And that's what 11 we tried to do, except for the fact Puckett and Hill were 12 interfering with a lot of that.

13 With that, Your Honor, I will --

14 THE COURT: All right. Thank you. We'll let you
15 finish up in the morning.

16 We'll excuse the jury for the day. Again, we're in 17 the midst of closing argument. But keep in mind, closing 18 arguments are not done. You haven't had the charge from the 19 Court, all of which I anticipate you will -- will be delivered 20 to you tomorrow. So you won't begin your deliberations until 21 after that.

22 So keep in mind that you must, even though we're 23 nearing the point where you will begin your deliberations, you 24 still -- until that time, let's continue not to talk about the 25 case among yourselves or engage in any type of deliberations

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

1 until probably sometime tomorrow afternoon.

2 Also, keep in mind that to the extent there is 3 anything written about this case in the media or otherwise, you 4 should put that aside and not read it at all until the case is 5 over, either as it relates to this case or any other issues 6 pertaining to this case, as we discussed in the past. Just put 7 all that aside until the case is over.

8 But otherwise, have a pleasant evening and we will 9 see you tomorrow, Tuesday, January 28, at 9:00 a.m.

10 Jury is excused.

11 (Jury out at 5:24 p.m.)

12 THE COURT: All right. Everyone please be seated 13 just for a moment.

14 Mr. Burks, we'll give you nine to 9:30 time slot 15 roughly. You got time to think about that.

16 MR. BURKS: That's fine. Thank you, Your Honor.

17 THE COURT: Mr. Oldham is going next, followed by 18 Mr. Rodgers, and then we'll allow for rebuttal closing 19 argument. And then we'll see where we are.

20 That may -- that will probably take all of the 21 morning or possibly lunch break and rebuttal. We'll just see 22 where we are in terms of how long Mr. Oldham and Mr. Rodgers 23 take.

24 And then the Court, as you can tell by the jury 25 charge pages, that will take some time for the Court to deliver

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

1 its charge. And then the jury will get the case.

2 Let me go ahead since -- well, we didn't finish
3 early. But let me just go ahead and address, which I have not 4 done yet, the defendants' motions, pursuant to Rule 29, that 5 were brought at the close of the government's case in chief and 6 renewed at the close of all the evidence in this case.

7 The defendants' primary arguments are that the 8 government has offered insufficient evidence of the crimes 9 charged in the fourth superseding indictment with particular 10 emphasis on conspiratorial agreement, the enhanced penalties 11 for overdose deaths, and whether the prescriptions were written 12 outside the usual course of professional practice and not for a 13 legitimate medical purpose.

14 Rule 29 provides that after the government closes its 15 evidence, the Court on the defendant's motion must enter a 16 judgment of acquittal of any offense for which the evidence is 17 insufficient to sustain a conviction. Rule 29 permits both the 18 motion to be renewed as well as for the Court to reserve
19 decision on such motion until before or after the jury returns
20 a verdict. As noted, the Court has previously reserved 21 decision on the defendants' motions.

22 It's important to note that this is a different 23 standard that the jury has, a significantly different standard.

24 For purposes of Rule 29, evidence is sufficient to 25 sustain a conviction if after viewing the evidence in the light

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

1 most favorable to the prosecution and after giving the 2 government the benefit of all inferences that could reasonably 3 be drawn from the testimony, a rational trier of fact could 4 find that the government has proved the legitimate medical 5 purposes of the crime beyond a reasonable doubt.

6 First, defendants argued as to the conspiracy counts,
7 particularly Counts 1, 2, and 4, that the government has not 8 presented sufficient evidence of an agreement or defendant's 9 state of mind with respect to the joining the alleged 10 conspiracy. The government countered that its, quote, pill 11 mill proof, closed quote, established that any reasonable 12 person would know that the clinics in this case were pill 13 mills, and by choosing to associate themselves with the 14 clinics, the government's argument goes, defendants agreed to 15 assist in the diversion of opioids to drug addicts and drug 16 dealers.

17 The government argues that this evidence creates a 18 classic jury question as to whether defendants had the 19 requisite mindset with respect to the agreement element of the 20 alleged conspiracies.

21 The Court finds that the government has presented 22 sufficient evidence of an agreement for a rational jury to find 23 that element of the conspiracy counts prove beyond a reasonable 24 doubt.

25 The Sixth Circuit's jury pattern instruction or jury

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

1 instruction with respect to conspiratorial agreement, which the 2 Court will give to the jury states that, quote, the government 3 must prove there was a mutual understanding, either spoken or 4 unspoken, to cooperate with each other to quote -- to, closed 5 quote, carry out the objectives of the conspiracy here to 6 distribute controlled substances outside the usual course of 7 professional practice and not for a legitimate medical purpose.

8 The government's evidence is sufficient under Rule 29 9 standards for a rational jury to find that defendants knew that 10 they were working at illegitimate pain clinics. Specifically, 11 the government has introduced evidence, and it's been argued to 12 date, or it was argued in the government's openings or -- 13 opening closing argument, as well, that the clinic did not 14 accept insurance and charged $300 per visit, the waiting rooms 15 were full, patients were nodding off in the waiting rooms, 16 neighboring businesses complained about the clinic's patients 17 behavior, and other evidence the government contends that 18 indicates the clinics were so-called, quote, pill mills, closed 19 quote.

20 Viewing this evidence in the light most favorable to 21 the government, a rational jury could find the defendants had 22 at least a silent mutual understanding that by working at the 23 clinics, they were agreeing to participate in the unlawful 24 distribution of controlled substances.

25 The Court also finds that this and other evidence

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

1 prevented -- presented by the government is also sufficient for 2 a rational jury to find that the government proved the other 3 elements of the charged conspiracies beyond a reasonable doubt.

4 Specifically with respect to Count 1, the RICO
5 conspiracy, Defendant Hofstetter also argued through 6 Document 828 that the government failed to identify the 7 subsection of 18 United States Code Section 1962 under which 8 the government brings the RICO charge, entitling her to a 9 judgment of acquittal as to Count 1.

10 The Court, for purposes of Rule 29, would reject this 11 argument finding, as the government noted at the charge
12 conference, that the subsection under which Defendant 13 Hofstetter is charged is identified in the indictment in 14 Paragraph 53 on Page 19.

15 Second, the defendants argued that the government has 16 not presented evidence sufficient to find that the enhanced 17 penalties for overdose deaths were caused by defendant's 18 alleged criminal conduct, particularly defendants rely on 19 evidence showing that some of the subjects of those enhanced 20 penalties may have been selling or trading the drugs prescribed 21 at the clinics, taking drugs other than those prescribed at the 22 clinics, or failing to take the prescribed drugs as directed.

23 The government disagrees and argued that the facts 24 upon which the defendants arguments rely were present in the 25 Volkman II case, the Sixth Circuit 2015 case, including that

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

1 the deaths were caused by multidrug intoxication, which with 2 respect to some of the charged deaths involved drugs other than 3 those prescribed by the defendant, and at least two of the 4 subjects were not taking the medications prescribed, that is 5 crushing and snorting the pills or ingesting the pills more 6 frequently than directed.

7 The Court finds that a rational jury could find 8 beyond a reasonable doubt that the charged deaths were caused 9 by the criminal conduct alleged in the counts associated with 10 those deaths.

11 First, the Court notes that a failure to take a 12 prescribed medication as directed does not sever the causal 13 chain, again, under the Volkman II decision. And next with 14 respect to the issue of a multidrug overdose, the Supreme Court
15 in the Burrage v. United States, 2014 case, held that the use 16 of a drug must be a but-for cause of the victim's death or 17 injury.

18 This means the Sixth Circuit held in Volkman II that 19 to establish causation with respect to an overdose -- an 20 overdose death, a controlled substance distributed by a 21 defendant must be an independently sufficient cause of death, 22 even if the controlled substance combines with other factors to 23 produce death.

24 Here, in this case, the testimony of, among others, 25 Debbie Shockley, Tony Keathley, Randy Haynes, and Sara and

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

1 Christopher Kinsey provided sufficient evidence -- or provides 2 sufficient evidence upon which a rational jury could find, 3 given, among other factors, the close temporal connection 4 between the patients' clinic visits and their deaths, that the 5 opioids prescribed by defendants were the drugs or among the 6 drugs ingested by the patients immediately prior to their 7 deaths.

8 Testimony of Don Sherwood, Dr. Jerry Bradley, and 9 Dr. Christopher Lochmuller completed the causal chain. It 10 constitutes sufficient evidence upon which a rational jury 11 could find that although other drugs may have been ingested by 12 some of the patients immediately prior to their deaths, it may 13 have been a contributing factor in some of those deaths, opioid 14 intoxication was a but-for cause for each of the patient's 15 deaths that are subjects -- that are the subjects of enhanced 16 penalties in this case.

17 Accordingly, and again, viewing the evidence in the 18 light most favorable to the government, the Court finds the 19 government's evidence with respect to the overdose deaths is 20 sufficient for a rational jury to find the Burrage causation 21 standard satisfied.

22 Third, the defendants argued that the evidence is 23 insufficient to establish that the prescription -- that the 24 prescriptions at issue were outside the usual course of 25 professional practice and not for a legitimate medical purpose.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

1 They point or pointed at that time or in their arguments to the 2 fact that in some instances, patient files were manipulated to 3 support patient's claims of pain.

4 The government countered that it has presented 5 evidence sufficient to find that this element is satisfied 6 despite the manipulation of certain patient files.
7 Specifically, the government pointed to the testimony of 8 Drs. Blake and Carter, and, again it's, quote, pill mill proof, 9 closed quote.

10 Again, for purposes of Rule 29 analysis, the Court 11 would agree with the government's argument in this regard.

12 Although there has been evidence that patient files 13 were manipulated by some clinic staff, the Court finds after 14 reviewing the testimony presented by the government, both at 15 its case in chief, as well as the testimony presented in the 16 entirety of the trial, that a rational jury could conclude 17 beyond a reasonable doubt that defendants were prescribing 18 controlled substances outside the usual course of professional 19 practice and not for legitimate medical purpose.

20 Among other things, defendants opinion witnesses
21 opined that -- excuse me, the government's witnesses opined 22 that charting assessment of patient's risk of abuse, physical 23 examination, and other practices at the clinics were 24 inadequate, and that the treatment plans that the clinics were 25 generally limited to the prescription of high-dose opioids

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

1 written for patients despite among other factors introduced by 2 the government, including minimal findings on their MRIs, their 3 relative young age, and potential for drug abuse.

4 Moreover, among other things, defendant -- excuse me, 5 the government's opinion witnesses based these opinions on 6 review of the patient files, some of which may have been 7 manipulated by clinic staff, so the potential manipulation of 8 those files does not preclude a rational jury from concluding, 9 as those witnesses opined, that the prescriptions at issue were 10 unlawful.

11 Accordingly, the Court finds the government has 12 presented sufficient evidence with respect to this element.
13 The Court also finds that this and other evidence presented by 14 the government is sufficient for a rational jury to find the 15 government proved the other elements of the distribution 16 counts, those being Count 14, 16, and 18 beyond a reasonable
17 doubt.

18 In sum, with respect to all counts, when viewing the 19 evidence in the light most favorable to the government and 20 after giving the government the benefit of all inferences that 21 reasonably could be drawn, the Court finds the government has 22 presented sufficient evidence for a rational jury to return a 23 verdict of guilty to all counts.

24 The Court notes that it reaches this determination 25 both on the basis of the evidence at the time the motions were

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

1 initially brought and at the time of renewal, and accordingly,
2 the Court will deny the defendants' respective motions.

3 Unless there's anything else we need to take up, 4 we'll --

5 MR. REAGAN: One thing.

6 THE COURT: There is something. Mr. Reagan?

7 MR. REAGAN: Our motion for mistrial, you're taking 8 that under advisement?

9 THE COURT: I've taken it under advisement. Haven't 10 had a chance to go back and review the transcript and consider 11 it in light of the evidence and the law, but I will address 12 that probably tomorrow.

13 MR. WHITT: And I will say I believe the government 14 and I have resolved the issue we had regarding the -- we're 15 just going to let them go in as they were -- in the A version 16 of those.

17 THE COURT: All right. Any -- is that --

18 MS. PEARSON: Yes, Your Honor. I believe what -- 19 what counsel would like us to do, based on all the discussions 20 we've had, is remove the 290 and substitute the A versions. Or 21 would you prefer both went back?

22 MR. WHITT: No, I think just substitute.

23 THE COURT: Just the A version.

24 MS. PEARSON: Yes. Okay.

25 THE COURT: Just make sure Ms. Norwood has that, and

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

1 that will be fine.

2 All right. If nothing else, finish up with Mr. Burks 3 in the morning, we'll turn to Mr. Oldham, and then to 4 Mr. Rodgers, and then I believe Mr. Stone, and then the Court's 5 charge, and then the jury will get the case.

6 Everyone have a nice evening.

7 THE COURTROOM DEPUTY: All rise. This honorable
8 court stands in recess.
